

RAILROAD STRIKE WILL BEGIN AT 10 A. M. SATURDAY

ORDERS ARE SENT TO MEN

Decision Is Reached By Presidents of Labor Unions.

Shopmen on All Harriman Lines Will Be Affected.

Railway Officials Say It Will Amount to Nothing.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—Shopmen on the Harriman lines and the Illinois Central will go on strike at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, according to a final statement by J. W. Kline, president of the blacksmiths. The strike order was issued after conferences with the five union presidents.

Strike Orders Sent Out.
Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 29.—Following a conference here today between Presidents J. A. Franklin and M. E. Ryan of the blacksmiths and Carpenters unions, respectively, the two men sent out strike orders to the members of their unions this afternoon. About 15,000 carmen and 5,000 blacksmiths are affected by the orders.

Spreading in New Orleans.
New Orleans, La., Sept. 29.—The strike of Illinois Central railroad employees today spread to the river front, where 100 members of the New Orleans Freight Handlers union went out. This organization is local and has no connection with the Brotherhood of Railroad Freight Handlers, whose members struck here yesterday.

Twelve strikers and strike sympathizers, charged with contempt of court, were arrested today by United States deputy marshals for alleged violation of the federal temporary injunction against striking employees of the Illinois Central.

Has Been Bride Fourteen Times
Indian Woman Proudly Announces Matrimonial Record.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 29.—A record for matrimonial achievements was laid before United States District Judge Evans when Nellie Lane, an Indian woman of the Nez Perce tribe, introduced a record and a complaint member of the same tribe, who had been married fourteen times.

The information was furnished voluntarily with evident pride, while Lane was being questioned as a prospective witness before the federal grand jury investigating the sale of liquor to Indians.

Moses smilingly admitted that he was a more legitimate of the matrimonial field, having been married but four times.

"Really Bad Man Never Reforms"
Chicago Deputy Sheriff Scoffs at Methods of Handling Criminals.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—"Reforming the hardened criminal is an impossibility," said Charles W. Peters, chief deputy sheriff of Cook county, in an address delivered today. "My twenty-five years of experience with hardened criminals has convinced me that such men never permanently mend their ways. They may improve for a time, but in the end they are back to a life of crime."

Scientists tell us crime is a disease. Well, if it is, someone should invent a cure. Half of the people who preach reform in the methods of handling criminals do not know what they are talking about. The methods of state reformatory institutions are crude and unsatisfactory. We have made but little progress along this line in twenty years.

There is something radically wrong with our jury system. In Chicago there were eighteen murder cases tried in the first four months of this year without one conviction.

ST. LOUIS ALDERMEN
SEE CHICAGO SEWERS.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—Mayor Kreisman and eleven aldermen of St. Louis made an inspection of Chicago's sewer system today. They visited the drainage canal and several of the sewage pumping stations in obtaining data for use in planning public works for St. Louis. The officials will visit several Western cities while on their tour of inspection.

MAY SUCCEED TO THE THRONE OF AUSTRIA

ARCHDUKE KARL FRANZ JOSEF OF AUSTRIA.

London, Sept. 29.—Archduke Karl Franz Josef is the eventual heir to the throne of Austria-Hungary. Whether he will remain so depends on the future. The immediate heir is the Archduke Franz Ferdinand, who, when he married the Countess Chotek renounced his future children all claim on the throne. But his wife is ambitious and there are already signs that she is going to claim royal honors for herself and her children.

MALE CHORUS IS FEATURE

Music Prominent in Program of Eucharist Congress.

Rt. Rev. J. J. Lawler of St. Paul Among Day's Speakers.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 29.—Although the second day's session of the Fifth National Eucharist congress, which began here today with pontifical high mass, was without the pomp and circumstance which marked the opening of the congress, there were still features of the program to which special attention was paid. One of these was the musical program, which was sung by a male choir of 200 voices, Schubert's mass in "G." Mozart's "Ave Verum" and "Te Deum" were rendered.

The pontifical high mass, which was first of the program, was sung by Right Rev. Henry J. Richter, bishop of Grand Rapids, assisted by local clergy. The sermon was preached by Right Rev. J. J. Hartley, bishop of Columbus.

Following the mass, a paper was read by Rev. D. D. Kelly, auxiliary bishop of Detroit, and Right Rev. J. J. Lawler, auxiliary bishop of St. Paul, was scheduled to lead the discussion which was to follow.

The program for the afternoon was to consist of the reading of a paper by Right Rev. Mer. Joseph Kähler of Milwaukee, with the discussion to be held by the synod of Cincinnati and Rev. Joseph Meckel of Alton, Ill.

Right Rev. Mer. William McQuaid of Boston was also to read a paper and Rev. P. A. Roell of Indianapolis and Rev. Gilbert J. Jennings were to lead the discussion following.

RIVERS OF FIRE IN CHICAGO STREETS

Blazing Oil Imperils Lives and Fire Loss Is $150,000.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—Five firemen were injured and the lives of 100 guests of a hotel were imperiled by a spectacular blaze which destroyed the building occupied by an oil manufacturer in North Canal street today.

A spark from a passing locomotive is believed to have caused the fire, which resulted in a property damage of $150,000.

Streams of burning oil flowed in the streets and alleys, endangering several adjacent buildings. A dozen explosions occurred.

Assistant Chief Marshal Arthur Seyler narrowly escaped injury when a vat of oil exploded and pieces of metal fell upon him. The fire was caused by thousands of barrels of oil, the fire being extinguished.

NUDE CORPSE IN CORNFIELD

Woman's Footprints Are Only Clew in Murder Mystery.

Negro Makes Gruesome Find Near Kansas City, Kan.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 29.—That a mysterious murder has come to light through the finding of the naked body of a man in a cornfield ten miles west of Kansas City, Kan., is the theory upon which the authorities based investigations today.

It is the belief of the authorities that the man was murdered on the highway, by a woman, and dragged into the field.

The body was found Tuesday by a negro cutting corn. Plain prints of a woman's shoe were found about the body and leading to the highway.

The right hand had been severed from the body. Neither the severed hand nor any piece of clothing could be found.

No clew to the identification of the body has been discovered.

MAN DIES TRYING TO SAVE KITTEN

Dashes in Front of Train and Is Hurlled to His Death.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 29.—To save a stray kitten from death under the wheels of a locomotive, I. J. Spoon, a baggage man employed by the Kansas City Terminal company, dashed in front of an Aichison, Topeka & Santa Fe train in this city today. BEAVERS RUIN
WATER POWER

North Bay, Ont., Sept. 29.—The activity of beavers has cut this place off from electrical light and power. The dynamo station on South river, where the electricity for this place is generated by water power, had to be shut down because beavers up-river have constructed so many dams that all the water is held back.

The predicament is still more embarrassing because the statutes forbid interference with the beavers, and the electric light company is helpless.

Less special permission is given by the government to destroy the beaver dams, the power industries will be severely affected.

TAFT JOVIAL IN DES MOINES

President Is Welcomed to State By Both the Senators.

Congratulates Political Leaders on Peaceful Appearance.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 29.—Des Moines' reception to President Taft today was non-partisan in character. The Greater Des Moines committee, which was host to the chief executive and his party at a Grant club breakfast, also had charge of the arrangements at the Coliseum, where the public meeting was held.

Senator Albert B. Cummins, who did not put in an appearance yesterday, was on hand at the station here to meet Mr. Taft today. With him was Former United States Senator Young.

The president was not quite dressed when the train entered the station, but a moment after it came to a halt, the two senators were asked aboard. The greetings between them and the president were brief but apparently cordial.

"Glad to Follow Cummins."

After the greeting Senator Cummins started to leave the president's car for the waiting automobiles, ahead of the president.

"Will you follow Mr. Cummins?" some one asked the president.

"Yes, Mr. Taft is quoted as saying, 'I'm always glad to follow Mr. Cummins.'"

President Taft and party arrived here from Waterloo at 7:30 a. m. Governor B. F. Carroll and his staff, who had escorted the presidential party from Council Bluffs, immediately upon the arrival of the train here joined the local committee in according the distinguished visitor a cordial welcome.

This local committee was composed of leading citizens of nearly all shades of political complexion.

Following the breakfast at the Grant club, the entertainment provided for the visitors consisted of a tour automobile ride and a visit to the Iowa state capitol.

The doors of the Coliseum, where the president was scheduled to deliver the most important speech of the day, were opened early, and long before the executive arrived all available space had been filled.

Last Stop in Ottumwa.
President Taft and party were scheduled to leave Des Moines at 11:55 (Continued on page 17, fifth column.)

NORRIS IS NOT TO MEET PRESIDENT

Insurgent Congressman Says He Has Not Been Invited.

Norris, insurgent republican congressman from the fifth Nebraska district, said he had received no invitation to be on the train and he would not be in Lincoln on that day.

The committee has sent a second formal invitation urging Congressman Norris to be present.

ITALY DECLARES WAR AND WILL BOMBARD TRIPOLI

HEADS OF THE WARRING NATIONS

VICTOR EMMANUEL III, King of Italy.

The strength of Italy in her war with Turkey over Tripoli lies in her navy. Turkey has practically no modern navy, while Italy has nine modern battleships with three more being built, three old battleships, seven armored cruisers, fourteen protected cruisers, seven submarines and many other torpedo boats, etc. The Pieramosca, one of her strongest ships, is under the command of the duke of the Abruzzi.

MOHAMMED V, Sultan of Turkey.

DUMAS JURY FILLED; EVIDENCE IS BEGUN

CHICAGO PLANS IMMENSE HARBOR

May Spend $20,000,000 to Make It Biggest in the World.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—City officials today are considering a plan for an outer harbor twenty-one miles long, extending from Evanston to the Calumet river, which was submitted by John W. Mabbs, chief engineer of the Chicago Board of Trade. The estimated cost of the improvement is $20,000,000.

The suggestion is that a breakwater twenty-one miles in length be built, paralleling the shore and connected with the main land by a system of tunnels.

Engineer Mabbs declares that his plan would give Chicago, the largest and finest outer harbor in the world.

Last Juror Is Sworn in for the Trial at Bemidji.

R. E. Smyth Is First Witness for the Prosecution.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—At noon today the last man needed to complete the jury which is to try Dr. D. F. Dumas of Cass Lake on a charge of conspiracy to commit arson was sworn in.

Following the inability of the attorneys to agree upon enough men to fill the gap of three men, from special venire which was returnable on Wednesday morning of this week, another special venire of twenty men was returned at 9 a. m. this morning by Coroner M. E. Ibertson, who serves the subpoena because of an affidavit of prejudice filed against Sheriff Hazen.

It required the examination of but five men today to complete the jury. The first man to be selected was George Duffy, 23 years old, a farmer, John A. Thoren, at one time a candidate for auditor of Beltrami, who said he took all the papers and read them.

was the eleventh man sworn to do jury duty, and R. E. English, who serves the subpoena because of an affidavit of prejudice filed against Sheriff Hazen.

At noon court adjourned until 2 p. m., at which time E. E. McDonald outlined the case for the state.

The first witness for the state to go on the stand this afternoon will be R. E. Smyth, owner of the store at Puposky, who, it has been said, arranged with Dr. Dumas to walk into the trap which had to his capture. Smyth never has appeared before as a witness.

Martin Behan, captured at Puposky, is in court ready to go on the stand for the state.

RIVALRY IN LOVE
ENDS IN SHOOTING

Holder of Marriage License Shot When He Seeks Girl.

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 29.—Clyde Childers shot and killed Hank Morse last night at Rockingham, N. C., and then turned the pistol upon himself, inflicting probably fatal wounds. The tragedy was enacted on the town's main street.

Competition for the hand of pretty 20-year-old Beulah Stone had been keen for months. Morse obtained a marriage license last night and started to her home. She had gone for a walk with Childers. Morse overtook them and tried to persuade the girl to go with him. To this Childers demurred and Morse struck at him. Childers then fired. As Morse staggered away desperately wounded, Childers fired two more bullets into his sinking form, and then shot himself twice.

MAKE BUT ONE
MURDER CHARGE

Authorities Will Not Accuse Crawford Girl of Patricide.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 29.—Miss Annie Crawford, now facing a charge of having murdered her sister, Elsie, last Saturday, will not be charged with causing the death of her mother and father and sister, Agnes, all of whom died under mysterious circumstances in June and July, 1910, according to semi-official information given out today.

It is said the decision of the district attorney not to investigate further the first three deaths was based upon a report of the city chemist that it would be practically impossible to determine the presence of morphine after so long a time.

Miss Crawford spent most of yesterday in the parish prison in company with the matron. Her appetite was unimpaired and she ate heartily at every meal. She declares she has no money to hire counsel.

AROSEMENA GIVEN
SLAP BY CONGRESS.

Panama, Sept. 29.—The national assembly's hostility to President Arosemena and his scheme for re-election has culminated itself strikingly in a declaration passed by a majority vote, insinuating the president was resigning from his office six months before the date set for the elections, if he desires to enter the lists as a candidate.

BEMIDJI CREAMERY IS MAKING SUCCESS

Plant Operated By Bemidji Co-operative Company Doing First-Class.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Since the plant began turning out the good brand of butter for which it is becoming famous, July 29, the creamery operated by the Bemidji Co-operative company has produced 8,000 pounds of butter, for which there has been a splendid and increasing demand. According to the officers of the association, Buttermilk C. H. Cleveland, who is also assistant manager of the plant, has conducted the business of the creamery in such a manner that the proposition is a highly satisfactory one.

A report which has just been tabulated by Mrs. L. Dickinson, the general bookkeeper and collector, shows that more than $3,000 has been realized from the sale of the butter produced by the creamery, and buttermilk and some cream.

The Bemidji Co-operative association was organized in July, being an organization composed principally of farmers, and is the result of a general demand among the farmers for a local point where they could sell their cream and have the same manufactured into a superior quality of butter that would bear a Bemidji brand. The officers of the association are: A. E. Rasko, president; A. F. Ritchie, secretary and manager; P. M. Pendergast, treasurer; C. H. Cleveland, assistant manager and buttermilk.

The association leased the plant of the Fitzsimmons-Kalwin company and at once began to produce cream. In the meantime engaging C. H. Cleveland as buttermilk. The creamery has been well patronized for a new concern, and the popularity of the place is growing and the patronage increasing with each succeeding day.

PARTRIDGES PLENTIFUL

Season for Birds Will Open on Sunday, Oct. 1.

Hardware Merchants Report Exceptionally Heavy Sale of Shells.

It will be legal to shoot partridges Sunday.

The season opens Oct. 1, and from the amount of the shot now passing over the counters of local hardware stores, the slaughter will begin early in the morning.

The birds are said to be more plentiful this year than in many years past, and the reports from the woods will draw many out with a gun and a dog who would not otherwise go.

The present indications are that the woods will be literally filled with hunters Sunday morning.

Guns are being polished up, the dog is being trained to come to heel, ammunition is being procured, time tables are being consulted, there is a run on the groceries for ribs for Saturday night and Sunday, and a great part of the male population of the city will move to the woods surrounding the city for the first bird shooting of the season.

The season was especially favorable for the birds and there are said to be more of them than in many years. Other years the springs have been wet to such a degree that the young birds have been drowned. Those who have been in the woods during the summer express surprise at the great number of young birds.

Even very close to the city, inside the city limits, in fact, the birds are not mean that they are in the habit of alighting on the ends of eaves or anything like that, but persistent hunters can this year come back with a very fair looking game bag, say those who claim to know.

WEST END

WARD POLITICS BEGINNING TO STIR.

West enders have already begun to take an interest in aldermanic elections in the Sixth and Seventh wards. The places in the council now held by Alderman J. D. Bergstrom of the Sixth ward and Alderman W. L. Bernard of the Seventh are to be filled.

In the Sixth ward it is probably probable that Mr. Bergstrom will run again. The Republican aspirants for the office are said to be George M. Jensen, former Alderman Peter Olson and former Alderman Alex. K. Jensen. Louis Levine is a possible Democratic candidate.

Early in October a meeting of the Seventh ward Democrats will be held, and it is likely that the endorsement will be given to Alderman Bernard, the present incumbent. The Republicans took forward to John M. and Fred W. Erickson as aldermanic timber.

The Socialists promise to cut no small figure in the coming election, judging from their activity in the West end during the past season. Undoubtedly they will have candidates in both wards. The Prohibitionists may also put up men for candidates in both wards.

Brokskar is suing for injuries alleged to have been sustained while working on the company's docks. He claims that he had previously been injured while working for the company, and that the officials had taken him back when he recovered, promising to give him light employment for the rest of his life, providing he did not sue. He avers that he worked for about a year, when the foreman, Hansen, ordered him on top of one of the coal piles while a steamer was being unloaded, and that during the performance of his duties he was struck by one of the large dippers used in unloading the vessels.

MARINE TRAFFIC ON GREAT LAKES

August Shipments Show Loss of 10 Per Cent From Last Year.

Coal and Grain Show Increases But Ore Movement Is Lighter.

A loss of more than 10 per cent in the domestic freight tonnage shipped between ports on the Great Lakes during August of the present year is shown by the monthly figures of lake shipments, just made public by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor.

These shipments totaled 11,643,123 short tons, compared with 12,966,118 short tons in August, 1910, and 12,644,057 short tons in August, 1909. Assuming that the relative losses for the succeeding months of the present season as compared with last season, will not exceed the losses for August, the 1911 domestic freight shipments on the Great Lakes are not likely to exceed 12,500,000 short tons, as compared with 13,723,315 short tons in 1910 and 13,974,668 short tons in 1909. The total domestic lake shipments for the eight months of the present year aggregated 45,844,568 short tons or about 19 per cent less than in 1910. Of the total loss of over 10,000,000 short tons about 10,300,000 short tons represent the loss in iron ore shipments alone.

The iron ore shipments for the month aggregated 5,341,628 long tons, compared with 6,872,278 long tons shipped during August, 1910. Iron ore shipments for the year will probably not exceed 56,000,000 long tons, compared with 61,500,000 tons for the preceding season.

Coal Shipments Heavier.

The August shipments of soft coal, 2,732,088 short tons, exceeded the corresponding 1910 shipments, all the larger shipping ports such as Ashland, Toledo, Cleveland, Lorain, and Sandusky showing considerable gains over the 1910 figures. Shipments for the eight months, 6,000,025 short tons, were 730,558 tons less than in 1910. Cleveland, Lorain, Huron, and Fairport showing the main losses for the season, while Toledo, Ashland, and Sandusky report larger shipments than a year ago. About two-thirds of the coal received during the month was landed at Duluth-Superior and Milwaukee docks. Shipments of hard coal for the month and season, 423,440 and 2,807,164 short tons, respectively, mainly from Buffalo, Oswego, and Erie, were also heavier than the year before.

The lumber shipments for the month, 149,924,000 feet, fell below the corresponding 1910 shipments of 155,332,000 feet. Of the eight months' shipments, 700,722,000 feet, about 54 per cent proceeded from Lake Michigan ports, about 39 per cent from Lake Superior ports, largely from Duluth and about 7 per cent from Lake Huron ports.

Grain Shows Increase.

Grain shipments for the month, 14,225,995 bu, compare favorably with lake shipments in 1910, 11,475,329 bu. Of the total, 6,618,161 bu was wheat, 3,525,022 bu corn, 3,544,010 bu oats, and the rest barley and rye. The grain shipments for the month and season, 14,225,995 and 73,377,435 bu, likewise show a large gain over the 1910 figures of 11,475,329 bu, the largest gains appearing under the head of corn and oats.

Flour shipments during August, 125,957 short tons of ten barrels each, show a slight increase over the figures of a year ago. The monthly shipments of the other specified articles, i. e., pig iron, iron manufactures, salt, and copper, were all smaller than the year before. The August and eight months' shipments of unclassified, including package, freight, 1,072,247 and 5,209,000 short tons, exceeded in volume similar 1910 shipments.

The August freight traffic through the Sault Ste. Marie canals, 3,348,512 short tons, show a considerable decline from the corresponding 1910 and 1909 figures of 3,744,566 and 3,809,000 short tons. As against a heavy loss this month in the eastbound iron ore movement, considerable gains in the westbound coal and eastbound grain movements are noted. The movement through the canals for the month and season was considerably lighter than during last year, the relative decline in tonnage being much larger than the decline in the number of vessels locked through.

The domestic freight movement during the month by way of the Detroit river, 8,954,095 short tons, was about 1,200,000 tons lighter than in 1910, the loss affecting, however, the southbound movement only.

PLANKS AS LIFE-FLOATS.

Government Approves Their Use
Under Certain Conditions.

White pine planks, when well seasoned and of the prescribed dimensions may be approved as life-saving devices by local inspectors of steam vessels, says Charles Earl, acting secretary of the department of commerce and labor, in a circular issued in reply to a request for a ruling from the customs collector at Crisfield, Md. "The department hereby instructs you," says the circular, "that wooden life-boats may be used as one of the devices to be prescribed under section 5 of the act of June 9, 1910, provided the dimensions shall not be less than four feet long, 14 inches wide and two inches thick, and made of well seasoned white pine or of any other wood not exceeding white pine in its weight a cubic foot."

CITY OF DETROIT TO BE LAUNCHED OCT. 7.

Merton E. Farr, president of the Detroit Shipbuilding company, announces that the new D. & C. line steamer City of Detroit III will be launched Saturday, Oct. 7, at noon, under the auspices of the Detroit Board of Commerce. It is expected the event will be witnessed by 5,000 persons including members of the Detroit Motor Boat club and stockholders of the D. & C. line. The D. & C. R. will have a special street car service to the shipyard.

Crane Is Launched.

The wooden steamer Thomas Crane, of the Crane & Co. line, which company is reported hard ashore, her bow six feet out, on a reef in Tiffin harbor, Georgian Bay, onto which she ran early Monday morning, it is feared she will go to pieces before she can be released by tugs from Midland, which are now working on her. She is commanded by Capt. L. H. Powell of Ashland, Ohio.

Inspect Freighters.

A request has been made to the local United States vessel inspectors for the inspection of the steamer Augustus E. Wolvin, of the Acme Steamship company for tomorrow. Capt. John Monaghan and Capt. M. P. Chalk will look her over. The Wolvin has been tied up in the local harbor all summer when she has been inspected will make her first trip, going to the lower lakes, to carry coal. The James C. Wallace, of the same firm, was inspected recently, after having been in ordinary all summer. She is to hold stores grain this winter at Buffalo.

"HELPERS' CLUB" IS FROWNED ON

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hugh Jennings, superintendent of the state free employment bureau at Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis, does not believe in the "helpers' club" proposed by Mrs. L. A. Roseng, head of the bureau's "club" for the poor. Mrs. Roseng would have idle women make garments for poor children while waiting for employment.

Mr. Jennings called at the bureau yesterday and gave orders for further progress in formation of the club be stopped. He said the state did not care anything about the garments worn by children.

It is probable the matter will be taken up to higher authorities.

Martin Cole, in charge of the local office of the state free employment bureau, says that he has not heard of the "helpers' club." He said that if there is such a club the members have not mentioned it to him.

FLOUR RATE WITHDRAWN

Eastern Influences Cause
Western Lines to Recede
From Position.

Action Will Probably Mean
Establishment of New Boat Line.

Washington, Sept. 29.—Pressure brought by the Eastern railroads upon the Western trunk lines has induced the latter to withdraw the proposed Oct. 5 reduction in freight rates on flour from Minneapolis, St. Paul and Minnesota transfer to Eastern destinations. The interstate commerce commission refused to suspend the proposed reductions of rates from 25 cents to 21½ cents a hundred pounds but could see no reason why the Western trunk lines should not be permitted to withdraw the reduction if they saw fit. Now the 25-cent rate will continue.

Independent Boat Line.

The action of the Western trunk lines in withdrawing the rate may mean the placing of an independent boat line in operation by the Minneapolis millers. At the time the proposed new rate was pending before the interstate commerce commission, the Minneapolis interests threatened, if the new rate was suspended, to immediately put an independent boat line in operation, take advantage of the proportional rate of 8 cents between Minneapolis and Duluth on Eastern shipments and put into effect a rate of 20½ cents to the East.

The withdrawal of the rate of 21½ cents put an entirely new face on the matter and the next move is problematical. If the Minneapolis people were sincere in their announcement that an independent fleet of boats was ready to go into operation, they will undoubtedly take that action now, unless they can again swing the Western lines from their new position and get the rate reinstated.

Duluth Wants Fair Rate.

While members of the Duluth traffic commission believe the rate of 21½ cents from Minneapolis to the East is a fair one, the decrease in the differential between Duluth of Minneapolis from 5 cents to 3½ cents was not looked upon favorably and it is believed that out of the wattle which is now certain to be fought between the millers and the railroads, Duluth will come out with the 5-cent differential. Duluth will be with Minneapolis in the fight for a fair rate, but will insist on the maintenance of the established differential and, if conceded that it will undoubtedly throw its support to the millers.

G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Commercial club, declined to make any statement when shown the dispatch from Washington this afternoon. He said that as he understood it, the new rate would become effective Oct. 5 as intended and the withdrawal would not become effective until thirty days after that date.

REORGANIZE IN THREE TOBACCO COMPANIES.

New York, Sept. 29.—Plans for the reorganization of the American Tobacco company to conform with the mandate of the supreme court, it is said, provide for the disintegration of the parent company into its several parts and a reassembling of these parts into three separate companies, to be known as the American Tobacco, the Lorillard company and the Leggett & Meyers company.

The holders of 6 per cent bonds of the American Tobacco company will receive $1,200, it is said, for each bond, to be paid $600 in cash, $300 in 5 per cent Lorillard company bonds and $300 in 5 per cent bonds of Leggett & Meyers company.

It is reported that holders of the 4 per cent bonds will receive $800, to be paid $400 in cash, $250 in 5 per cent Lorillard bonds and $150 in 5 per cent bonds of Leggett & Meyers company.

TEST CASE IS PROBABLE

Special Committee of Charter
Commission to Be Called Together.

Plan to Obtain Definite Decision on Commission Government.

As soon as C. A. Condon, one of the members, returns from Europe, T. T. Hudson, chairman of the charter commission and of the committee of five appointed from that body to consider the commission form of government for Duluth, will call the committee together. The bringing of a test case to determine the rights of cities to adopt the commission form of government in Minnesota under the constitutional provisions for city governments as they exist, will then be considered.

It is very probable the test case will be brought in order that a determination of the question may be obtained from the state supreme court before the constitutional amendment, provided for at the last session of the legislature, is submitted to the people at the November election next year.

As the matter stands, now the constitutional amendment is intended to remove a possible doubt as to the constitutionality of the commission form of government under the present provisions of the constitution. The best lawyers in the state differ on the question, while Mankato and Fairbairn are now operating under commission governments without molestation.

It is argued that the amendment of the constitution is hard enough under any circumstances, and with the need for the proposed amendment not apparent, the voters would view it with suspicion. The vote could fall far short of the required majority of all the votes cast at the election.

If the supreme court should decide that the commission form of government is constitutional, the need for the amendment would disappear and its effect. If the supreme court should give an adverse decision and the commission governments already in operation were threatened with destruction, there would be a great deal of interest in the constitutional amendment could be aroused and the chances of securing its adoption would be greatly increased.

The special committee of the charter commission had determined to bring a test case, but when the legislature decided to submit the constitutional amendment, the matter was dropped. Now some of the members of the committee believe the test case would be a good thing in any event and it is probable that the entire committee will take that view.

Mr. Condon is expected back from Europe soon and when the whole committee can be called into session, action will be taken. The other members of the committee, besides Mr. Hudson and Mr. Condon, are Bert Foster, John G. Williams and H. H. Phelps.

The Illinois Central and Yazoo & Mississippi Valley railroads.

One-day Court Order.—According to leaders of the striking clerks of the Illinois Central railroad here, members of the local union are confining strictly to the letter and spirit of the federal restraining order, and they assert no demonstrations of any character have been made against the strike-breakers.

Conditions about the freight offices, the clerks' union, were not improved today and the freight congestion has not been to any extent lessened.

The railroad officials say there was a decided increase in the amount of freight handled yesterday and they are satisfied with the situation.

Scott at Danger of Strike.—Chicago, Sept. 28.—Although orders instructing 35,000 employees of the mechanical departments of the Harriman railroads, including the Illinois Central, to strike at 10 o'clock tomorrow are ready for transmission today, various division points, there will be no strike, according to officers of the railroads concerned.

The belief of the railroad managers that the men would not strike is based on the fact that thousands of railroad men are already idle as a result of retrenchment by the Harriman roads, and the demands of the men do not call for any increase in wages.

Question of Recognition.—The strike is threatened because the railroads yesterday, for the third time, flatly refused to recognize the federation of shop employees in the manner that they now deal with the individual unions in the federation.

President J. W. Kline of the International Brotherhood of Railway Employees prepared the strike order which the railroad officers say will either not be sent out or will not be obeyed today. He said the men are eager to strike and that all preparations for a strike have been perfected. He said the reply of Mr. Kruttschnitt of the Harriman roads to the federation's ultimatum left no alternative to a strike, except to withdraw the demands of the union.

ELOPERS ARE GUILTY

Dora Oratinovich and Alleged
"Affinity" Convicted in District Court.

Philip Plutuch and Dora Oratinovich were found guilty by a jury in district court yesterday afternoon of adultery.

The case was the second of the criminal cases to be tried this term and was held before Judge Cant. Both cases resulted in conviction.

The two people were tried together. Dora Oratinovich is the wife of Matt Oratinovich. She eloped from her home in New York with Plutuch.

The angry husband, bent on avenging the wrong done him by Plutuch, followed them all over the United States, finally finding them living together at New Duluth, it was claimed.

The men are accused of using the "lost pocketbook trick" on a man named Gordon Sewell. Sewell is said to have shown his pocketbook when requested to do so, and a wad of news paper was left in the purse in return for $22 of real American money.

Assistant County Attorney Warren E. Greene appeared in both yesterday's and today's cases, while Attorney William Marx represented the defendants in all the cases.

There are still about thirty-five cases to be tried in the criminal court, and they will follow one another in rapid succession from this time on, until they have been disposed of.

PROGRESSIVES CANNOT AGREE

South Dakota Insurgents Seem to Be Split Over La Follette.

Mitchell, S. D., Sept. 28.—The serious efforts of some of the less radical supporters of the La Follette movement in South Dakota to harmonize the warring factions of the insurgent Republicans within the state have come to naught.

If anything, the followers of R. O. Richards of Huron, and of Senator C. E. Crawford, are further apart, following the Crawford meeting yesterday, than they were on the day following the Richards meeting at Huron.

The Crawford men late yesterday afternoon extended to the Richards men an olive branch in the way of an offer to allow the Richards campaign committee for La Follette to remain without change as to the chairmanship and secretaryship, provided five Crawford men would be made members of the committee. Mr. Richards and his friends declined the offer.

The Richards men who came here refused to take part in the meeting. Crawford Announces Position.

In his address at the meeting Senator Crawford said in part:

"I am personally fond of President Taft, and as a Republican I will vote for him if he is nominated. But I am in favor of making a fight in the next Republican national convention for a platform and candidate more fully in accord with Progressive Republican principles and more in sympathy with Progressive Republican sentiment. La Follette is the man of the hour—let us rally to his standard."

After the meeting R. O. Richards, leader of the Richards faction, issued a statement in which he said:

"I have repudiated Senator Crawford's leadership on account of his having proven himself a traitor to progressive principles and because of his repeated violations of the pledges of the Republican platform and his endorsement of a railroad attorney for federal judge."

A conference is being held in Chicago today to consider the matter of the pollution of the Great Lakes and the high typhoid death rate in many of the cities using the lakes as house-water supplies. Duluth has not been troubled recently by pollution of its water so that the typhoid death rate here is low, no cases having been traced to city water in recent years.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Empress vaudeville.
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

Some world famous artists will be heard at the Lyceum theater Monday evening, Oct. 2, when the Sheehan English Opera company will present the great comic opera success, "The Love Tales of Hoffmann." Orders are coming in from the entire surrounding country and all indications point to the largest attendance which the Lyceum theater has had for a long time.

"The Love Tales of Hoffmann" for the past few years has been the musical sensation of the opera-going public in Europe and America, and Mr. Sheehan was quick to take advantage of its vogue to present it in English to his admirers. It offers splendid opportunity to a tenor and the score gives him plenty of solos as well as providing star parts for other members of the cast. "The Love Tales of Hoffmann" is staged in a prologue, three acts and an epilogue. The first scene introduces the dissipated young poet, Hoffmann, in the midst of revelry in a tavern. To give fresh impetus to his gaiety someone suggests that Hoffmann tell his audience about his love affairs, to which the poet consents. The following three acts depict his three love affairs. The first scene shows Olympia, a mechanical doll, with whom the poet falls in love, believing her to be a living, lovely woman. The second act shows a moonlight scene in Venice, where the poet, Hoffmann, to win a wager from one of her suitors, lays siege to the heart of the girl when the poet's devotion is laid at her feet she spurns him and goes away with another suitor. Disgusted with his experiences, Hoffmann returns to Munich, where he meets a great singer to whose charm of voice and person he capitulates. He then falls victim to consumption and is ordered never to sing in the hope of prolonging his life. A sinister, mysterious like person, however, compels her to break her silence and the shock kills her. The third scene ended, the scene returns to the wine cellar, showing the poet drinking none deeply than ever to drown his memories. As the curtain descends, the Muse of Poetry appears and tells Hoffmann that all earthly love must cease and bids him to devote his future life to becoming a great poet.

Manager Marshall of the Lyceum theater tried to induce Mr. Sheehan to bring his production of Hoffmann's favorite play, "The Bohemian Girl," to Duluth for a performance Sunday evening, Oct. 1 but had to guarantee him a lump sum. "The Bohemian Girl" will be seen at popular prices.

The Lyceum theater will be the scene tomorrow, matinee and night of what is expected to be a most triumphant engagement of one of the most popular as she is certainly one of the most gifted of America prima donnas, Grace Van Studdiford. She left a splendid impression behind her two seasons ago by her marvellously pleasing work in "The Golden Rule." This season she is reported to be better fitted with a vehicle than ever in the past. The most glowing accounts have been received of her present offering, "The Paradise of Mahomet," that enjoyed great favor at the Herald Square theater in New York last season. Miss Van Studdiford will be surrounded by a large and carefully selected company, including in which are Laura Burt, John J. McCowan, Florence Rother, Edward Mora, Florence Kell, Hudson Froeborn, and the usual beauty chorus that this time is said to contain real singers.

One of the shortest but one of the best acts on the Orpheum bill this week, is the club juggling act by Lynch and Zeller. The two young men come in front of the drop curtain, and bombard each other with Indian clubs. Their work is so rapid and accurate, that they have been one of the hits of this week's bill.

Vaudeville will be presented at the Lyceum for the last time today, after which the Sullivan & Considine shows will be presented at the Empress commencing tomorrow matinee. The improvements have been progressing in line shape and when its doors are thrown open to the public tomorrow, the Empress will be one of the most comfortable homes of vaudeville in the entire Northwest.

The booking agents of the Sullivan & Considine circuit have secured some big attractions for the coming season, which include "The Telephone Girls," Vilmos Westons, the great Wagnerian pianist, Kara, the famous European juggler; The Sarnthaler troupe of Tyrolean Singers; Nat Fields & Co. in a condensed version of "The Girl Behind the Counter," Harry Thomson, "The Mayor of the Howery," Barthold's Cockatoos; and several others. It is policy of the Sullivan & Considine circuit to present the highest class of vaudeville attractions obtainable at popular prices and this policy is making the Empress theaters all over the country a most popular place of amusement in their respective cities.

The Empress has been entirely redecorated in a light cream and gold, new seats have been installed, a new ventilating plant is in the process of installation, the stage has been fitted out with a new equipment of scenery throughout and in fact every possible improvement which would add to the comfort and entertainment of its patrons has been installed.

"Unequaled for Lungs, Stomach and Bowels"

CAPT. T. J. LOWE, SR.

Says Capt. T. J. Lowe, who knows from his own and others' experiences. He is unwilling to keep a good thing to himself so he recommends and gives it to all his friends.

Capt. T. J. Lowe, Sr., of Mableton, Ga., who owns one of the most beautiful homes along the Southern R. R. in that part of the country, writes as follows: "Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the best medicine for lungs, stomach and bowels I have ever used, and I do not know of a single case of failure to parties to whom I have given it for these troubles. My wife had a severe cough last winter and was taking different medicines, but they did no good. She could not sleep and disturbed me much. I sweetened a portion of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey with sugar, put it beside her pillow and told her to take a teaspoonful every time she coughed. It was but a short time before she was asleep. I don't think I have heard her cough for the past three months and the cough was most distressing."

"A neighbor of mine some ten or twelve years ago said his wife was desperately ill with indigestion. I told him if he would come to my house I would give him something I believed would be of great benefit to her, as it had done wonders for me in stomach troubles. Yesterday, also, today, he told me that it had done her more good than all the doctors' treatment and is much elated. I'm satisfied it will cure her."

"I am not living for myself, but others, and I will continue to recommend and give Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey to the afflicted. I've already lived many years more than I expected, due to the use of this wonderful medicine."

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

STANDARD OF PURITY AND EXCELLENCE SINCE 1860.

It is a wonderful remedy in the prevention and cure of nervousness, typhoid, malaria, every form of stomach trouble, diseases of the throat and lungs, and is prescribed as a medicine by doctors of all schools.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the only whiskey that was taxed by the government as a medicine during the Spanish-American War.

GIRL SUES FOR MINE PROPERTY

Old Scrawl in Musty Memorandum Book Her Evidence.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 29.—As a sequel to the finding of a notation scrawled in a musty memorandum book picked out of the bottom of an old trunk two months ago, suit for $25,000 against the administrator of the estate of W. S. Stratton, a mine operator of Colorado, has been filed in the circuit court here by Miss Bonnie Ethel Steele of this city. Stratton died in 1902, leaving $15,000,000 to charity. The notation found among her father's papers by Miss Steele reads: "I am the owner this date of $6,000 shares of stock in the Amazon mine." Miss Steele's father, Charles W. Steele, one of the pioneer miners of Colorado, son of the first governor of that state, died in 1904, leaving his daughter $100,000. He had been a partner of W. S. Stratton.

According to Miss Steele and attorney, who went with her to Denver to investigate the Amazon shares, Miss Steele is entitled to 40,000 shares in the Portland mine, which were turned over to her father in return for the $9,000 Amazon shares.

WANT ANOTHER SHIP TO SERVE AS TARGET.

Washington, Sept. 29.—Target experiments, like those that have been conducted with the San Marcos off Cape Henry, are to take place on the Pacific coast. The navy department is now looking for a ship of little value to serve as a target.

It is believed that the ships in the Pacific fleet should be given an opportunity to shoot at ships more nearly under battle conditions, as did those of the Atlantic fleet. When the Panama canal is opened the Atlantic fleet will visit the Pacific coast frequently and it is thought there will be times when it will be convenient for the Atlantic fleet to conduct at least a part of its target practice on the Western coast.

Reports that the navy department has ever considered the sale of the San Marcos as junk are unfounded. It is believed that the San Marcos will be a good target for twenty years. When holes are shot through they are painted over so that a record can be kept of each experiment. The San Marcos is hard around where she has been ever since the first shot struck her.

GUN MEN IN CONGRESS

Some Gun Fighters With Records in the Lower House.

Ben Johnson of Kentucky Has Notches in His Pistol Stock.

Washington, Sept. 29.—It is pretty generally known that a small arsenal can be mustered in the chamber pretty nearly any time the house of representatives is in session. A percentage of the "voice of the people" in the lower house go "heeled" pretty much all the time, and a silk handkerchief is not always responsible for an unexpected bulge in the immediate vicinity of a congressional coat tail.

Staid, weaponless inhabitants of large cities have ceased wondering at well known "gun totes" from the South and West; in fact, the "gun tote" is becoming less numerous with each succeeding congress, though there be plenty now. But if the "gun tote" has ceased to be a cause for wonder the gun fighters of congress, were all their records known, might excite comment.

For congress has gun men; real live fighters, with "Kilt Carsons" on their gun stocks and reputations for speed on the draw and a bird's-eye brand of accuracy. Several have records for having "got" their man, and at least one has put several bad actors away. Others have come out of hostile powder smoke with marks of the conflict or after having left their opponents in a lurch.

Johnson of Kentucky. Representative Ben Johnson of Kentucky, chairman of the committee on the District of Columbia, caused some-thing like a sensation at College Park, Md., last week, when he suddenly decided upon a ride in one of the army aeroplanes at College Park. Johnson, after the machine had been brought to earth, "lowed" as he liked flying. When some one suggested that others might have thought the trip hazardous Mr. Johnson did not even think the joke deserving of a smile.

For, compared with some of the pieties Ben Johnson has come out of, an aeroplanes ride is just about as dangerous as an old woman's home on a Sunday afternoon. Johnson, besides serving a term as speaker of the Kentucky house, came out triumphant and with a whole skin after four years as collector of revenue for the Fifth Kentucky district—and life insurance rates are high on revenue collectors in the Blue Grass state.

It was while Mr. Johnson was speaker of the Kentucky house in 1887 that he made his best gun record, though he was known as a good man on the trigger even before then. Johnson as speaker of the house, was the element of a bitter factional fight. The element that Johnson fought hardest contained a number of well known gun fighters; and Johnson, knowing it, carried his own gun to the house.

The climax came when it was seen that Johnson would soon be in position to rule against his enemies, and rule hard. Four "bad men" took it upon themselves to challenge Johnson of the way. Meeting him on a lonely road one afternoon they invited him to stop and then and there for the state line, not to return to Kentucky upon pain of death on sight. And they didn't keep their guns under their coats, either.

Not long ago, when Mr. Johnson was asked about the story, one of his audience interrupted at this point: "What did you do, Mr. Johnson?" "Why," replied the Kentuckian, in a matter-of-fact way, "I killed two of them, wounded another, and the fourth ran."

Which is exactly what happened. In the course of his service as collector of internal revenue Johnson had occasion several times to use his gun in a hurry. And it is generally understood he used it to good advantage.

"If taking my foot from that chair would prolong my life five years, I would not move my foot, but I'd fight my veins before I'd let any human being be responsible for shortening my life," explained Mr. Johnson when a listener remarked on his dare-devilry.

And there are others. Johnson is not the only member of the Kentucky delegation who has carried a gun to good advantage. Caled Powers, the Republican member, thrice tried for the murder of George Hamilton of Kentucky, found no slight solace in the companionship of a blue steel six-shooter during the force private and political feuds through which he fought his way to his seat for a time because of his gun record. James S. O'Connell, who has been a member of the Kentucky delegation since 1904, has a gun as a matter of course, and carries the fiercest of political storms and in a country where six-shooters give rise to less comment than in the effete East.

Johnson has twice married into the Cherokee nation. He is the only "white" married member of the Kentucky delegation. Following a heated argument he shot his way out of the man in the old story days. He was tried, pleaded self-defense, and was acquitted. He was again tried a new trial, he was acquitted. In 1908, when running for election to the seventh house of congress, he obtained access to the records of the federal court at Fort Smith, Ark., where the first trial was held. Taking certain damaging parts of the testimony, they reprinted them in pamphlet form and mailed them broadcast throughout the district. Daventon was defeated, but he won his way back at the last election.

Rucker of Rucker, Md., Sub-Judge Rucker of Colorado, of Rucker, Kan., sub—began his gun record as a soldier of the Confederate army, and continued his familiarity with firearms while practicing law in Missouri and Kansas at a time when a lawyer carried some of the best of the practice of law and the care of a flourishing young ranch near Denver. Pretty soon, however, he was presented with the alternative of giving up the practice of law or the care of the ranch. He chose the ranch, and the practice of law was abandoned in favor of the ranch. He was a member of the "bad men" and cattle rustlers from a convenient railroad trestle. Rucker defended them and procured

Being by that time more or less "got in his ways," Judge Rucker decided to dispute possession with the next gang of invaders. When the smoke had cleared away, one of the gang was good and dead, several others were hurt, and the rest had "beat it." Rucker handled a shotgun and a six-shooter far too expertly for their health. He hasn't been bothered much since.

Fighting Judge of Modoc. Representative John E. Raker of California is not known as the "Fighting Judge of Modoc" for nothing. California people have not forgotten the time he sat on the bench with a pair of forty-fives handy when the spectators carried enough hardware to stock a sporting goods store. Raker did good night's work by handling a number of "bad men" and cattle rustlers from a convenient railroad trestle. Raker defended them and procured WANT DANCERS AT ASYLUM. Nurses Who Will Teach the Patients Advertised For.

New York, Sept. 29.—"I would like to get two or three people as nurses who can teach patients and other nurses how to dance," said Dr. Britton D. Evans, medical director of the New Jersey state hospital for the insane at Morris Plains, N. J., last night in relation to an advertisement asking for nurses able to teach dancing. "For twenty years past we have promised at least one dance each week or two for the nurses. We have to provide some entertainment for both patients and nurses, as we are far from the cities and the patients prefer dancing to any other form of amusement."

"Several years ago we had two nurses who gave dancing lessons twice a week to those wanting them. Since then the number of patients and nurses who can't dance, but want to, has greatly increased."

Danville, N. Y., Sept. 29.—A hobo who wrote a note explaining just why he took what didn't belong to him and thanking the owner is the rare specimen that visited the home of Edward Jones, Hickory street. Mrs. Jones had returned from the store and noticed a strange man leaving the yard. Thinking he had been to the cupboard and had taken the money, she followed him. He went into the yard to hang some clothes. In a few minutes she returned and having occasion to go to the cupboard opened the door only to find her purse open and instead of the money a piece of a paper bag, on which was written in pencil:

"Thanks, lady; I think I need this worse than you, 2A Bum."

It is supposed that the tramp had returned to the house to ask for food and, in the temporary absence of Mrs. Jones had gone to the cupboard to forage for himself and discovered the money instead.

TAKES COFFIN WITH HER.

Made From Tree Under Which Woman's Sweetheart Was Shot.

Bristol, Tenn., Sept. 29.—The agent at Paw Paw, a little station on the Big Sandy & Cumberland railroad, in Virginia, confessed that he was startled when an elderly woman with a sad expression stepped up to the ticket window and called for a ticket to a little town in Tennessee, and to the demand for a ticket she added: "And please tell me what it will cost me to express my coffin to the same place."

The woman was Eliza Dodson, who for fifteen years had carried about the country this coffin.

In the days of her youth she loved a young mountaineer in Buchanan county, Virginia, and he was devoted to her. But this young man had a mountain rival. One evening while the young lady was planning her wedding with her fiancé, a tragedy tree, the rival shot the young man from ambush, and he fell, dying in her arms. For many years Miss Dodson brooded over the sad fate of her lover. Finally she had the tree cut down and a coffin made for herself.

"I will be content," said the elderly little woman, "if only when I come to die I am given assurance that my body will be buried in this coffin, for it represents all in this world that is dear to me."

LION AFTER RAILROAD MEN.

Strikes Terror Into Hearts of Western Pacific Engineers.

Oroville, Cal., Sept. 29.—A mountain lion which haunts the Sand Pass district near the California border has struck terror into the hearts of the engineers of the Western Pacific railroad.

The lion comes out from its lair in the canyon and looks hungrily at the trains as they pass by.

As the beast is said to be one of the most enormous ever seen in the mountains, engineers do not relish leaving the train and walking back on the track in his neighborhood.

It is no uncommon sight for trainmen to see deer in herds of four and five along the track. The deer have become so accustomed to the overland trains that they graze in an unconcerned manner as the trains speed by.

Though no bear have been seen, flagmen report tracks on a number of occasions, particularly in the neighborhood of Spring Garden.

S.S.S. A BLOOD MEDICINE FOR YOUNG OR OLD

The majority of human ailments are caused by impure blood, because weak, polluted blood deprives the system of its necessary strength and disease-resisting powers. Children do not develop perfectly, nor are they strong and robust unless the blood is pure and strong, while old people are afflicted with Rheumatism and other chronic troubles because of a weakened circulation. S. S. S. cures every ailment which comes from impure or diseased blood, it tones up and regulates every portion of the system and creates an abundant supply of nourishing properties with which to build up the blood. S. S. S. is absolutely free from harmful drugs and minerals, and is therefore the purest and safest blood medicine for young or old. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Scrofula, Malaria, Blood Poison, and all other blood disorders. Book on the blood and any medical advice free. S. S. S. is sold at drug stores. MAKES APPEAL FOR AN AUTO

Old Circuit Rider's Little Horse Unequal to the Strain.

Rensselaer, Ind., Sept. 29.—Farewell to the old circuit riding parson's cub. The faithful nag must go to pasture. The automobile has won. Only in memory and ultimately as a legend of history will the circuit rider, galloping along the country road, his coat flapping over the dusty flanks of his horse, be known. For the horse that roared with the march of progress. The pastor must have a smelting auto. The Rev. E. M. Kuonen, a circuit rider here, has decided to sell his saddle and bridle and turn old Dobbin out to grass. This, of course, depends upon his ability to raise the price of an automobile. Mr. Kuonen is endeavoring to interest prominent automobile manufacturers and philanthropists in his plan. He says his circuit is one of the largest in the conference and that he is required to travel an average of thirty-five miles a day over country roads, and he is greatly hampered in his inability to make the jumps from church to church in as rapid time as he should. "I have only a little horse to use in my work, an animal who is really too small to stand up under the strain, and my salary is only $700 a year," he says pathetically. "Thus I am unable to purchase an automobile, so I am trying to raise funds for the purchase of a machine, or I might be able to induce some automobile manufacturer to give a car for the work."

SAYS ONE CENT A DAY WAS HER ALLOWANCE.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 29.—Asserting that her poet husband allowed her less than a cent a day to live on, Mrs. Mabel Smith, who was married in Grand Rapids, Mich., a few days ago, was awarded a divorce by her former husband. She is a poet and she warns girls against marrying men who depend on their poetry for a living. She says she was deserted in Chicago.

NO COURT AT TO REPORT RIDEAU HALL ON ECONOMY

Duke of Connaught Will Have No Royal Frills at Ottawa. Commission Figuring How Government Can Be Run Cheaper.

Past Customs Will Govern Social Functions During His Term. Result Will Be Presented in Report to Congress in January.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 29.—An official statement issued from government house expresses the idea that his royal highness the Duke of Connaught intends establishing a court at Rideau hall during his incumbency of the governor generalship of the Dominion. This statement briefly states that the official functions and the dress to be worn will be the same as has been the custom in the past. In this quiet but effective way all talk of court ceremony at government house has ceased. There probably never was any intention of anything of the kind on the part of the new governor, who is personally familiar with the views of the Canadian people and who is also perfectly well aware of the growth of democracy in this country. The duke, but also in the British Isles. The general election which has just closed in Canada has greatly stimulated a democratic sentiment among the people, as was to be observed by the declarations of public men that the common people were entitled to be heard. Indeed, politicians and statesmen proudly boasted of their descent from the common people who were upon the whole, safe guides to follow than the selfish and privileged classes. The defeat of the duke in England and even mention of the names of Asquith and Lloyd George in this connection, were applications of the same principle. It is, therefore, no wonder that his royal highness intends to introduce a more democratic mode of life at the government house in the way of old world aristocratic notions which might be unpopular in a growing democratic country.

The arrangements to receive the duke have not yet been completed, but they are proceeding satisfactorily and with all possible speed. The vice-regal residence, which is setting pretty well out of date, having been built in 1870, is being renovated, although repaired and added to at different times, is not to be altered in any particular way. There is, however, not sufficient accommodation for the number of servants who will be with his royal highness and, therefore, the public works department is engaged in building houses for them. There are to be fifty-five servants in all. This does not of course, include the staff of personal attendants. The staff accompanying his royal highness, who will sail for Canada on Oct. 7, will be as follows: Maj. H. C. Lawther, C.M.G., M.V.O., D.S.O. (Scottish guards), military secretary; Capt. T. Rivers Bulkeley, C.M.G., M.V.O. (household and equerry); Capt. W. Long, D.S.O. (scots guards), aide-camp; Capt. H. C. Buller (title brigade), aide-camp and Capt. J. E. S. W. O. R.A.M.C., medical officer.

Condition of Crops. The department of agriculture has issued a statement giving the average condition of field crops in the province of August in the different provinces of Canada and also estimates of production of spring wheat, oats and barley at that time. The percentage condition of wheat is given as 83.4 of oats 24.4 and of barley 87.3, which is about five per cent higher than last year and about the same as the year previous. Other crops range in condition from 80 to 85 per cent and are generally somewhat lower than in 1909 and 1910. The average yield of spring wheat is estimated at 15.14 bushels per acre for the Dominion, which is seven bushels more than last year and the total yield is given at 186,250,000 bushels. The total wheat yield of the country is estimated at 204,634,000 bushels or $1,849,000 bushels greater than last year at the same date. For the whole Dominion the yield of oats is given as 388,000 bushels, which is $4,500,000 bushels more than last year's estimate at the same date, and the average, at 35.81 bushels per acre, being more than last year by 7.1 bushels. The average yield of barley is also higher than last year by 1.31 bushels and the total yield is estimated at 51,559,000 bushels, as against 33,338,000 bushels last year.

American Investments. Scarcely a week passes that an announcement does not appear of some United States people making new investments in Canada for development or other purposes. The British invests in bonds and stocks, while American takes larger chances with prospects of larger returns in the future. Consequently he invests in public undertakings and other works and follows the money to the country, so that he will be certain as to the methods adopted to bring about good results. A Spokane company has just invested in Vancouver island coal properties in the province of British Columbia. The lands embrace 2,400,000 acres and estimated to contain approximately 10,000,000 tons of coal. The company has, in addition to the coal rights, bought across the bay from the town of Ladysmith, sufficient land for a townsite for the accommodation of its employees. The head works will be located on this site and the principal shipping will be done from there, as there is a very fine harbor—or at least what is the making of one. The company is anxious to supply the local market as well as doing an export business.

Strathcona Holds On. During the proceedings of the last imperial conference in London, Sir Wilfrid Laurier advised that Lord Strathcona, Canada's high commissioner, intended to resign on account of failing health. Lord Strathcona was acting under the order of his medical advice his intentions to resign. The announcement was made at the Canadian club dinner, Lord Strathcona presiding. Since that time the noble lord has been enjoying rather good health and he has therefore held on to office. The intention was to become high commissioner and, therefore, did not intend to return to parliament, but as the elections were springing somewhat suddenly, the resignation of Strathcona was not received. Sir Frederick again contested the county of Kings Nova Scotia, which he has represented for a great many years.

It is quite possible that Strathcona may hold on to office for some time yet, notwithstanding that he is in his sixtieth year. He is certainly one of the most remarkable men in Canadian history. Canadian and Canadians generally will be glad to see the grand old man discharged of the duties of the commission in London as long as he is able to retain the position, for he has rendered valuable service since the time he was appointed by the old Conservative government. In politics he always pursued an independent course, having while in the Canadian parliament supported Alexander Mackenzie and also Sir John Macdonald.

FORTUNE IN A CLAM.

Adrian, Mich., Sept. 29.—W. H. Toms of Palmyra found 112 pearls in the Raisin river clam. As a proof of his remarkable luck, Toms brought to the shore with the pearls to Adrian for market. Toms pursues his clam hunting in a scientific manner and digs only in certain kinds of soil along the river banks.

ment, being the amount due him and not paid when he was discharged on Aug. 16, 1865. He was a bugler in Company C, Fifth Iowa infantry, and also in Company G, Fifth Iowa cavalry.

Earl last met his brother in Iowa City, Iowa, in 1859. The Denver man enlisted at the outbreak of the Civil war. When the war ended he came West.

The story of Earl's receiving payment for wages overdue him for forty-six years from the government was read by the Los Angeles man, and he at once wrote to his brother in Denver. The West Point man is J. J. Smith, and from him Earl got this letter: "My congratulations upon receiving your claim of forty-six years ago. I had the pleasure of meeting you on three very interesting occasions—Luka, Corinth and Vicksburg. How many more I don't know. I belonged to the thirty-seventh Regular Alabama volunteers, Confederate States army—Gen. Price's army. I hope life has been easy for you since those days and that you will only have to keep the little check as a memento. Yours in comradeship, J. J. SMITH."

Earl has framed the check, and he says he will keep it as a memento of the time he was with his brother.

ON HIS WOODEN LEGS.

Western Pioneer Trapped Into Fairbanks, Alaska.

Fairbanks, Alaska, Sept. 27.—A performance unique in the annals of the West is that of Monte G. A. Terrill, formerly of White Plains, N. Y., who walked into this city on two wooden legs, after traveling all the way from China, 300 miles. Terrill is back to make his fortune in the iron that three years ago cost him his legs. He is one of the old style miners, famed since the days of the Forty Mile for hospitality and mutual assistance. He amassed a fortune at Minton roadhouse on the Hot Springs trail, and when he passed by on the mud of his wooden legs he was given better care than those who paid.

FOLLOWED FOR A MILE.

Man Beats Mountain Lion in Race for His Life.

San Bernardino, Cal., Sept. 29.—Arthur Himes, while tramping alone, from Big Meadows to Bear Valley, met face to face, a huge mountain lion, the first sign of a year in the San Bernardino mountains.

The beast was devouring the carcass of a deer near the trail, when Himes suddenly came upon it as he rounded a turn in the path. The animal had since the approach of the man, and it was crouched ready to spring when Himes first saw it. Armed only with a .32-caliber revolver, he decided that safety lay only in flight, and he fled for his life, with the beast following behind him. Although the lion kept close in the rear, it made no attempt to leap upon the man.

Himes believes that had not the lion, made a meal on the deer he would have been killed to satisfy his hunger. The animal followed him for a mile before it dropped behind him and disappeared.

appeared in the undergrowth. It is believed that the lion is the same sighted by Mrs. Kate Harvey in Mill Creek canyon a few weeks ago. For a month calves and chickens have disappeared from the mountain ranches, and it is believed the lion is the beast that is ravaging the region.

Mr. Berwind recently added an independent water supply to his estate, together with a garage costing $300,000.

SOUTHERN WOMAN IS GRANDMOTHER AT 29.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 29.—At the age of 31 Mrs. E. W. Bender is the grandmother of three children. She is said to be the youngest grandmother in the South. She was married to E. W. Moore at Columbia, S. C. In 1882 when she was 18 years and 3 months old her first child was born. This child, a daughter, was married in 1892 to Edward Sinclair, and in January, 1910, gave birth to twins, the mother being barely 18 and the grandmother not yet 30. Moore died later and his widow married E. W. Bender in January of this year. Mrs. Bender's daughter gave birth to another child.

ASKS PEOPLE TO "BE FAIR"

Taft Talks on Government's Relation to Business Interests.

Serves Notice That Anti-Trust Laws Will Be Enforced Under Him.

Waterloo, Iowa, Sept. 29.—Speaking here yesterday, in the heart of the "progressive" country, President Taft made a plea for fair treatment of "big business." His topic was "The Relation of Government to the Business of the Country" and he discussed it exhaustively under four general heads. The remedy for present unsatisfactory conditions, he said, is the restoration of confidence between the classes of persons who have been opposing each other in the past, who now, after reforms are initiated and in process of being effected, ought to come together and make the best of the enormous resources of the country, for the promotion of general prosperity and the securing and encouragement of individual happiness.

Under Four Heads.
There are four most important points at which the policies of congress and the federal executive touch the business of this country in such a vital way that the people are entitled to have the greatest care, industry, and application characterize governmental action in respect to them. They are, first, in respect of interstate commerce and the regulation of railroads and the rates of transportation between the states; second, in the enforcement of the laws forbidding combinations to monopolize interstate trade in industrial companies; third, in the amendment of tariff legislation affecting chiefly the manufacturers of the country; and fourth, in the furnishing for the use of the business of the country a proper banking and currency system which shall automatically give an elastic currency, extending and contracting according to the business needs, and inspiring a confidence in the business community which shall prevent panics.

First, in respect to the regulation of railroads and the prompt remedying of unreasonable and unduly discriminating rates, we have progressed far toward a satisfactory solution. Power to regulate the rates of interstate commerce has been established, and the interstate commerce law is not under direct control of the department of justice, and proceedings after the order is made in the interstate commerce commission are brought for or against the United States, and not against the commission, as heretofore. Shippers now have an easy and practical method of ascertaining a rate applicable to any proposed shipment, in writing, with a penalty for a failure to furnish it, the commission can act on its own initiative, pass upon the classification of commodities, as well as upon their rates; the commission has been given power to suspend an order for sixty days and look into its reasonableness, and shippers have the power to direct the route over which their shipment passes to destination.

In addition, the house of representatives has added to the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission the power to declare reasonable rates in respect of telegraph, telephone and express companies.

Regulation Not Restrictive.
This regulation is not restrictive of wide discretion in railroad management, and there is no need of a sufficient scope for enterprise, for close economic in the business of the common carrier, and for the securing of a reasonable profit for the shareholders, to make the railroad business a great field as ever for business genius. All reforms have not been secured in railroad management. This takes time.

Many are still unsatisfied with the discriminating, but the point I am making is that we now have effective and impartial machinery in the present organization and power of the commission to regulate those rates without additional restrictive legislation.

Second, With respect to the trusts, I have elsewhere given my view of what the decision of the supreme court is. While there will be a cure of a national incorporation act for the closer supervision of those corporations engaged in interstate trade and for their greater security when they are engaged in interstate trade, I am unable to say, because the Constitutional views of the present majority in the lower house are prominently against the increase of the federal power in respect to trusts, that we must decline to admit that there is any discretion which would enable the attorney general and his assistants to the hand of the government in making legal the control of a monopoly and limited monopoly, some statute enacted which shall be a check upon those that are unreasonable. No such line is possible, and the supreme court has expressly so decided.

Tendency Toward Socialism.
There is a tendency among foreign governments to encourage what they call trusts to take care of themselves in the management of the trusts, so as to fix prices, to depend upon government control to secure their reasonable conduct, but such a system with us is absolutely impossible. It might as well be understood. The countries to which we are looking for aid are veering toward state socialism. This, indeed, is the logical escape from the evil of private monopolies.

Third, With respect to tariff laws. The business of the country today is a change of tariffs in such a way that those businesses that are dependent upon protection for their existence shall lose it must injure present conditions in all business, whether dependent on the tariff or not. The change, therefore, from a protective tariff to a tariff for revenue only is necessarily hostile to existing business, and must lead to business depression and at least temporary business disaster. But there are many, and among those who believe in protection in the past has been too much, and that it is not to interfere with business, give a living rate of protection to existing enterprises, and prevent excessive prices growing out of excessive rates. In carrying out such a policy and maintaining this attitude, it is essential that the interests of business be protected by close investigation into their needs and the importance of a tariff commission and of its active participation of the facts with respect to business and the difference between the cost of production here and the cost of production abroad before tariff changes are made.

Under circumstances which it is not now necessary for me to recount and by appropriations furnished by congress, I have been able to establish a board of tariff commissioners to promote the passage of tariff measures framed without the knowledge that within the few months past, tariff can furnish, and I have done so because I thought it was a reasonable country was entitled to better treatment than the shipboard framing and hasty enactment of measures the injurious effect of which upon the industries of the country could not be calculated.

Money Currency System.
Fourth, and finally, we have a very lame banking and currency system. There ought to be a central authority that could take over the quick assets of the banks in the form of business paper and issue bank notes on the faith of it to meet the exigencies arising at any time in the money market. If vested in one person or set of persons, the business can be intelligently done, panics avoided, and money sufficient for the purpose of business constantly kept on hand.

The present proposition of the monetary commission, which I believe will be recommended to congress, is that this authority shall be provided by a combination of all the banks of the country, reserving to the smaller banks a power of selection greater than the ratio between their capital and the capital of the larger banks, in which have a representative, not so that it may control, but so that it may have a voice in the management.

I do not go into the details except to say that they must be carefully worked for the purpose of preventing the political control of the monetary situation, or control by the large banks of Wall street. Such a system is absolutely necessary for the progress of business in this country. It must have a system in which the merchants have confidence that it will be scientifically run, and with a view only to the public interest.

I have many times, with points with a view to an appeal to the public in help and treatment for the purpose of encouraging the investment of capital and of promoting the business of the country, and I have been disappointed in the feeling against railway corporations, against competing parts of trusts after they have been complied with decrees of courts disintegrating their reasonableness treatment of the business dependent on the tariff, or against the institution of the monetary question, which appeals to all reasonable and experienced men.

Savored of Hostility.
In attempting to rid ourselves of the evils that are growing in business so as to put dangerous power into the hands of concentrated wealth, we had to do many things that savored of hostility to capital, at least to the capital that was engaged in those things that it was thought necessary to enact statutes to condemn. I am no defender of those evils. On the contrary,

I have been as strongly in favor of their suppression by statutes made effective as anyone. I think we have arrived at a time when the people themselves ought to acquire sufficient perception into the operation of economic forces to realize that a sectional prejudice against legislation against the interests of one part of the country will as certainly rebound to the detriment of another as night will follow day. We are in the same boat.

We are tossed by the same waves. Why, then, should we allow the political fortunes of any man or set of men to mislead us into a hostility toward parts of the country which is certain to work injury to all? It is not a progressive policy in any true sense to be hostile to prosperity of any part of the country. It is not progressive to be against a railway corporation because it is a railway corporation. It is progressive to take measures by statutes which shall regulate railways and prevent their recurring to evils of which they have been guilty in the past; but, assuming them to be engaged in lawful business, it is of the highest interest that we should secure to them reasonable rates, so that their shareholders may have a profit, and that we should not enact legislation in a spirit of hostility and think that merely because we see a railway corporation and injured it we have done something for the public good. Any other view is lacking in reality, and it is that spirit of unreasoning and unprincipled antagonism which political exigency seems to develop and against which the complaints of business men may with propriety and good reason be directed.

The misfortune of the situation I perfectly realize. It is one of the inevitable consequences of a deep-rooted evil. You can not eradicate it by popular movement without the movement becoming so very strong as to be carried for the time beyond the median line of common sense and into the extremities of unreasonableness.

We have reached a point where we can call a halt, not in the progressive movement to keep business free from these abuses, but where we can call a halt against appeals to a spirit of pure hostility to prosperity on the theory that no one can be prosperous without being dishonest or a violator of law in securing the profits of his business.

Must Have Investments.
We must have investments from which to secure a large wage fund, which is needed to support the wage earners. We must inspire in the business men who control those investments the confidence that they will not be driven out of business if railroads are unjustly legislated against.

Let us legislate to the point where they can not do a profitable business, the injury is more direct to the wage earners who support the wage fund and his family.

Let us legislate together. Let us be charitable and kind. Let us not be so suspicious and ascribe corrupt motives to every one in the community but our particular friends and political enemies. Let us have legislation that helps, or an absence of legislation if it be unnecessary. And let us approve and praise the great business men who support the wage fund and by proper methods accumulate property and put it into productive industries, supports the thousands of workmen, and furnishes profit to those who have savings have gone into the shares and bonds of the enterprise.

This is the hope I have for the future. Business is halting now. There is doubt and distrust among investors. The object of the suits, it is understood, is to name that in restraint of the districts in which the October.

Chicago, Sept. 29. — Judge Peter S. Grosscup has issued a statement in which he says that he will send his resignation as presiding judge of the United States court of appeals in this district to President Taft the first week in October. The judge said that his determination to carry out his previously announced plan to retire had been fixed by the failure of his enemies to make a threatened attack upon his record.

"I announced the withdrawing of my resignation," said Judge Grosscup, "so that I might meet any attacks directly and in the same official capacity in which my enemies charged I have committed the alleged wrongful acts. Now I have given them plenty of time in which to bring charges and they have not done so. I believe the rumored charges have been disproved."

DUMAS CASE HAS NOT HURT BEMIDJI.
Sheriff A. R. Hazen of Beltrami county, who has been prominently identified with the events surrounding the Dumas arson case, was in the city yesterday.

He spoke of the difficulty of securing jurors. He said that so much has been printed by the newspapers and the public discussion has been so widespread, that it has been hard to find men who have not formed an opinion or who have not expressed one. Three men are yet to be secured for the jury, which is expected to report today.

He asserts that the Dumas affair has not injured Bemidji or other Northern Minnesota towns, explaining that the general public realizes that they are not governed or run by the lawless element.

NEW ORGANIZER FOR AMERICAN FEDERATION.
John Chubbuck, who was in the city for some time a few weeks ago as organizer for the State Federation of Labor, has been appointed an organizer for the American Federation of Labor.

This will be pleasing to the many friends of Mr. Chubbuck in Duluth who know of the good work he has done in the organizing line in the past.

Mr. Chubbuck spent some time in Duluth a month or so ago and while here he made many friends by his untiring efforts to build up all the local organizations in the city. Inspired by his enthusiasm many of the unions added many names to their rolls. At present Mr. Chubbuck is at International Falls where he has organized ten unions and a Trades Association.

Mr. Chubbuck has accepted the nomination offered him by the national body and will probably be in Duluth within a few days. It is thought that he will do the first work for the American Federation in Duluth.

New York Apples Plentiful
at Present and Quality
Is Fine.

Cost of Butter, Eggs and Cheese Will Soon Be on the Up-Grade.

There may come a time when the best apples that come to Duluth will be Western apples, but at present it is doubtful whether there are any apples coming into the Duluth market that are more highly prized than those which are grown in that long-famous apple state, New York.

Western apples are rather scarce just now, as the Western crop was short this year, being considerably below the quantity produced last year. This has made the New York apples a little higher-priced than they would be, if the Western crop had been up to the average. But the New York apples are plentiful, and according to local wholesale grocers, they are the finest now on the market both for eating and cooking.

At the same time, according to the Anaconda Standard, the fruit raisers in the Hitter Root valley, have the authority of a New York apple expert for the statement that the apples, and the cherries as well, that are raised in the Hitter Root valley are ahead of any Eastern apples and cherries, or any apples and cherries grown anywhere on the face of the earth. This expert is J. L. Steinhart, a New York man who was recently buying fruit in the West for the New York house he represented. He brought a carload of Hitter Root apples, declaring that they were the finest apples he ever saw, and also remarked that that would be the first shipment of Hitter Root apples that ever entered New York.

Another Western fruit that is scarce on the Duluth market is the pear. California, Utah and Oregon pears are all scarce and high. Those states did not produce the pear crops this year that they did last year. These are eating the cooking pears come from Michigan. There are plenty of them. The peach season is drawing to a close. There is no longer much demand for peaches. People seem to be growing tired of them.

Pineapples are cheaper, because there is no particular demand for them. This is no pineapple season.

Lemons are likely to go higher very soon. The supply at present is not equal to the demand.

Ripe tomatoes will soon be gone. Housewives who intend to put any up or to use any to make catsup should get their tomatoes within the next few days. The first heavy frost will cut off the supply for the season.

Potatoes are very cheap, indeed, compared with what they have been. The recent wet weather, however, may have the effect of stiffening up the price for a short time by hindering the farmers in their digging and marketing.

Holland seed cabbages are plentiful and selling at a reasonable price. This is the finest variety of cabbage obtainable.

Butter, eggs and cheese are all expected to go higher. The price of butter is getting scarce, because the season is getting late. For the same reason, the cream is becoming scarce, and butter will undoubtedly be higher. The market for many speculators at present is very tight. New York and elsewhere are already putting butter and cheese into cold storage at higher prices.

Pork joints have been cheapening. This is because the price of hogs has been going down. The market price at South St. Paul is now about $8.25 a hundredweight, compared with $7.25 late last month. Compared with a year ago there is nearly $3 a hundredweight difference, as hogs were selling late in September last year, slightly above $9.

The declines at South St. Paul have been due in the future to the slaughter at Chicago, Kansas City and other large markets.

The young man who lives with Mr. Fleisch at 414 Nicholson place, will start the journey by canoe to St. Louis from Mantrap lake, near Dorset, Minn., in order to attend a wedding here.

Morse, 21 years old, employed in the weighing department of the Merchants and Minn. & St. P. Ry. Co., will be accompanied by Mr. Mahor, an experienced woodsman of the North and a bosom companion.

CRIME TO INCLUDE WEEDS IN FOOD FOR ANIMALS.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 29.—"One effect of the crop shortage in Pennsylvania this year," said George G. Hutchins, food inspection department, "will be that the stockmen, cattle breeders and all others, who buy feed for their stock will have to pay more than ever before for the reason that the cattle food crop is far below what it has been for years. I venture to say that in the next year the cost of cattle feed brought into

CATHEDRAL HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS FORM LITERARY AND DRAMATIC CLUB

Now that the new Cathedral high school has been thoroughly organized in every department of work, the Christian Brothers have set themselves to the task of introducing many new elements.

Already much attention has been paid to the study of elocution and oratory and to dramatic training with the most flattering results. Equal care has been exercised in the study of music and an excellent orchestra and glee club have resulted therefrom.

With a view of cultivating a love for literary excellence and to offer the student opportunity for the public exercise of elocution, oratory and music, a literary and dramatic club has been organized among the senior and junior students. The society meets every Wednesday evening when each member responds to work assigned him the week previous. The society has been organized strictly along parliamentary lines and the members besides participating in the cultural advantages, are initiated to the "rituals" of parliamentary law, a very essential part of knowledge at this age when societies are so numerous and varied.

The society has been named the La Salle Literary and Dramatic Society, in honor of the renowned educator and patron of study. The following officers have been elected for this term: Vice president, John H. Hooke; James Patti, secretary; Thomas Patterson, treasurer; H. Summers, sergeant-at-arms.

The young men of the Cathedral high school have entered upon their second year in their splendid and beautiful new school on Second avenue west, with the brightest prospects for a most successful year.

A number of students attending is much larger than could be expected at this time of the year. The existence of the classes are not so large as to make it impossible for the school to take a large and earnest interest in the intellectual advancement and character building of each pupil under his direction.

this state will approximate $35,000,000.

"The scarcity of feedstuffs has caused some of the dealers in goods so that they have been violating the law. This is especially the case with those who sell prepared feed for poultry. The law forbids feed made of more than 5 per cent millet in poultry feed is dangerous to the fowls."

SIX ORIENTALS AT MISSOURI U.
One Studying Journalism and Four Are Studying Agriculture.

Columbia, Mo., Sept. 29.—Six Chinese students have entered the University of Missouri this year. One is studying journalism, and four are studying agriculture and one is enrolled in the college of arts and science. This is a larger number than has ever attended the university at one time before. For the first time in several years there are no Japanese.

Hin Wong, who is in journalism, will get his degree this year. He spent last year at Columbia university and while in New York contributed regularly to New York papers and magazines articles about the Chinese in that city. His father is a tea merchant. He is editor of the student Chinese paper published by all the Chinese students in this country.

Saulin Ho, another Oriental, is from St. John's college, Shanghai. His father is a graduate of Berlin university and is now superintendent of government arsenals at Ha-Yang. He has 8,000 men working under him. He is a mandarin and has been offered a government scholarship in China but says that he wants to be a farmer instead of an official, hence he came here to study agriculture.

Another Chinese student is Shau Toonk Chang. Although his father has a large business in Honolulu that he might enter, he says that he wants to be a farmer. He is a good tennis player and was champion of St. John's college.

Five of the six students say that they are Christians. Two are members of the Presbyterian church and one is a Baptist.

TWO LITTLE CURS
Are Responsible for Youth's Suit for $10,000 Damages.

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 29.—Two little dogs, valued at not more than 50 cents each, were the cause of a $10,000 damage suit filed by Irvin E. Ellis, by his next friend, William Ellis, against Ben Roberts. They are farmers of York township, and Irvin Ellis is 12 years old.

The charges are that when passing the home of Roberts the latter's dog attacked his canine. When trying to separate them he shoved the dog's shot, but instead of hitting the dog's shot, "crack" hit the dog's head.

LOST TEETH, BUT WON BET.
Also Rude Wave Upset Social Favorite Wading on Wager.

Venice, Cal., Sept. 29.—Mrs. Grace Harris is a large woman, attractive of face and figure, and one of Omaha's social favorites. She made a bet she would go wading above her knees in the Pacific.

Seating herself confidently on the sand she waded an extended millinery creation and striped off silk casings and pumps, regardless of the crowd. Then she lifted her exquisitely tailored black gown, marked to the preceding breaker, and gingerly placed a pink toe into the water.

Her right foot followed, then the left and the brine added about her ankles. She looked over her shoulder at the three companions on the beach. They were doubled up on the sand laughing. She waded in until she was topped over by big waves and higher prices.

She won the bet, though.

HE HAS HAD CHILDREN IN SCHOOL SINCE 1871.

Pottsville, Pa., Sept. 29.—John P. Fred, of Ringling Hill, a rugged peach-grower and farmer, who fought in the civil war as an ensign, and who is now a member of the Ringling Hill board of directors, has the unusual record of having children attending the public schools continuously every year since 1871. Four of them are in school this year, and as two are only 11 and 16 years old, respectively, Mr. Fred's unique record of always having children in school will run up to near the half-century mark. He has twice married twice and the father of eleven children, and is not yet ready to say that his family is complete.

Mr. Fred was the first man to turn the rocky barren lands around Ringling Hill into peach orchards, and now is the season for the most prolific Montgomery county in its fields of this fruit.

RUSSELL WILL CASE TO SUPREME COURT.

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 29.—All the time and money of the state of Massachusetts, N. D., claimant for one-half of the estate of Daniel Russell of Dickinson, N. D., were dismissed yesterday, and the controversy involving the identity of the Dickinson man, which occupied the probate court for six months, was sent to the supreme court on exceptions.

The probate court proceedings yesterday consisted of various motions by State Senator L. A. Simpson, North Dakota, representing the Dickinson claimant, all of which were overruled by the court. The court then had the appeal from the probate court tried before a jury will be the next step in the family case.

The North Dakota claimant calls himself Daniel Blake Russell, a son of the testator, although last spring a resident of Fresno, Cal., was recognized as the missing heir.

The Russell estate was worth about $60,000 before the expensive litigation was begun and was left to the two sons, William C. and Daniel Blake. Daniel Blake left home many years ago for the West and was not heard of for a long time. The defense maintains that the Dickinson man is in reality one Rousseau of Medina, N. Y., although "Dakota Dan's" attorney says Rousseau is dead.

WOULD STAY IN JAIL.
Convict So Fond of Prison He Objects to Liberation.

Houston, Tex., Sept. 29.—There is one convict in the Texas penitentiary who likes the prison life so well that he doesn't want to leave it. Recently when the board of pardon advisers met in regular session a communication was read from a convict for whom efforts were being made to secure a pardon. The convict asked that efforts to secure his freedom be ignored.

It is believed the governor and board will act favorably on the man's request. The convict declared he knew it was the daughter of an uncle who was seeking his freedom, but he says he doesn't care to see her.

He says he is well pleased with life in prison, that he gets all he wants to eat and gets a chance to go to church.

WOMEN RIDING THIS ROAD MUST BRING OWN TOWELS.

Houston, Tex., Sept. 29.—Because of an enormous loss in towels by the Southern Pacific last year, women who ride on the trains and boats of this line are now being compelled to furnish their own linen, says an edict recently promulgated by the headquarters of the central division of the Southern Pacific.

The losses of the road in toweling alone for the year total $21,000. The shortage is reported as being due to the fact that the company's trains and boats, in one instance, a transcontinental run, a loss of 100 towels was reported.

On the other hand, the towel shortage is not so serious as it seems. It is a very pleasant to take.

Junk Dealer Who Lived in Hut Buried Fortune.
Seattle, Wash., Sept. 28.—James Costello lived in a hut and died in the county hospital. William H. Curry was appointed by the superior court to conserve his estate, estimated worth between $50,000 and $50,000. It is said to consist of a hoard of $20,000 in gold pieces buried near the north end of the Great Northern tunnel under the city. Costello was 92 years old and came here before the fire. In all the years since he has done a thriving trade as a junk dealer. He always had plenty of money on his person. Edward Nelson, a neighbor, who came as near as any one to being in the old man's confidence, is authorized by the statement that the estate will not fall below $50,000. Deputy sheriffs are guarding the hut and searching for the buried treasure. The place has often been broken into by persons intent upon theft.

WOULD STAY IN JAIL.
Convict So Fond of Prison He Objects to Liberation.

Houston, Tex., Sept. 29.—There is one convict in the Texas penitentiary who likes the prison life so well that he doesn't want to leave it. Recently when the board of pardon advisers met in regular session a communication was read from a convict for whom efforts were being made to secure a pardon. The convict asked that efforts to secure his freedom be ignored.

It is believed the governor and board will act favorably on the man's request. The convict declared he knew it was the daughter of an uncle who was seeking his freedom, but he says he doesn't care to see her.

He says he is well pleased with life in prison, that he gets all he wants to eat and gets a chance to go to church.

WOMEN RIDING THIS ROAD MUST BRING OWN TOWELS.

Houston, Tex., Sept. 29.—Because of an enormous loss in towels by the Southern Pacific last year, women who ride on the trains and boats of this line are now being compelled to furnish their own linen, says an edict recently promulgated by the headquarters of the central division of the Southern Pacific.

The losses of the road in toweling alone for the year total $21,000. The shortage is reported as being due to the fact that the company's trains and boats, in one instance, a transcontinental run, a loss of 100 towels was reported.

On the other hand, the towel shortage is not so serious as it seems. It is a very pleasant to take.

HOW JOAQUIN MILLER "HIRED OUT" AS COOK.

Port Jones, Cal., Sept. 29.—How Joaquin Miller, the West's famous poet, made his entrance into Siskiyou county many years ago is related by J. M. Basset in his booklet entitled "Early Days in Siskiyou," now attracting interested comment.

"While I was prospecting my claim," writes Basset, "I lived in the same cabin with a man named Hearst. One day a boyish looking individual came down the trail riding one horse and leading another. The young man had a long barreled rifle across his saddle bow. He rode slowly down to the cabin, hitched his horse and came in. We were at dinner, and upon invitation he also ate.

"After the meal he inquired if any one there wanted a man. Hearst answered that he needed a cook. The young man said he wasn't much in that line, but that he could make coffee and bread and bake beans. He was engaged to act as cook and wait until the claim was opened.

"The new cook was Joaquin Miller. He dropped easily into the duties of chief cook and bottle washer of that cabin for weeks, but Hearst refused to pay him. Miller's ire arose, and the young man, who had been so polite, pocketed a part of the money and a row ensued that ended with the poet packing his effects and leaving, his gun by his side.

UNLOAD ON UNCLE SAM

Owners of Run-Down Summer Resorts Would Recoup Themselves.

One Place on the Market Is Natural Bridge in Virginia.

Washington, Sept. 29.—If Uncle Sam wanted to go into the summer resort business, now would be his golden opportunity. He has scores of chances to acquire for a song hotel and resort property of great scenic beauty, though possibly of little commercial value, according to the agents booming them. Whether Uncle Sam will "bite" will depend upon the national forestry commission.

The efforts to sell are being made under the Weeks' forestry law, otherwise known as the Appalachian forest reserve act. Last spring, when advertisements were issued for land to be purchased with the $11,000,000 appropriated by that law, the rush began. It was continued since then until nearly every owner of a "busted" down-at-the-heels summer resort in the mountain sections of the southeastern states and New England has tried to unload upon the government. The offers are still coming in.

Already over 2,000,000 acres have been offered for sale to the government. All of this is not summer resort property, but a considerable proportion of it is. The resort property is now offered for the buildings on it, but for the beautiful parks about them, which are always heavily timbered and suitable for forestry purposes, according to the promoters. If all the land offered were to be bought it would probably cost Uncle Sam $100,000,000 instead of $11,000,000.

One of the leading summer resort "forest reservations" which the government has been asked to buy is the Natural Bridge in Virginia, for which something like a quarter of a million is wanted. Accompanying the offer was a beautiful painting of the bridge, which was great for scenic beauty but did not seem to be much for timber. No charge was made for the picture. It was explained. The promoter of this property did not admit the picture. As a resort it is a failure. Ergo, why should not a paternal government go to the rescue of the owners? That is a question for the forestry commission to answer.

A large number of other resort and hotel properties in the White Mountains and the much advertised "Land of the Sky" or "Sapphire Country" of Carolina are being offered to the government at ridiculous prices—whether ridiculously high or ridiculously low. The forestry commission to say. Officials of the forest service have mapped out certain areas within which it is thought desirable to buy land for the protection of forests and the conservation of stream flow. Some of these areas include summer resorts, but that does not mean that the forest service wants those resorts purchased.

Another Rush Expected.

Recently, under pressure from the Maine and New Hampshire senators, the foresters extended these areas in New England by 50,000 acres. Of this 26,100 acres are in Maine, in the heart of the summer resort region, and 24,000 acres in New Hampshire, near Berlin, where the largest paper mill in the world is located. This extension of area includes a large part of the watershed of the Androscoggin river, which is said to need protection. Another rush of the summer resort people is expected.

Forests have been cut and burned badly in their vicinity and it detracts from the scenic outlook of their properties. Certain big White mountain peaks, which the government to buy whole mountains so that the trees thereon will be preserved for the benefit of their guests, and it is believed that Uncle Sam will acquire most of the Presidential range in the White mountains. Lands are being pressed upon the government for $50 to $100 an acre, but few if any of these will be bought.

The purchases which the forestry commission will authorize will probably be cut-over and waste lands and acre, but few if any of these will be bought. The commission may meet here next month.

BRYAN FINDS BIG PROFIT IN ONIONS

Has Done So Well He Will Erect $25,000 Residence.

Mission, Tex., Sept. 29.—W. J. Bryan, who owns a farm of 200 acres in the valley of the lower Rio Grande near Mission, made such a success this year of raising Bermuda onions and other products that he has turned his handsome new country residence over to his superintendent and family and has had plans prepared for another magnificent new home for himself, which he will erect this fall at a cost of $25,000.

When the present farm residence was finished by Col. Bryan a few months ago it was considered one of the handsomest in this section, but the profitable returns that he received from his vegetable crops were so great in excess of what he had anticipated that he has decided that a more luxurious residence is needed to typify the productiveness of the farm. It will be one of the finest country homes in Texas. The site is upon a knoll near the center of the farm and commands a view of a beautiful section of valley land.

William K. Vanderbilt owns a farm near that of Col. Bryan, and expects to build a residence thereon this fall. B. F. Zakaria of New York, chairman of the board and executive committee of the Frisco railroad, is likewise a farm owner in the Mission community and he will build a large residence within a few months. Ben M. Winchell, president of the Frisco, who owns a farm near that of Col. Bryan, also has planned to erect a winter residence. Col. Bryan will greatly increase the Bermuda onion acreage upon his farm, and it will be made one of the principal crops next season. The profits derived by the onion growers of the Mission section this year average more than $200 an acre. The planting of the seed in field beds will be done in October and not later than the latter part of November and early December the young onions are transplanted into the soil for permanent growth. The harvesting season opens the latter part of April and continues during May.

Mexican laborers at 50 to 75 cents per day are employed upon the farms. On the Mexican side the average daily wage for farm and ranch laborers is only 35 to 50 cents, Mexican, per day.

FLOODED WITH FREAK LETTERS

Many Regard Postoffice Department as Lost and Found Bureau.

Washington, Sept. 29.—In addition to the regular and legitimate business of the postoffice department there has developed within the past few years a flood of extraordinary and extraneous correspondence, addressed to the postmaster general, which bids fair to be a near future to necessitate the establishment of a regular division of the department whose sole business it shall be to handle "freak correspondence."

A vast majority of the letters seek to make use of the department as a lost and found bureau for missing relatives, as in the following, received from a few of the "freaks":

"Information Bureau, Washington, D. C.

"Respected Sir: I am writing you in regard to my adopted father, Daniel D. Gibbs. The last I heard from him was about ten years ago, when he was a little over 70 years of age. He is dead or alive, and if the former, would like to know of his whereabouts. I am, truly yours,

"HARRY S. GIBBS.

"Littleton, Colo."

The department will consider a favorable reply. Whether or not the demise of the adopted relative will be considered by him.

He leaves to the imagination or the ingenuity of the departmental sleuths. The department is not in a position to make searches for missing relatives.

At the same time similar requests for information in the past have, through the publicity won for seekers long lost kinsfolk. Last October a woman in Michigan, whose husband had been missing for more than twenty years, through the medium of the postoffice department, was in a destitute circumstance and her husband was a prosperous business man of Detroit.

Consent and conversation is productive of many letters. Some of the correspondence is of a nature which the department is not in a position to handle. It is hardly pay for the incidental bookkeeping. Here is an instance:

"Dear Sir: I have enclosed a 2-cent stamp and one 1-cent stamp. Please send me a letter. I was a child I used those stamps that came on a letter because they were not cancelled, and I did not know that it was wrong until I read in God's word.

A letter from New York state enclosed 5 cents as restitution for a like penalty.

The following was recently received by the postmaster general from J. O. Stewart of Slocum, Tex.:

"Dear Sir: I will rite you a few lines asking you if you have an insterment that would go to hiddin treasures—gold and silver. If you handle anything like that let me know by return mail. I kno lots of hiddin treasures and can't locate them without a insterment, and what kind of a trial good you let me have one on."

Indignant that the Chicago postoffice should have been unable to forward a letter for him, T. E. Pierson of Highland Park, Ill., writes to the postmaster general direct:

"Dear Sir: You will see by the inclosed envelope that the Chicago postoffice can't find Grand Tower, Ill. Will you please let them know that we have it in this state and oblige."

She Gives Mechanic Orders in Railway Shops.

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 29.—Georgia M. Martin, a native daughter of Minnnesota, who began her railroad career at Missoula, Mont., four and one-half years ago, claims the distinction of being the only woman on the continent occupying the position of chief clerk in the office of a master mechanic of a transcontinental system.

Miss Martin, who is hardly out of her teens, is connected in the capacity with the office of Thomas J. Cutler, master mechanic of the Northern Pacific Railway company in Spokane. She has full charge when Cutler is on the road. Officials of the Spokane office are proud of her work, saying it equals that of the most efficient work on the road.

Miss Martin fully understands the mechanism of the several locomotives, and as one of the mechanics at the shops said, "she can give directions to put a big mogul together in a week. She'll be boss of the job one of these fine days."

45-CENT REFUND COST $20.

Clergyman Travels Many Miles to Get Claim Adjusted.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 29.—Declaring that he was unable to obtain redress by ordinary complaint, the Rev. H. B. Currie, a clergyman, living at Alberni, on the west coast of Vancouver Island, came all the way to Vancouver yesterday to appeal to the federal railway commission for a refund of 45 cents.

He had been charged $1.90 for freight on a barrel of carbide from Vancouver to Alberni and insisted that he should have rightfully paid only $1.45. After an hour's argument the commission sustained him and ordered the refund.

Currie then applied for $20 traveling expenses from Alberni to this city, but the commission could find no authority to award this.

WOMAN, AGED 112 YEARS, DIES ALONE IN A SHANTY.

Pittsfield, Mass., Sept. 29.—Mrs. Mary McCarthy of West Stockbridge died a few days ago in a shanty at the ore beds at the age of 112 years. She had lived in West Stockbridge for sixty years. No one knew her exact age, but three years ago she said she was 109 years old and that she was lonesome and waiting for the end.

She was a town charge and was allowed to live alone because the town has no almshouse and boards out its poor. At intervals the town authorities visited the old woman and sent her grocer with provisions. She had hens. In summer she cultivated potatoes and cabbage and stored them for winter. In bullhead season she fished. Other times she sat on the stone step of her shanty and watched passers-by. During her last days she lived mostly on bread and tea. She was a cat.

A Legacy of Ill Health

How Invalids Are Made by the After-Effects of Malaria, the Grip and Other Acute Diseases.

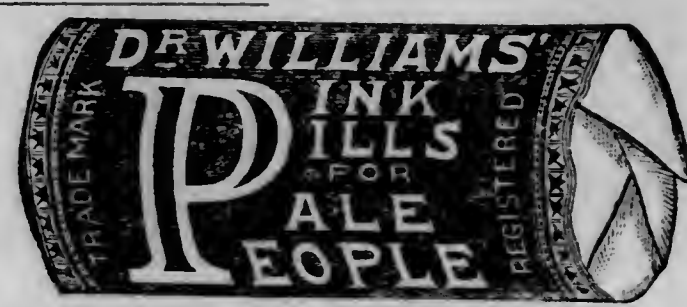

After an attack of fever, the grip, or other acute disease the patient is frequently left in a condition that may mean a lifetime of misery if proper precautions are not taken to restore the blood and drive out the lingering poisons that cause the so-called "after-effects" of these diseases.

Malaria, typhoid, scarlet fever, measles, rheumatic fever, the grip or influenza, and, in some cases, severe colds, leave weakened vital powers, thin blood, impaired digestion and over-sensitive nerves—a condition that makes the system an easy prey to pneumonia, bronchitis, nervous prostration, and even consumption. Too much stress cannot be laid on the importance of strengthening the blood and nerves during convalescence.

Mrs. J. M. Symonds, of No. 210 South Twenty-first street, St. Louis, Mo., says: "About three years ago I was very ill with an attack of malaria. It left me in a very weak condition and the after-effects were as bad as the disease itself. I was generally run down, had no strength and was very thin. I had but little appetite and nothing seemed to agree with me but everything I ate caused me distress. My heart was weak and at times I thought it was going to stop beating. I also had an attack of rheumatism. The pains were sharp and were all over me. I was confined to bed for a month at one time. I became discouraged with the treatment I was receiving from the doctor and quit taking his medicine. Through a friend I learned of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and began using them right away. They were the first thing that helped and I improved until cured. I feel healthier today than in years and I owe my recovery to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills alone."

The above statement should convince anybody who has failed to regain health and strength after an acute disease that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People deserve a trial.

A valuable booklet, "Diseases of the Blood," containing helpful information will be sent upon request. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes, $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

She died alone, as she had been afraid she would, and there was no one to send for a priest, which was her one haunting fear.

HIT HUBBY WITH A GOOSE.

Mr. Skinner Regards That as Ground for Divorce.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 29.—To what extent the action of a wife in grabbing a cooked goose from the dinner table in the presence of guests and hurling it at the head of her husband in provocation for divorce will be considered by the circuit court here in the suit brought by Mrs. D. Skinner against William K. Skinner of this city.

The charge that Mrs. Skinner had been guilty of such indecorous behavior was contained in the deposition of Robert Mulrhead of Dayton, Ohio, filed in the court.

Mulrhead asserted he was a guest at a Christmas dinner given by the Skinner, and that Mrs. Skinner seized the steaming fowl and slammed her shoulder with it.

"Had you all been drinking?" Mulrhead was asked.

"We were pretty well heated up," was the answer.

Skinner is wealthy.

FIGHT OVER BLOND MAN.

Allentown, Pa., Sept. 29.—A problem that would have puzzled Solomon confronted Alderman Bower when he was called upon to decide the merits of a fight between Maggie Sanders and Mary Lask over the affections of a good looking blond drummer. Maggie started the battle by hurling some French fried potatoes inside of Mary's loose shirt waist and Mary responded by crowing a plate that left a black and blue mark on Maggie's ribs.

During the course of the hearing the drummer had left town and the girls decided it was wise to settle the case.

He was 80 years old. He was one of the pioneers of Ramsey county, moving to St. Paul from his home in Newfield, Me., in 1852. Mr. Staples married Catherine McDonough of Boston in 1854. Four children were born to them: C. F. Staples, G. H. Staples, who now lives on the old homestead; E. D. Staples, connected with the dairy farming company in St. Paul, and Mrs. Clara N. Albertson of Denver. The funeral will be held Monday afternoon.

HOTEL WITH ENDOWMENT

President of Hotel Men's Association Criticizes the Y. M. C. A.

Says It Is Not Doing Work for Which It Is Intended.

Speaking as president of the Duluth Hotel Men's association, and claiming that he voices the sentiments of every member of that association, which includes all the principal hotels of Duluth, E. H. Lee of the Spaulding hotel, claims that the Y. M. C. A. of Duluth is nothing more than an endowed hotel, catering to the needs of the average means, and that it is working in competition with every hotel keeper and boarding house keeper in Duluth, aided by an endowment of some $200,000 raised by public subscription.

Mr. Lee's statement was called forth by the recent alterations in the Y. M. C. A. building, by which certain rooms formerly occupied by Bible classes and night school classes, and for religious work, are being turned into dormitories. It can no longer be denied," said Mr. Lee, "that the Y. M. C. A. is nothing more than a hotel, supported in part by charitable donations, and that every man who is living there is getting a reduction in the price of his room because of the fund raised by the people of Duluth."

"Now I don't want to be understood for a moment as criticizing the Y. M. C. A. I haven't a word to say against that institution. In fact, I have nothing but praise for it and for the manner in which it is conducted. They give a decent, respectable home to girls working for small wages, who might not be able to afford a home in a respectable location, with even moderate comforts. When they feel that a young woman is able to pay for a room in some other part of the city, and live comfortably, they ask her to leave and give her place to some girl who isn't. They do a lot of charity work and I haven't a word of praise for them. But the Y. M. C. A. is different. It would like to see published a list of the men living there, and their occupations. I will guarantee that you will find most of them are doctors, lawyers, young business men and men who would not be able to find a room in any downtown hotel. I know of one man who went there when the building was new, and he was worth at least $20,000, if he was worth a cent. If you are going to have a charitable institution, let it give charity to men who need it."

"The Y. M. C. A. could do all the religious work it does in one room 30 by 40 in any downtown hotel. I don't know much about it, but I don't believe many of their night school pupils live in the building. They have rounded up all the young, unmarried men who are earning good salaries and have provided a 125 club house for them. That's all right if it is run as a hotel and not as a charitable institution. Let them rent it out to some hotel and let him run it as a money making institution, or else let them run it as a Y. M. C. A. and let it cater to young men who cannot afford to pay for a room in a respectable hotel. How many young men are there in the building who cannot afford to have a comfortable room elsewhere? Mighty few."

"One result has been that it is almost impossible for people renting houses any place from the point of view to Seventeenth avenue east to sublet rooms. Many people rent a house and sublet a room, or two to some young man. Few of them have been able to find a room since the Y. M. C. A. opened."

"Supposing the Y. M. C. A. put in a clothing store and competed with Duluth merchants, having the big advantage over the merchants of having no rent to pay. That would be just as fair as what they are doing now."

W. A. McLean, who has been in the city since the late 1800s, held said that his sentiments were expressed by Mr. Lee.

RICHER BY $9,728,948

State's Personal Property Valuation Amounts to $204,081,009.

Hennepin County Leads; Then Ramsey and St. Louis Third.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The total valuation of personal property in the state of Minnesota, exclusive of money and credits, as equalized by the state tax commission, is $9,728,948 more in 1911 than it was in 1910. This is exclusive of South St. Paul, which is now being reassessed. The total last year was $195,051,061, and this year it is $204,081,009.

Hennepin county's assessment is the largest, and increased more than any other county. Its assessment in 1910 amounted to $49,364,463, and in 1911 to $52,055,634. Ramsey county is second, its 1910 assessment amounting to $29,175,256, and in 1911 to $30,614,667. St. Louis county is third, its 1910 figures being $13,743,911, and its 1911 figures $17,254,556.

"MASHERS" ORDINANCE

Amendment Will Probably Be Passed, Giving Police Greater Power.

Following the complaint of Chief Troyer that the police have insufficient power under the present city ordinances to squelch the "mashers" it is probable that an amendment to the present ordinance will be introduced at the council meeting Monday night. As the ordinance now stands, the police cannot make arrests for obstructing the sidewalk unless over half of it is blocked. The "mashers" do not take up half the sidewalk, but generally strike along the store fronts on the downtown streets, from which vantage they glare passing girls and women and make annoying remarks. Quite frequently their language is insulting in the extreme.

By striking out the passage relative to the amount of sidewalk space which can be blocked, the ordinance will become effective. It will be practically identical with the ordinance now in force in St. Paul, which was drawn to meet the conditions similar to those now existing in this city. If the "mashers" do not keep moving they will be arrested. The amendment will be easy to secure convictions. The police are familiar with the majority of these obnoxious offenders and they state that it will be a pleasure to arrest them once they are able to act effectively under an ordinance which will enable them to get action.

Time Has Inverted the Hour Glass of Fashion.

In 1841—hats were small—skirts were balloon like—they'd never have gone through a street car gate. In 1911—skirts are skimpy—and hats generally are aeroplane like, though some are of modest proportions in helmet-like effects.

But you wouldn't have the styles of 1841—and you don't want the styles of 1910, so we've gathered the best of those for fall 1911.

And our prices are as attractive as our styles. The combination gets the business from discriminating folks who give us a chance to show!

BELIEVES IN MODERNITY

Thomas A. Edison Says the Germans Are a Pushing People.

Great Inventor Prefers Modern Art to the Old Masters.

New York, Sept. 29.—A special to the World from Berlin says: Thomas A. Edison has arrived here from Pilsen, Saxony, having passed through Germany's most thriving manufacturing district, full of vivid interest to the great inventor.

"These are my patron saints," said he, pointing to the innumerable smokestacks looming around smoke-stained Chemnitz.

The remark referred to the fact that he sees no longer the way-side shrines and crosses of Austria; they offend his utilitarian modernness as representing an antiquated condition of the inhabitants who, Edison says, should be building schools instead of clinging to medieval superstitions.

"I notice that as the chimneys get higher the church steeples get lower," he said quaintly. "The Germans are a thinking people, and the more you think the more you push. Don't tell me that the Germans are not a pushing people. Look at all that. It's one great beehive of progress in the finest direction."

He was passing the most gigantic iron foundry in the empire, Edisaw radiated with the response to all that to him means temporary life; he seemed to have one of his great visions of a future made of a mechanical godhead smashing anæmic ideals right and left.

"I have seen that man is always real, and only from man does he get a sincere 'revelation,' as he calls an impression. Edison has the courage of his convictions, however, much they clash with Haeckel's praises. At Prague, where he paused a while, the celebrated latter-guide found him uninterested except where modern humanity was exalted by contrast with medieval cruelty as exemplified by the treatment of political prisoners in the 'Hungary Tower.'"

Even the fact that his own electric light, discovered and patented by him, shined in the church, failed to appease his distaste for old-time militant religion.

Why, my guide tells me that 5,000 persons were massacred here for some religious difference—matter of twinededism and twinededism. I cannot understand such nonsense. After all, we are just beginning to get a move on us," was Edison's comment. "It has taken ages to reach common sense. Why, we have gone further in fifty years than the people behind us in 500 years."

Yet Edison can pay the tribute of genius to genius as was shown at Bayreuth, where he viewed Richard Wagner's grave.

"There was a man with plenty of brain cross fibres," was his characteristic remark as he contemplated the nameless granite slab near the villa. He defined, he passed, he passed the whole morning at my laboratory. He was a man of such sensibilities that he faints when he struck a false note and had to have water poured on his head to revive him."

And Edison's laugh had a tolerance of a kind of genius he does not understand.

Germans have the planning brain. In Dresden, Mr. Edison made an exhaustive tour of the interesting hygienic exhibition. He studied the exhibits eloquent of German scientific thoroughness. He exclaimed: "Such system! They have the planning brain. I have often wondered at the German workmen in my employ with great fingers like sausages. Yet able to do the finest manual work with them."

Mr. Edison passed two hours in viewing one section of the exhibit of national hygienic work. He was particularly absorbed in the Zeiss exposition of microscopes, and after seeing the latest improvements in the instruments, ordered several for his laboratory without questioning their high price.

"This is the way to see into nature as far as we can," he remarked as, after scribbling a check, he passed on. "Well, did the grand solution of things some day."

Prefers Modern Art.

From the exhibition Mr. Edison went to the art gallery, where, without enthusiasm, he viewed the masterpieces; his scientific training found proportions in the drawing in the famous painting.

"I can see the beauty in this old-time art," was his candid remark. "I come here because my family wishes to come, but to me only modern art is interesting. There you get a feeling that means something today; not saints, no forgotten tortures, but people suffering contemporary problems. Give me Gerome, for instance, there I get a responsive chord. I think Raphael got his fame because of the awfully fine pictures that preceded him. What I like in pictures is the fine stereoscopic vividness that tells you something. Talk about educating the people on old masters—to me where their education comes in is giving them something that keeps pace with their senses today. I admire modern art; I think it keeps pace with modern thinking."

Mr. Edison left the gallery dissatisfied with the examples of modern art shown there.

"The art of today, like everything else, is all right, but prejudice does not give it a chance," said he by way of final comment after viewing the priceless treasures. "I'm modern, hopelessly modern," he sighed as he passed out the portals. "I believe in modernity. I think we are going forward. I believe that art, like everything else, has caught its present-day stride."

Oppressors Have Finest Statues.

Mr. Edison, with a clear between his teeth, noted the statue of Frederick Augustus.

"Let's see this statue," said he. "It's probably some one who made himself obnoxious. I notice that those who oppress the people always get the grandest bronze statues in Europe."

He contemplated the royal gardens awhile, but plainly his soul was oppressed by the socialistic problems that modern life suggests.

"The more I see of lingering superstitions, the more thankful am I to live in a country where thinking is free. Let people think through a gallery, they think through a newspaper, and you can trust to results. We live for the triumph of smokestacks, not of church steeples, and on that I base my whole faith in the grand final triumph of our own civilization over that of Europe."

WILL CAUSE REVOLUTION

New Telephone Transmitter and New Central Energy System.

Voice Heard Distinctly 1,000
Miles Over Ordinary Telegraph Line.

Montreal, Sept. 29.—The office of Electrical Superintendent Camp of the Canadian Pacific Railway Telegraphs witnessed last Sunday afternoon the climax of an experiment in telephony which promises to revolutionize long distance work. The feat accomplished was the sending of a message by telephone over the telegraph wires of the Canadian Pacific railway from Montreal to Fort William, a distance of 995 miles, by means of a newly invented telephone instrument. The wire utilized was an ordinary telegraph wire, and the communication was established with Fort William easily and voices were heard clearly at both ends of the line.

David H. Wilson, the inventor, is a Chicago man. He has been working on his instrument for seven years. His chief associate is A. E. Stillwell of Kansas City, president of the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient railway and of the United States & Mexico Trust company. Other capitalists who witnessed the experiment were E. Dickenson, vice president and general manager of the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient railway; Robert Blinn of Chicago, H. P. Esterbrook, lawyer of New York; Edward Lynden, New York; G. H. Johnson, capitalist, Montreal; the Canadian Pacific Railway telegraph and James Kent, superintendent of the Canadian Pacific Railway telegraphs. The company which controls the invention is registered in both New York and in London, England.

Voices Clearly Heard.

Two of the instruments were connected up with the ordinary telegraph wire of the C. P. R. at the head office here, and there were two other instruments of the same type at the Fort William office. The C. P. R. telegraphs. Telephonic communication was established between the two stations, 1,000 miles apart, and several conversations were carried on. The voices were heard as if they were in the same room. A traditional experiment of conversation between Fort William and North Bay, a distance of 325 miles, was successful beyond any matter of doubt. The experiment demonstrated the ability to talk over ordinary telegraph wires with the new telephone.

It has taken Mr. Wilson seventeen years hard work to perfect his invention. It makes a practically long distance telephoning for practically unlimited distances over hitherto unavailable lines. It is a great advance for ordinary commercial telephony. The present long distance telephone service, which is more or less effective for a distance up to about 500 miles, requires a copper wire weighing 435 pounds to the mile, but with the new telephone, long distance telephoning, it is hoped, will be a commercial certainty over a distance of 2,000 miles and more with the use of an ordinary number nine wire, a telegraph wire weighing about 205 pounds to the mile. The introduction of the new invention will cut the cost of construction at least 50 per cent and show that long distance telephony tolls to about 25 per cent of their present cost. The telegraph wires can be used for telephoning simultaneously with the dispatch over them of telegraph messages and the scope opened up for a combination telephony and telegraph service, obviously enormous. It is hoped to apply the invention even to marine cables.

Secret of the Invention.

The secret of the new invention lies almost entirely in a new transmitter. It is known as an electroplex-octopole telephone, capable of a voltage of forty volts. It includes a new central energy system, operated by automatic speakers in Montreal and at Fort William, also an invention of Mr. Wilson's and marking a distinct advance on ordinary telephone power.

The tests were made in Canada because of the impossibility of securing a telegraph wire 1,000 miles in length in the United States, as the experiment could only be carried out in a clear connection could be secured on Sunday in the absence of the daily commercial traffic.

After the main experiment had been successfully carried out, demonstrations were also held between Montreal and North Bay, a distance of 325 miles, and between Montreal and Sudbury, 430 miles, in both instances an ordinary telephony being used at Sudbury and North Bay ends. In each case heard at the latter end of the wire service the speakers in Montreal distinctly when at a distance of seven-hundred feet from the 'phone from the other end.

Arrangements are under way for a working agreement between the Western Union Telegraph company and the Bell Telephone company and between the Postal and the C. P. R. for the use of the contrivance. The possibilities of the new invention commercially are regarded as very great and mean such an immense increase in business that it will be to the advantage of both telephone and telegraph companies to co-operate in the workings of the new system.

The new company proposes to lease the instruments and thus act as a holding company, while the telephone and telegraph companies now in existence apply the invention for combined operation over their lines.

The instrument does not in any way interfere with the use of the telegraph sound the same time for the dispatch of telegraphic business, and requires no additional plant save the new telephone instrument at one or both ends.

World Cut Down Cost.

New York, Sept. 29.—Experts in the long distance department of the New York Telephone company (Bell) in this city said last night that the simultaneous use of wires for telephonic and telegraphic communication was not a new thing in New York, but that the company had found it necessary to have long distance work such as the Denver circuit. If the newly invented instrument can be used on the long distance wire it will bring down the cost of construction 50 per cent, it was said, and double the capacity of the system.

SUFFRAGETTES TO BE MILITANT?

Mrs. Pankhurst Will Be Chief
Speaker at National Meeting.

New York, Sept. 29.—When the National American Woman Suffrage association convenes in Louisville for its annual convention on Oct. 19 it will mark the most radical note of change in attitude since the movement began.

The chief speaker from the platform will be the English suffragette, Mrs. Pankhurst, whose policy of deeds, not words, has made her name a terror to every British minister.

When Mrs. Pankhurst first visited America in the fall of 1909 she was introduced to an immense audience at Currier's hall by Mrs. W. H. Shaw, president of the National Suffragette. But neither the methods nor the leader; while she admitted the results of the "militant" system, she held it to be without excuse in this country. Mrs. Pankhurst has in an avowed softened her views, and the British "atrocities" have been continued. But the American women have passed through the states of pitying and enduring, and have even come to heckling the politicians on their own account. She would be a body politely interested in foreign conditions, but of instructing many would-be imitators how to get what they want.

She will reach New York about Oct. 15, and during her stay here will be the guest of Mrs. John Winters Branch, wife of the president of Bellevue and the Allied hospitals.

Miss M. Cary Thomas, president of Bryn Mawr and leader of the Collegiate Equal Suffrage league, will speak from the same platform.

The official headquarters for the week of the suffrage convention will be the Hotel Seelbach and the meeting will be held in De Molay Commandary hall.

The association is scheduled for some heated sessions over states' rights. The issue before the state organization is independence of the national's pre-eminence.

SON STRANGER TO MOTHER.

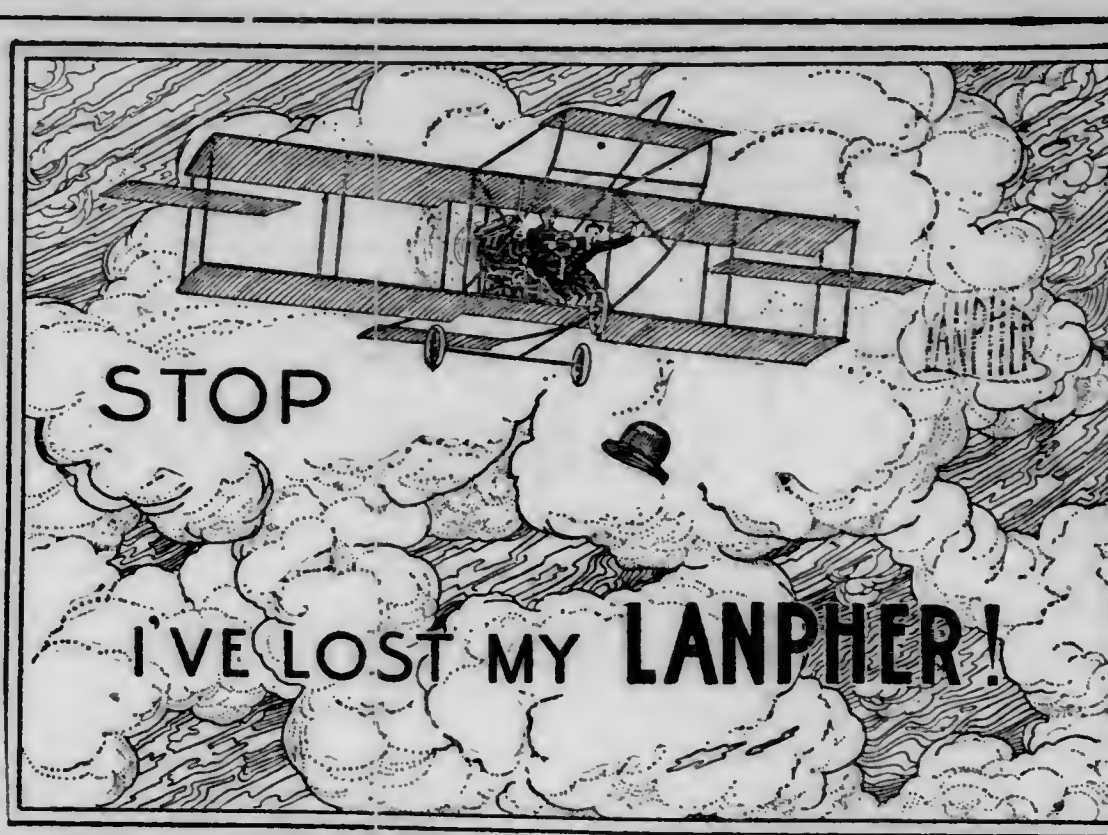

After 23-Year Separation He Had to Introduce Himself.

Portland, Or., Sept. 29.—After a separation of twenty-three years from his mother, Edgar Smith could not refrain from perpetrating a joke on the aged woman when she arrived at the station Saturday. He knew very well that she would not recognize him and before he declared his identity, he twice passed in front of her and looked into her face, showing by his expression that he was awaiting her. When she finally became aware of his presence he expressed his surprise that he did not present himself to take her to his home on Mill street, he approached her and remarked:

"I am your son."

Mrs. Smith, who is 77 years old, made what she declares is the last trip in her life. She left her home in Perry, Okla., on a day coach, she said, and she was in Portland, Ore., on the last trip I will take until I take the route that only has one-way trains," said Mrs. Smith.

Mrs. Smith will return to her home in Oklahoma by way of Los Angeles.

FIND 10-YEAR-OLD BURGLAR

Detectives Arrest West End Lad for Breaking Into Store.

Detectives Schulte and Irvine have run down a 10-year-old burglar in the West end. The youngster, who is responsible for two candy store thefts, will be arraigned in juvenile court tomorrow. His name has been withheld. The lad was caught today as a result of an investigation of the burglary last evening of a candy store run by Julius Wellberg at 3018 West Third street. The same store was broken into about a week ago. In both instances about $1 worth of candy and gum were taken. Two boys were suspected by the police. One of them was apprehended and although he denied any connection with the job at first, later he confessed. When searched some of the stolen sweets were found on his person. The lad attends the Monroe school.

CREEK HOLDS UP CONTRACT

Another Delay in Construction of New West Duluth Library.

Board Says City Must Drain Lots Before Work Goes Ahead.

A small creek intersects the property, bought some time ago by the city as a site for the new Carnegie library at West Duluth, and members of the library board are holding up the plans for building until provisions have been made by the city to drain the site. The site for the new library which was purchased by the council comprises six lots on the northwest corner of Central avenue and Illinois street, for which $3,600 was paid. Before the contract can be let for the structure, it will be necessary to either cover the creek with culvert or direct the stream to a neighboring sewer. It is understood that the plans for the new library are ready and all that remains to be done is the letting of the contract. Alderman L. A. Barnes, former member of the board, has requested the council to direct the city engineer to look over the situation and report on the matter at a future meeting of the council. The delay in starting the actual construction of the building has been long and unnecessary, many West Duluthians think. The matter has been in the hands of the board for about one year. The site was purchased about two years ago by the council. More than a year ago, Andrew Carlson donated $20,000 to the project.

POLICE STATION FOR NEW DULUTH

Council Committee Will Visit Suburb—$5,000 Provision in Levy.

New Duluth people are now assured of more adequate police protection next year. The sum of $5,000 has been set aside in next year's levy for the purpose of providing a more suitable police station in the suburb. It is probable that this amount will also include the purchase price of a building lot. At the present time the building used for this purpose is an old frame shack, which is hardly habitable. The council's committee on city property on Monday will go to New Duluth for the purpose of selecting a site and making recommendations in the matter of erecting a new branch police station.

The Kings reside at 15 Central avenue.

SUPERIOR
NEED SUNSHINE AND AIR.
Dr. Harvey Dee Brown, Sociologist, Declares School Children Neglected.

"You have 6,000 school children in Superior. Of this number, I understand that there are at least 300, who, while not afflicted with diseases are in need of more fresh air and sunshine. An open air school will remedy this condition."

This is what Harvey Dee Brown, sociologist and anti-tuberculosis worker, declared before a large assembly of men and women in his lecture on "Public Health" last evening at the Commercial club.

Dr. Brown commended the efforts of the local Public Health association and declared that the social worker, Miss Florence Two should be given an assistant to take care of the clerical work incidental to her reports.

Dr. Brown also advocated the employment of a visiting nurse.

NYE ELECTED PRESIDENT.
Superior Six O'Clock Club Holds Election and Hears From Eau Claire.

Robert Nye was elected president of the Superior Six O'clock club last evening at its annual election of officers. He is a brother of Assemblyman Ray J. Nye. The other officers are: R. C. It was announced during the meeting that Mayor John Fleming of Eau Claire would come to Superior for an address on the commission form of government in the near future. The dinner at which the Eau Claire executive will speak will probably be held at the Hotel Superior on Oct. 11.

BOY BADLY BITTEN
BY VICIOUS BULLDOG.

The 7-year-old son of W. P. Scott, 810 Sixteenth street was bitten by a vicious bulldog, owned by J. Jepson, 1895 Hughton avenue, yesterday afternoon. The dog was tied to a tree in the Jepson yard and had not the child rolled out of the dog's reach when he did, the experience might have been fatal for the lad. As it is, the boy has a number of bad lacerations about the forehead and face. A physician was called and dressed the wounds.

Fell Three Stories.
The body of Fred Willette, aged 63, the millhand, who fell from the third story of the Daisy mill yesterday morning and was killed, is held at the Le Sage undertaking rooms, pending funeral arrangements. Willette was a widower and is survived by four daughters and one son.

Named on Committees.
President V. E. McCaskill and Prof. D. Wheelton of the Superior normal school have been honored by appointment to chairmanships of important committees named by the state board of normal school regents to present recommendations in connection with courses to be offered by the state schools.

VICTOR RECORDS FOR OCTOBER ARE OUT.
Among the new Victor records for October are a most varied selection and whether one prefers grand opera or popular instrumental solos or band selections, comic specialties or gospel hymns, they are all there. The "Red Seal" records include the beautiful David air, "Thou Brilliant Bird," of "Pearl of the East," sung by Luisa Tetrazzini, showing to advantage the purity of her tones, especially in the duet with the flute and the difficult runs given with perfect ease. Alma Gluck sings two numbers successfully used in her concerts, a brilliant "Nightingale's Passion Song," and a dainty little shepherd song, which is the gem of a Russian opera, "The Show Maiden." Riccardo Martin, who will sing in Duluth next month with Alice Nielsen, sings superbly the difficult song "Masse's Massenet's 'Le Cid' giving in the original key, which is a crucial test for any tenor. Gluck sings a delightful violin rendition of a famous old "Rigaudon," by Montigny. E. M. Sammarco sings Rigoleto's great denunciation. Jeanne Gertrude-Beauchamp gives a dramatic rendition of a slave girl's song from a Masse opera; Nicola Zerola contributes two splendid Paganini airs.

Arthur Pryor's band plays a lively little "Trot," "Fragrant Fantasy," a splendid Tschalkowsky fantasia, the graceful Aristonette Froite, and also gives a fine rendition of the magnificent "Cleopatra" triumphal march. Victor Herbert's orchestra contributes Herbert's dainty and delightful "Yesterday" and a beautiful rendition of the great "Marche Slave." A beautiful harp solo is presented by Charles Schuetz, the beautiful and one of the most popular of melodies "Last Rose of Summer," being his selection. Charles Gilbert Spröss plays a pianoforte solo of a love tone poem "Song of the Sea."

Lucy Isabelle Marsh, sings the Chamade waltz air, "Summer," and the flawless technique, the absolute purity of the soprano tones and her perfect intonation are all in evidence and give the keenest delight.

Frank Burbeck, a noted actor, who has been prominent in leading dramatic productions for many years, makes his debut as a Victor entertainer by delivering two celebrated Shakespearean orations, "Hamlet's Soliloquy" and the famous "King Lear's Toast."

There are many other records of equal interest.

COMPANY C WILL GIVE A BANQUET

DR. MITCHELL'S

Electro Magnetic Treatment Cures So-Called Incurable Disease.

Hundreds in Duluth will tell you that Dr. Mitchell has cured them and when cured by him they stay cured. "I was nearly dead with liver and kidney trouble," writes Martin Peterson. "I came from San Francisco. The doctors had given me up to die, hearing of Dr. Mitchell through the Duluth Herald, I took the train for Duluth and I am happy to state that I was cured, and I am a firm believer in Dr. Mitchell's treatment." A lady in Duluth suffered for many years with deafness and heard noises. She was pronounced incurable by the best ear specialist in the United States. She was cured by Dr. Mitchell's famous treatment. A remarkable case was that of a gentleman from the range who was paralyzed from the waist to his feet. He became an invalid; was unable to use his lower limbs. His stomach refused to do its natural duties. In one month's treatment he was able to walk.

No matter what your disease nor how many have termed it incurable, there is hope for you in this wonderful treatment, which does away with knife and drugs, as well as all tortuous methods. Dr. Mitchell's Electro Magnetic treatment strengthens, invigorates, gives new tone to the system, makes the blood healthy and is food for the nerves; it makes people well, it drives the poison from the blood and it brings buoyance of spirit in place of lassitude and despondency. It allows the over-taxed system to start fairly on the road to health; it procures sleep so necessary to brain and nerve centers. Dr. Mitchell has practiced in this city for nearly sixteen years and is here to stay and can be consulted at 399-400-401 Columbia building.

"POULTRY SPECIAL"

Railroads Co-operate in Development of the Minnesota Hen.

Expert Trying to Add One Pound to Every Chicken.

The annual loss to the farmers of Minnesota on egg shipments is 17 per cent and 10 per cent of that is preventable, in the opinion of N. E. Chapman, poultry specialist of the agricultural extension division of the university farm, who is in Duluth today. By conservation, a campaign of education, improvement of breeds, development of the industry and organization, Mr. Chapman hopes to eliminate waste, increase production and put the poultry industry in this state on a new plane. He has already gone a long way in his campaign. All summer he has been busy calling on producers and shippers. He has visited over 100 towns in the state and has met about 500 of the 2,000 shippers of eggs and poultry products. By means of talks, circulars and demonstrations, he has called their attention to defects in methods of marketing. He has obtained the co-operation of the commission men of the cities and of the railroads. Refrigerator cars have been installed on several railroad lines, along which farmers have long suffered through lack of refrigerator service.

He has urged the farmers, the shippers, the commission men and the consumers that there is no profit for the farmer in a 2-pound rooster on which there is only fourteen ounces of edible meat. Improve the breed, fatten the chickens, send only good eggs to the market and cut down waste are the points being pounded into everybody concerned by the poultry expert and he is getting results. The last census shows that there were 12,274 chickens on farms of over three acres each in Minnesota. When the census was taken in April, 1910, from that figure and from the statistics he kept, Mr. Chapman estimates that 12,000,000 chickens are marketed each year. If every chicken were fattened to pound more than at present, a great addition would be made to the value of the poultry market, the producer, shipper, commission man and consumer would get a greater return and the business would be on a more satisfactory basis.

A "poultry special" on the line of the "poultry special" sent out by the Duluth Commercial club last spring, is Mr. Chapman's latest idea. The Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Soo railroads have gone in with the plan. The special will consist of three cars, which will be attached to the regular trains on the three roads and for about a month the latter part of the year the cars will be taken around through the north part of the state.

Mr. Chapman plans to make two trips a day, instructing and demonstrating. One car will be given over to chickens and another to producing, marketing and shipping appliances. In order to vary the institutes, one or two of the poultry experts will be carried to give instructions. Mr. Chapman expects that the special will be a great success. Mr. Chapman has been busy visiting county fairs, the past few weeks, judging poultry and holding institutes. For the next few weeks he will make trips through some of the counties of the state with the support of the poultry commission men, farmers and their children. In the school houses and instructing them to classify the work under five heads: conservation, campaign of education, improvement of breeds, development and organization. Mr. Chapman this morning, "Conservation" takes in the elimination of waste. The campaign of education covers the work of the farm schools, the farmers' institute, the instructions in the rural schools and all the other work being done along those lines. Improvement of breeds contemplates the elimination of scrubs from poultry flocks and the breeding of standard varieties of chickens of known value. Development takes in the increasing production of the poultry industry and fattening of poultry for the increasing market value. Organization is a great subject that has hardly been scratched.

"The poultry industry has been run too long on hit and miss lines. It is a business, and it should be treated as such. The department of agriculture estimates that it amounts to $1,000,000,000 and there is no such thing as over-production. Every man likes a fresh egg and a tender piece of poultry. Every man should have them at a minimum cost."

Poultry Boards. "Some states have poultry boards. It has been suggested that Minnesota have some such board and it has also been suggested that egg-candlers be licensed by the state just as are cream testers. In fact, the idea has been advanced that the state take entire charge of the candling of eggs at commission centers. But state canners receive shipments and that they do not go to the commission merchant until they have passed through the state warehouse. This is a very serious matter, and the reports to the shippers. That is rather a far cry but it is not beyond the bounds of possibility."

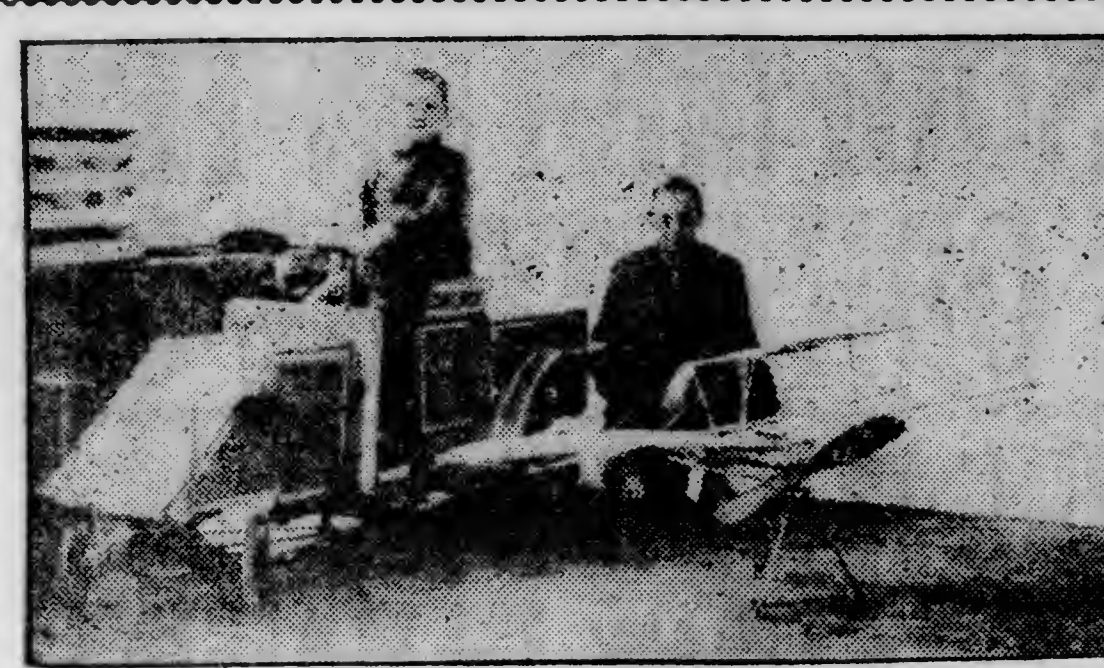

Mr. Chapman has a wonderful set of figures of the poultry industry of Minnesota. He can tell just what each section is shipping, what its returns are, where careless methods of shipping are losing money for the farmers and where conservation is in effect, where shippers and commission men are working together and where they are at sword points. When he goes to a railroad to ask for a refrigerator service on a line, he can tell how many eggs and how much poultry was shipped last year and how much will be shipped this year. He pins the railroad to figure out the loss. His argument with that substantial backing, wins out. "On the subject the co-operation has been excellent," said Mr. Chapman. "Everybody has turned in to help me in the campaign. The railroads have shown a commendable disposition to assist in improving railroad conditions. I have succeeded in bringing the commission men and the shippers together in many localities. If everybody can be brought into the campaign, to work together for the betterment of the industry or their mutual benefit, the success of the campaign is assured."

Dog Days Explained. Dog days are those from July 3 to Aug. 11. They are so called from Sirius, the most brilliant fixed star in the head of the constellation, the big dog. During the period the star and the sun rise within the same hour and the ancients attributed the extreme heat of summer to the influence of the constellation, a superstition which has lived to the present day. There is no superstition among people who use golden grain belt beer. They know their benefits and speak in their praise. Buy at your dealer or Duluth branch Minneapolis brewing company.

MONOPLANE AND AUTOMOBILE MADE BY DULUTH SCHOOL BOYS

THE MONOPLANE AND THE AUTOMOBILE.

Featured by many unusual and really unique creations along the lines of boys' hobbies, the industrial exhibition held at the Salter school yesterday was a great success. Nor did the boys alone shine. The girls proved they had "on the job," too, for their exhibition of fancy work, drawings, cake, deserts, home cooking, house plants and other articles was one of the best of the kind ever held in the city. So good was the exhibition of vegetables that A. E. Hostetter of the Commercial club, who had promised the boys a large sum of money for the best exhibit, was unable to decide the winners. A large basement room was used as the scene of the miniature county fair and during the afternoon many parents and others interested in the work and the play of the boys and girls, looted in to look over the exhibition. Perhaps the most unusual of the class of articles listed under "boys' hobbies" was a monoplane built by Harold Carlson of 1366 London road. The monoplane was copied from a picture, and the airplane was worked by welding an elastic band. Paper was used instead of canvas and when wound up and turned loose, it astonished those present by flying the length of the room. "Yes, I copied this from a magazine," said young Carlson proudly, explaining the workings of the plane. "I'm interested in flying and an airplane model. It is just an airplane, but I can get the materials together. The airplane did not run much by itself but it surely did look like a really and truly car of the heavy touring type. The boys had on exhibition the vegetables that they had carefully tended during the summer months. It was truly a wonderful display of produce, grown in the backyards by boys interested in agriculture. There were beets large enough to practice football with. Some of the potatoes would fill a large part of a bushel. The boys had grown extra large one of them. Then there was celery, beautiful, white, firm stalks, the largest squash, and one of last Thanksgiving's dinner. There were turnips, carrots, cabbage and in fact, all sorts of garden truck. There was an exhibition of articles made in the manual training shop and at home. There were lamps, chairs, boats and many other articles, well made and a credit to the manufacturer. From the exhibition very domestic fowls, many of the boys are interested in this branch. There were chickens, ducks, geese, rabbits, birds and other livestock. The girls had a long table on which rested the results of their work in the domestic science room, consisting of cake that made your mouth water as well as candy that was just what you needed after a hard day's work. There were also a variety of other articles, such as a bread and other examples. Then there were drawings and products of sewing, and other articles had been made. Among the new buildings which now seem assured for the West end during the coming year will be a $20,000 structure to be erected by the Orpheus Singing society on the south-west corner of Twenty-sixth avenue west and Third street. The Orpheus Singing society is an organization of Swedish male singers and has a large membership and a good following in this city. Most of its members reside in the West end. It is understood that the local architect has been asked to draw up plans for such a building.

WOMEN FORCED TO GIVE DINNER FOR MEN. A banquet was held last evening at Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, the occasion marking the close of a Sunday school membership contest. In the evening a social was held at the same place. The men's little class was victorious over the women's. The women were obliged to give a dinner to the winners and the affair last evening was held at their expense. Mrs. Milton B. Fish, leader of the women's class, in the campaign was toastmaster. Among the speakers were Rev. Milton B. Fish, pastor, and G. H. Griffin, Fred Hanson, L. Glover, W. Mitchell, Mrs. Derrage and Mrs. G. H. Griffin. Mrs. E. Pauline sang a solo.

West End Briefs. The Misses Hannah and Lydia Olsen entertained last evening at a dinner party at their home, 1224 North Twentieth avenue west. The party was one of a series to be held this winter under the auspices of the Epworth League Sewing Circle of the First Norwegian-Danish 3d church. Sixteen guests were present.

A deacons' organization was formed Thursday evening at a meeting held at Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street. The new organization was formed by the merger of the Epworth League and the deacons' organization.

Charles Albinberg has returned from Clouet, where he has been visiting. Miss Alice Gustafson of 423 North Twenty-second avenue has returned from Colorado, Minn.

The funeral of Evelyn Cecilia, a twelve-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lind of 2135 West First street, who died Thursday, was held last afternoon at 2 o'clock from Olson & Crawford's undertaking establishment, 213 West First street, to Park Hill cemetery. Rev. Edward Stromberg officiated.

Gust Carlson of West Fourth street has returned from a trip to Winnipeg. Miss Marie Truon of Piedmont avenue has gone to Minneapolis, where she will visit friends for the next two weeks.

SHOPMEN ON THE HARRIMAN LINES OBEY STRIKE ORDERS AND WALK OUT.

South of here, is populated almost entirely by shopmen. It is a well built town, with many fine homes. Most of the men went directly to their homes. There were no strike breakers at hand and although the company is reported to have a force of recruits in Chicago, the men thought they would not be taken to the works until tomorrow.

One hundred and fifty locomotives in the course of repair are in the shops, and more than 500 cars are of the yards, not available for use until repairs are completed, according to the men.

Traffic Not Yet Affected.

The first handicap to traffic is expected tonight when the engines are brought to the shops. The men say there will be no one to handle them and the engines will not be ready for use tomorrow.

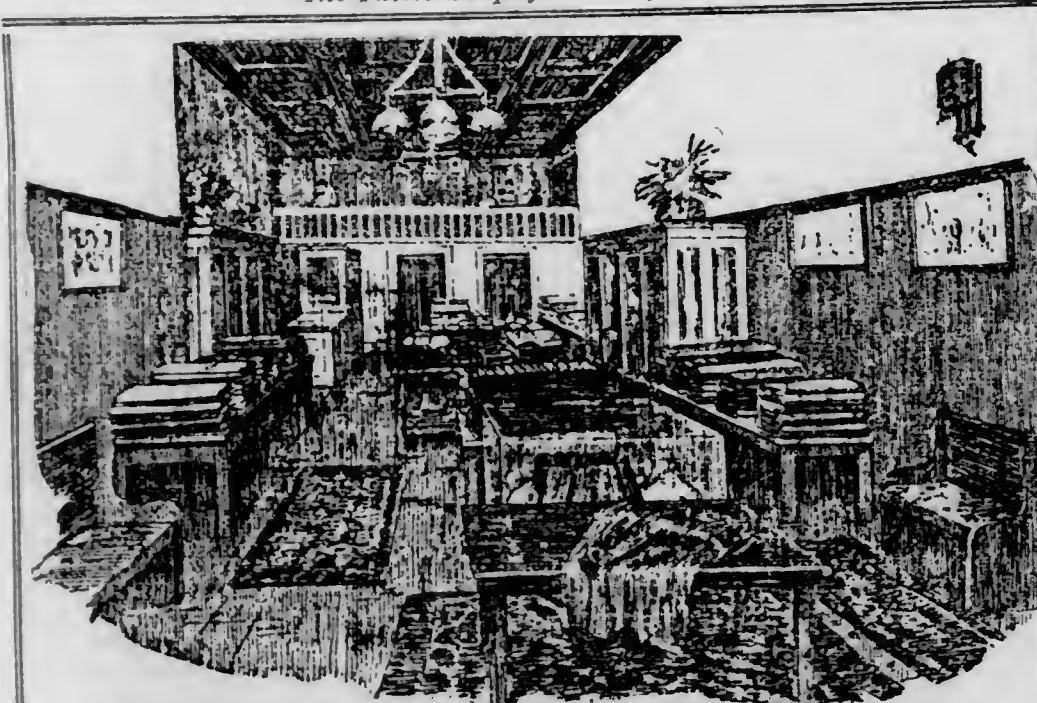

Julius Kruttschnitt, vice president of the Harriman lines, who will represent the Harriman lines, returned here today from New York.

There was a delay in the delivery of the order to the machinists and the men in the machine shops had received no notification to strike at 10 o'clock. They quit work with the others, but remained within the stock. A telegraph messenger hearing the order was stopped at the gate by the railroad police who have noted the delivery of the message.

An open air meeting will be held this afternoon.

Mr. Kruttschnitt said he had heard nothing from railroad officials in the South and West, and that he would make no statement before Monday.

DULUTH IS IN THE LEAD

Farther Advanced in Poultry Industry Than Other Parts of State.

Duluth Consumers Get Fresh Eggs, Says Prof. N. E. Chapman.

Duluth and the surrounding country are farther advanced in the improvement of the poultry industry than any other section of Minnesota, according to N. E. Chapman, poultry specialist of the agricultural extension division of the university farm. In fact, the measures taken for the development of the industry in this part of the state compare favorably with those in any section of the United States.

"Duluth is working along the right lines," said Mr. Chapman this morning. "More advanced eggs are handled here than in any city in the state. The farmers and shippers in the vicinity of the city seem to appreciate their duties to themselves and their consumers. Duluth consumers get fresh eggs as a rule, and the same cannot be said of some other centers in the state. Of course there is much yet to be done in educating shippers and producers, but the work has a very satisfactory start."

At the request of Mr. Chapman, Duluth commission men will send with each remittance for poultry products, a copy of the circular issued by Mr. Chapman and food commissioner, calling attention to the importance of shipping to the best methods of fattening and shipping eggs. The commission men will mark on each circular the points in which the shippers have been careless and it is hoped in that way the cause of deterioration reported up will be remedied.

Duluth commission men have shown a disposition to co-operate with Mr. Chapman in the betterment of the poultry industry and it is expected that the mailing of the circulars will have a very beneficial effect.

The circular reads as follows:

"Poultry Products—Warning.

"The law of Minnesota forbids dealings in or selling for use as food, bad eggs. Diseased chickens. Deceiving poultry. See chapter 334, general laws 1907, section 1. Penalties: 'Sell' or 'offer for sale' of such revised laws, 1905, section 1732.

"Every violation of the provisions of this act shall be deemed a misdemeanor, the punishment of which shall be a fine of not less than $50, or imprisonment for not less than sixty days.

"All inspectors of this department are instructed to enforce the provisions of this act."

JOEL G. WINKLER,
Dairy and Food Commissioner.

"Suggestions to producers and shippers of poultry products by the division of agricultural extension and farmers institute.

"The annual loss in Minnesota from defective poultry is $2,000,000. Not only are these millions being lost, but our surplus is being lost in quality as to command the highest market price.

Producers.

"Keep standard breed, thus ensuring uniformity of product.

"Sell only full sized (2 oz.), fresh, clean eggs.

"Keep nests clean; confine broody hens; gather eggs twice daily; use a cool place, free from odors of all kinds.

"Do not offer for sale little, dirty, checked, stained or doubtful eggs. Most of these may be consumed at home, but full market value.

"Hatch all surplus poultry, bring stock up to standard.

Shippers.

"Pack eggs in standard cases, with medium fillers, using excelsior, cork shavings, cut straw or corrugated board.

"Store in cool dry place free from odors, heat, draughts and dampness.

"Ship eggs often, at least twice a week in warm weather, by express in refrigerator cars.

"Ship live, healthy, poultry in large standard cases, dressed, neatly wrapped and packed in boxes or barrels to reliable dealers and station bulletins. Address United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., the agricultural extension division, University of Minnesota, St. Paul.

N. E. CHAPMAN,
Poultry Specialist."

SEAPORT OF PREVEZA IS BOMBARDED BY ITALIANS

of the engagement at Preveza yesterday, but an Italian cruiser accompanied by torpedo boats, attacked two Turkish torpedo boats, leaving Preveza. One of the Turkish vessels found refuge in the harbor of Preveza, and the other was struck by several shells, and ran ashore. The crew was rescued.

This official version differs from the one reported in the Herald, which makes no mention of the landing of troops following the sinking of a Turkish torpedo boat-destroyer by an Italian cruiser.

The fact that the battle occurred yesterday afternoon makes it plain that Italy had anticipated that the Turkish reply would not be satisfactory, and had arranged that there should be no delay in beginning hostilities.

Preveza, the scene of the first encounter between the Italians and Turks, is situated at the mouth of the Gulf of Arta, which lies at the extreme south end of Albania and which divides the province from Greece. It is removed from the regular line of transit for steamers from Italy. The immediate importance of the engagement is thus left in doubt, though it is notable as being the first blow struck by Italy in a war that has already caused much uneasiness in the capitals of the powers.

Lighting Talks

NUMBER 70 DULUTH, SEPTEMBER 30, 1911

You Want To Know

why a municipal electric plant in Duluth could not "make any money," but would be a losing venture for the City and sink hundreds of thousands of dollars of the taxpayers' money in a hopeless enterprise. It is to your interest to know. We want every citizen of Duluth to know.

You do know that a municipal plant can only be built with borrowed money, and that the City cannot borrow money without paying interest on it. Suppose the City proceeds to build the inadequate and insufficient plant that could be built for $700,000, the amount authorized by the enabling act. At 5 per cent (the lowest rate bonds that could be marketed) the yearly interest would amount to $35,000. This does not include one cent for sinking fund, or for maintenance and operation of the plant.

For all the electric light, both arc and incandescent, used in the streets and public buildings now the City pays the Duluth-Edison Electric Company only $31,658 a year. Remember that figure, and make your own comparisons.

In the electric lighting business experience is costly. In any new lighting system mistakes will be made. Experience cannot be gained in this business without mistakes. And the taxpayers will have to pay for the mistakes of a municipal plant. It would take many years' experience before a municipal plant could distribute electricity as cheaply as this company is doing it now.

Meanwhile, answer just one question: If YOU had invested more than two million dollars in building up an electric lighting business would YOU abandon that business—literally THROW IT AWAY—simply because a rival plant had been started?

"Absurd!"—do you say?

Of course it's absurd. And it's just as absurd to dream that a municipal plant could do a profitable business in competition with the Duluth-Edison Electric Company. A municipal plant could not meet our rates without losing money on all the business taken at those rates.

A municipal plant means HIGHER TAXES for thirty or forty years to come, and a loss of millions of dollars to this City of Duluth.

A new City-lighting contract with this company means that the City will get $3 MORE ARC LIGHTS for the same amount now paid for those now in use, that the City debt will not be increased, that taxes will not be affected at all, and that the users of electric light in Duluth will be enabled to SAVE $30,000 A YEAR.

Let your alderman know where YOU stand on this question.

Read the next Lighting Talk in next Tuesday's Herald.

ONLY ONE UNION PAINLESS DENTISTS

Thirteen years ago the dentists of Minneapolis and St. Paul laughed (up their sleeve) when The Union Painless Dentists announced the opening of their office. They said: "They can't live and do guaranteed dentistry at the prices advertised." That was thirteen years ago. Today it's different. They now admit that good dentistry at a moderate price brings business in any locality.

The Union Painless Dental office of Duluth is one of three in the entire state. The other two being located in Minneapolis and St. Paul.

If your teeth require attention, call at this office for a free examination. It will be a pleasure for us to make a positive price on your work. All work guaranteed ten years.

Crete Will Strike.

Chios, Sept. 30.—The Creteans notified their representatives in Italy today that they did not intend to permit the opportunity afforded by the Tripoli affair to pass without taking their long justified action against Greece.

Surprise at Washington.

Washington, Sept. 30.—The declaration of war upon Turkey, coming as it did with practically no notice, created a small stir here. The state department had felt reasonably confident that the other signatories of the Berlin treaty, which fixed the status of Turkey, would be able to bring combined pressure to bear on Italy to divert her from her purpose to seize Tripoli. The only conclusion that could be drawn from late developments was that what has happened is only a natural sequence of the Franco-German-Moroccan negotiations, and that all along it has been understood that Italy would be given a free hand to deal with Tripoli in return for the restraining force of the Moroccan dispute, although her interests in that country are important as any of the nations of Northern Europe.

Keep America Clear.

Indications are that America will be kept clear of the present struggle for domination in Africa, if that is possible. It is asserted at the state department that the United States has no present interest in that part of the world. It is admitted, however, that in view of the highly advanced position America has taken in advocacy of the peaceful settlement of international disputes, the government can only look with regret on this resort to war.

Late yesterday the state department received an appeal from Oscar S. Straus, formerly American ambassador to Turkey, to intervene between Italy and Turkey. Mr. Straus' application was based on Article III of the Hague convention, of which both Italy and Turkey were signatories. This article follows:

"Independently of this recourse, the signatory powers recommend that one more powerful power be called in to mediate, should on their own initiative and as far as circumstances may allow, they be unable to effect a settlement of the dispute to the states at variance."

"The exercise of this right can never be regarded by one or the other of the parties in conflict as an unfriendly act."

Must Use Caution.

No official statement could be obtained from the officials of the state department as to what disposition would be made of Mr. Straus' suggestion. Extreme caution must characterize any attempt at mediation, for notwithstanding the declaration of neutrality at the prices advertised. They now admit that good dentistry at a moderate price brings business in any locality.

ON THE IRON RANGES

MAY AGREE UPON PLAN

Factions in Virginia Municipal Ownership Matter May Get Together.

May Submit to the Voters Proposition of Owning Plant.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is a possibility that the various municipal ownership factions, including the city government and those striving for immediate municipal ownership, may get together and agree upon a plan which may result in calling off the expected special initiative election in the near future, the alternative being the submission to the voters at the election in February of the proposition whether municipal ownership of the water and light plant is desired at this time or not.

The defeat of the immediate municipal ownership candidate for alderman in the Fourth ward last Tuesday morning, the result of the special election, has caused some of the municipal ownership people to believe that the plan to have the plan taken up at a special election is not so certain as it was at first. The question has arisen whether the council can now call off a special election and if more than 10 per cent of the voters are in favor of the plan, the council is obliged to call it. The council is now considering the proposition, but will probably present the matter to the people as a referendum at a special election.

Save Special Election Cost. If the straight proposition of municipal ownership could be submitted to the voters at the next regular election in February, say those favoring that plan, the expense of a special election at this time could be avoided and there would be no harm in waiting until the next election. The council is now considering the proposition, but will probably present the matter to the people as a referendum at a special election.

Hibbing Man Staggers Into Headquarters and Has Assault Arrested.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—One Pietro Piacchi, bartender for Joseph Collyard, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a warrant sworn out by Pete Renni, charging the bartender with assault, before A. P. Silliman, who occupied the municipal court bench yesterday. Piacchi, who was not ready for preliminary hearing, was held in the city jail on $500 bail which was furnished by the Collyard family. The case will be tried Oct. 6.

Renni staggered into the police station Thursday night in a highly intoxicated condition. Blood was flowing from his eyes, his face was red and he was dripping with sweat. He was unable to stand and had to be carried to the station by his friends.

CONCENTRATOR TO BE READY BY MAY

Addition to Nashauk Plant Will Be in Operation Next Year.

Nashauk, Minn., Sept. 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mr. Stensil, a representative of a steel manufacturing concern of Chicago, is here demonstrating a new model steel automatic dump car at the Hawkins mine. The new car has been brought here especially for this mine and it is probable that the Hawkins Mining company of this place, of which E. W. Hatchelder is superintendent, will purchase some fifty of these time savers that will be used in hauling the overburden from the mine and also for transporting ore from the mine to the concentrating plant at O'Brien lake, which is about two miles south from here, which is under construction. The new car weighs twenty-three tons, equipped with a motor consisting of steel, and will carry over sixteen yards of dirt. This car will hold four times as much as the ones now in use at the mine.

Work at the Wisconsin Steel company's concentrating plant is progressing rapidly. Concrete bases to be used as foundations and the enormous large concrete walls are complete. The walls to be used as an incline for the tracks on which the

WANT GILBERT MINE IN VILLAGE LIMITS

Range Village Is Hoping Steel Company Will Assent to Plan.

Gilbert, Minn., Sept. 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—The company of the Oliver Iron Mining company, was here this week gathering statistics relative to the finances of Gilbert, Minn., in which the business has been done. This investigation was made by the company in response to an invitation to allow the Gilbert mine to come within the corporate limits of Gilbert. The company has signified its willingness to consider the matter. The citizens are awaiting the result with interest. They contend they have always been fair in their dealings with the company and the first incorporation was set aside by the supreme court they were strong enough to include as much of the territory as they desired, but included only the place they wanted. They feel that the increased taxation to the company will be practically nothing and it will reduce the real estate taxes in the village which are quite high on account of improvements which were important both for the health and safety of the village.

The citizens of Sparta are feeling that they have been a trifle worsted. They had good prospects in Sparta and when they sold out and moved to Gilbert they were led to believe that conditions would be just as good in Gilbert. Then after getting settled the Gilbert mine closed down and business generally. They feel that the village is a benefit to the company and in view of the fact that its affairs have been well handled, and that for many years the company has been a good neighbor, they feel that the company should not hesitate in taking a step which will be beneficial to all concerned. It is also stated that high officials of the Republic Iron & Steel company have stated that if the Oliver company would consent to come in they would do so also.

NEARING ORE BODY IN ALMAR DRIFT

Men Working Day and Night—Congressman Miller Interested in the Mine.

Tower, Minn., Sept. 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Interest in the development of the Almar mine, midway between here and Ely, in the center of the Soudan iron formation, continues to grow with each succeeding report from the shaft, as it seems highly probable now that the Almar will go into the shipping list next season.

Among the visitors to the Almar this week was Alvin Ebner of Duluth, who sold the property to the Almar Iron Mining company, taking payment in shares of the mine. Upon his return to Duluth, Ebner said that before the first of the year the miners would be working in the ore body. Day and night shifts were being worked, he added, and four feet a day was being made in the drift to the ore body, which might be reached in another sixty feet.

Good material continues to be shown in the drift, which has penetrated a soapstone wall and is now in point rock with considerable graphite lying alongside the soapstone wall. This drifting is being done upon the advice of Dr. Walter Harvey Weed, the noted geological and mining engineer of New York city, who believes it will crosscut the ore body.

John King, an old Michigan iron mining captain, who is in charge of the mine, is also of the opinion that the ore body will be reached soon. It is because of these conditions in the Almar and the interesting of heavy capital in St. Paul that the company has withdrawn its shares from sale. Congressman Clarence B. Miller and ex-Senator Spencer also visited the property recently and immediately bought into the company.

THE HERPICIDE GIRL

Says Everyone Can Have Beautiful Hair.

I am really ashamed of some of my girl friends when I look at their hair. There is no sense in having such looking heads. It simply shows that while they may be scrupulously neat in every other way, they are careless about their hair. Thin, scraggy, wispy hair generally indicates dandruff and dandruff is caused by a germ, Newbro's Herpicide will kill that germ and keep the scalp as clean and healthy as can be. This permits the hair to grow naturally and luxuriantly. That terrible itching which goes with dandruff stops with almost the first application. Substitutes or remedies said to be "just as good" are sometimes offered, but it is better to buy the genuine original germ killer, Newbro's Herpicide. There is no guesswork about that preparation. A trial isn't necessary, just buy a bottle and use it. The results are sure to be better than you expect.

For sale at drug stores. One dollar size bottle and guaranteed. Application obtained at the better barber shops. Send 10c in postage for sample and book. The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Lyceum pharmacy, special agent for Duluth.

The mine is now being cleaned out, and the examination proves encouraging. Regular development work will be undertaken.

THE AMERICAN WOMAN IN POLITICS

Living American Women Who Have Been Instrumental in Bringing About Political and Social Reforms, Especially Those Which Have Led to the Betterment of the Conditions of Their Own Sex—Mary Elizabeth Lease, Who Might Have Been Senator From Kansas—Sarah Platt Decker, Who Worked a Political Revolution in Colorado—Belva Lockwood, Twice Candidate for President and Pioneer Woman Practitioner in the United States Supreme Court—An Interesting Group of Famous Women Reformers Who Have Achieved Many Triumphs in the Political Field—Mrs. Martin W. Littleton, Who Sent Her Democratic Husband to Congress From Col. Roosevelt's District

Written for The Herald by E. J. EDWARDS ("Holland")

MRS. MARTIN W. LITTLETON, WHO SENT HER DEMOCRATIC HUSBAND TO CONGRESS FROM COL. ROOSEVELT'S DISTRICT

Perhaps the most notable of these women, and probably the one who has wielded the most power in politics, is Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Lease. In the historic revolt of the Kansas farmers and city laborers against political and economic conditions twenty years ago found its voice. Her eloquence and leadership helped to transform what was a mere uprising of protest into an organized political party, and she it was who gave that party its name, "The People's Party."

She was one of the most prominent and influential of the leaders who brought about the defeat of Senator John J. Ingalls in 1890, and she probably never had been elected a member of the United States Senate if she had consented to be a candidate.

For a number of years Mrs. Lease has been a resident of New York city and has not been active in politics, but has devoted herself to writing and editing, chiefly on literary and economic topics. Her home is in one of the most attractive parts of Brooklyn, where there are fine old trees and broad expanses of green, and the breath of the ocean is keen. Although she handles political and economic questions with an intellectual grasp that is masculine in its vigor, and although she has a strong idealistic conviction with a mental vision that sweeps broadly and ranges prophetically into the future, she domestic in her tastes, and finds great pleasure in the practical arts of the household. One of her chief delights during the summer vacation time is to go to the beach, and she is believed that she is more proud of the fact that she is a mother than she is of the name she has made as a writer and a political orator.

One needs to talk but a few minutes with Mrs. Lease on any question of the day to understand how she could away great audiences. Her thought is clear and positive, and her language, in which it is expressed is religious and forceful. Her keen intelligence and the ease with which she marshals words are immediately impressive.

But the secret of her power lies in an emotional quality that suffuses thought and expression—an undercurrent of powerful feeling which, when it rises, gives to the tones of her voice a musical vibrancy, of which she herself seems to be unconscious. In all this it is easy to recognize the equipment of the born orator, and it is hard to believe that Mrs. Lease discovered her gift for public speaking by the mere accident. Such is the fact, nevertheless, and the story of how she found out that she was an orator is rather dramatic.

She was on her way to the railroad station in Wichita, Kansas, her home, one day in 1888, when one of those sudden and severe storms that occur in that part of the country came up. Seeking shelter from the rain, she entered the Grand Army hall, where a meeting was in progress. It was a gathering of farmers and representatives of organized labor for the purpose of making a remonstrance against certain mortgage and tax laws that had come to be regarded as unjust by a large part of the people. Delegates from 106 counties in the state were present. The meeting had been somewhat demoralized by the coming up of the storm, and the crowd in the hall was restless and uneasy when Mrs. Lease entered. When she appeared, some one who was acquainted with her called her by name. Others, without knowing why, took up the cry. In a few minutes the whole gathering was shouting as with one voice: Mrs. Lease! Mrs. Lease!

It was one of those demonstrations of the psychology of crowds that are as inexplicable as they are strange. Only a very few persons in that hall had ever heard of Mrs. Lease before, but only a few could see where she was sitting. Nevertheless they seemed out and all bent on making her speak. The chairman of the meeting grasped the situation quickly, and after consulting with his gavel, he shouted: "If Mrs. Lease is in the hall, she will step up to the platform."

Mrs. Lease said afterward that she regarded that statement as a sort of summons subpoena, a command not to be disobeyed. She was terribly frightened, but she arose and walked up to the platform. Those who were near enough to see noted that she was pale and trembling faintly. When she reached the platform, the chairman announced that she would speak. Now Mrs. Lease not only had never made a speech before in her whole life, but she had never thought of making such a thing. It had never occurred to her that she could make a speech, but when the chairman of the meeting said that she would speak, she thought in the excitement of the moment, that there was no way out of it, although she had no notion of what she would say. And so, pale and shaking with fright, she began to talk. She was familiar with the issues before the meeting. She had heard them discussed, and had thought about them herself. Hearing the sound of her own voice, she discovered that she had something to say. In a few minutes she had forgotten herself and the crowd, and was absorbed in her subject, and her address fairly lifted the throng off its feet.

The next day telegrams from all parts of the state came pouring in asking for Mrs. Lease to speak. That was her entrance into that remarkable campaign in Kansas which was to end in the upset of the regular political organizations in that state. In that campaign Mrs. Lease made more than 600 speeches, sometimes addressing big meetings in three different places in one day.

Mrs. Lease has no desire to hold public office, although, after the success of the popular movement in Kansas, she was prevailed upon to accept the office of president of the state board of charities, and is the first woman to have held such an office in the United States. But when a movement was started to make her United States senator, she said no. Gen. Benjamin F. Butler wrote to her that there was nothing in the Constitution of the United States to prevent her from taking a seat in the senate. If she were elected, but she still refused to be a candidate, and when the caucus met to nominate a candidate she sent word that she would not consent to the use of her name. In spite of that, however, a considerable number of votes were cast for her.

Mrs. Lease believes that women are to have a far more influential part in the public and political life of the present century than they had in that of the past century. The genius of this century, she believes, is to be as spiritual as that of the past century was material, and women consequently are to have a larger voice in the decision of the issues in the years to come. Mrs. Lease has been prominent in active politics for some years, she has followed closely the trend of political events, and is keenly interested in the issues that seem likely to be paramount in the coming national campaign; and it is not altogether unlikely that she will be heard from in the stump when the battle is joined.

The Woman Who Dismayed the Machine
Another woman who might have been United States senator is Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker of Denver, Colo. Mrs. Decker has been prominent in the politics of Colorado for a good many years and she wields a great influence in that state, which is one of the four in the Union in which women have equal suffrage with men. Mrs. Decker is a woman of large culture and great personal charm, a fine speaker, and an authority on industrial and economic questions, which she has made a lifelong study. She has been for years a leader in the club life of women in Colorado, which concerns itself with political and economic questions to an extent not equaled by the club life of women in the East. Her leadership in politics grew out of, at least was coincident with, her presidency of the Denver Woman's club. She has been president of the Greater Federation of Women's clubs, which is the national organization of Women's clubs.

Mrs. Decker has led a number of reform movements in Colorado, and has achieved some notable victories. She was one of the initiators of the pure food movement in Colorado, and was instrumental in obtaining the passage of pure food laws in that state. Those who favor the larger participation of women in politics point with pride to the pure food movement, which has now become national wide. Mrs. Decker has been prominent in the inception in Colorado and elsewhere in the United States of the industrial school for girls. She has given much thought to the problem of dealing with vagrant and wayward girls, and her solution is to give them an industrial education instead of committing them to the workhouse.

Indubitably the greatest political triumph scored by Mrs. Decker was the re-election of Judge Ben H. Lindsey in Denver in the face of the opposition of both the regular political parties. This was some years ago. Judge Lindsey, famous as a reformer of the methods of dealing with delinquent children, had incurred the displeasure of politicians on both sides of the street for his methods, and they turned him down for re-nomination. Mrs. Decker had been one of the most ardent supporters in his reform efforts, and when the politicians tried to shut him out of office, she appealed to the women. They nominated him, and he was elected. Since then there has been no question about the re-nomination of Judge Lindsey whenever an election has drawn near.

A few years ago prominent political leaders in either Republican or Democratic ranks in the United States had much to say about the possibility of women's suffrage. They were not interested in the part of women in public affairs. Mrs. Lockwood was nominated for president in 1884 and again in 1888, by the Equal Rights party. A few years ago she was a candidate for governor of New Hampshire.

Mrs. Lockwood is a practicing lawyer in Washington, D. C. She was the first woman to be admitted to practice at the bar of the United States supreme court. She has been very active and successful in agitation for laws giving equal property rights to women, and has taken a leading part in the woman's suffrage and the peace movements. She has gained distinction as a writer on arbitration, and political and social questions.

A woman who has done real work in politics is Mrs. Judith Ellen Foster of Washington, D. C. She achieved national fame as a Republican campaign orator, and was for some time on the staff of the Republican national committee, to which she rendered valuable service, not only as a speaker, but as an organizer. Mrs. Foster is a lawyer. Before removing to Washington, she practiced her profession for a number of years in Iowa. She was one of the leaders of the Women's Christian Temperance Union and was for years superintendent of the legislative department of that organization.

Mrs. Francis Squire Potter, who is a reformer of the management of the University of Minnesota, has given much time to political work. She is one of the originators of the political settlement idea, and has been invited to many of the settlements in the country to superintend the establishment of such settlements in those places.

A somewhat similar work is being done by Mrs. H. P. Decker of New York, who is prominent as a leader in the woman's suffrage movement.

Another woman who helped to settle the strike is Miss Mary McDowell, who is well known as an organizer of bound up in politics, practically speaking, no one who tried to bring about reforms in such matters is pretty sure to bump up against political opposition. This is the experience of Miss Florence Kelley, who has for several years been national secretary of the National Consumers league. As secretary of that organization, Miss Kelley has conducted many legislative campaigns, and has succeeded in obtaining the passage of a number of laws embodying the economic reforms which are the object of that organization. Her work requires her to address legislative bodies and committees frequently, and she always gets an attentive hearing, as she is an eloquent speaker.

Miss Kelley has been a student of economic conditions for a good many years, and before she began her present work she had practical experience in the enforcement of economic legislation, having been for several years state inspector of factories in Illinois.

Women took a prominent part in the campaign for the initiative and referendum in Oregon in 1894-95, and several became prominent as effective platform orators. Those who gained distinction in this way were Mrs. Sophronia Lustig, Mrs. Lucille, one of the leaders in the movement, and Miss Florence Olsen, one of whom made many addresses during the contest and contributed very appreciably to the success of the reform movement.

Miss Jane Addams of Hull House, Chicago, although, strictly speaking, she may not be "in politics," certainly has an influence that is felt in the political directions. It is said that no civic enterprise or reform of any importance is undertaken in Chicago without Miss Addams being consulted, and that her opinion frequently counts for as much as do the wishes of political leaders.

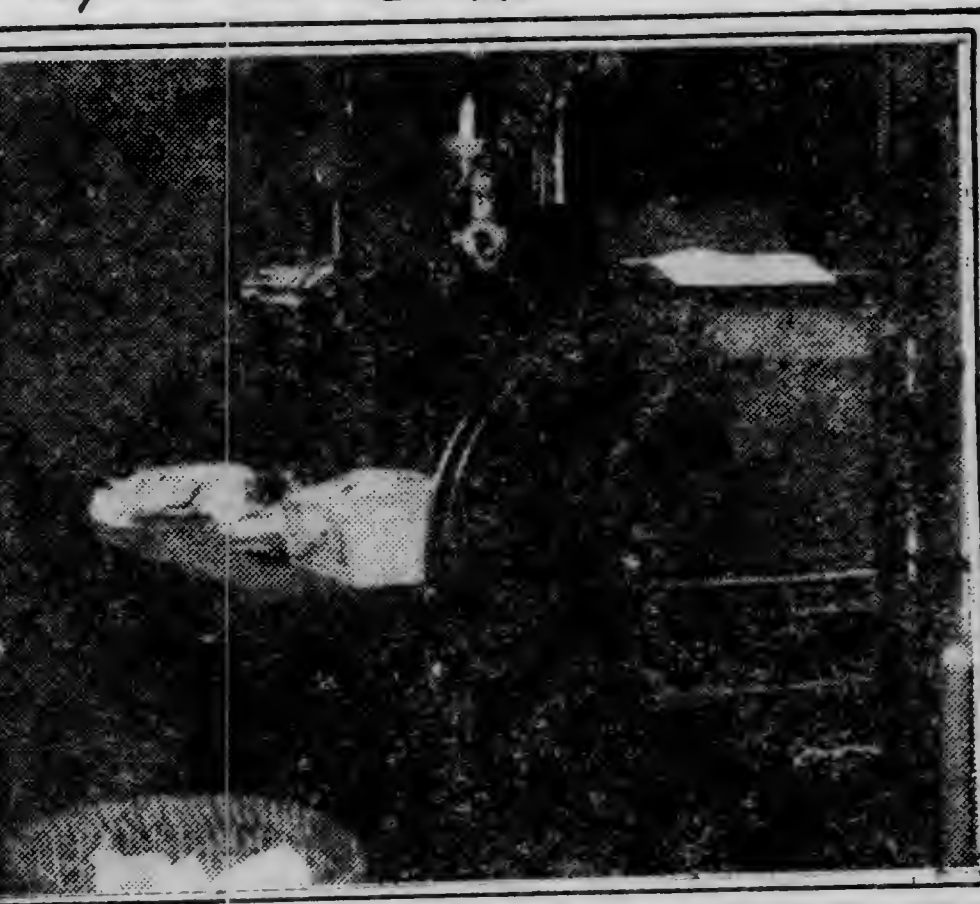

Several women in Chicago who have attained prominence through work in the social and political directions are in Chicago. There is, for instance, Miss Margaret A. Hays, who has recently become a member of the Chicago Federation of Labor, which has recently been successful in making public utility corporations pay franchise taxes. She came to make that fight through her championship of the teachers, whose salaries have been cut. When she voiced a protest in their behalf, she was informed that the revenues from taxation were not sufficient to warrant maintaining the teachers' salaries at the former level. That set her to investigating and she presently came to the conclusion that there would be money enough if the public utility corporations were compelled to pay all they ought to in franchise taxes. She went to the courts and obtained a mandamus to compel the proper authorities to act, with the result that the revenues were increased by some millions of dollars.

Miss Julia Lathrop gained distinction as a reformer of the management of the state charities in Illinois, and she has served as a member of the state board of education in that state. Dr. Cornelia De Bey, who is a practicing physician, is another woman whose influence has been felt in public affairs in Illinois. Her special field has been in the management of the board of education in Chicago, and she was instrumental in securing the settlement of the great stockyard strike in 1907.

Another woman who helped to settle the strike is Miss Mary McDowell, who is well known as an organizer of band's candidacy. It was not believed at first that Littleton, a Democrat, had much chance of winning in Col. Roosevelt's own congressional district, but after Mrs. Littleton had taken the stump for her husband, his prospects began to brighten. Her eloquence, her clear, appealing to the voters individually, and making short but effective speeches in her husband's behalf. Her campaign was regarded by seasoned politicians as very clever and brilliant.

The Rev. Caroline Bartlett Crane, who is a Unitarian minister, has done much work of a semi-political nature during the last few years. While initiated a number of successful reforms in municipal administration, especially in relation to street cleaning, and she has been retained by many municipalities since as an expert in "municipal housecleaning."

From that time on, the challenge has been met. It is said that she more than made good her promise by her singing in her present production, "The Song of the Lark," in which she will appear at the Lyceum theatre. Her husband, it is said, that Robert Macquatte, the famous French composer of the score for "The Song of the Lark," is one of the most charming music that has been written in the past. The "Lark" is said to be the best of the kind of "Manomet" enjoyed a highly prosperous run at the Herald Square theatre, New York, last winter.

Arrangements have been completed for the appearance of Gracie's husband in the production of "The Fortune Hunter" to be seen at the Lyceum theatre. Gracie's husband, Fred Niblo, will again essay the title role, and he is said to be giving his celebrated characterization.

SHE IS THE FRIEND OF THE HORSE

A WOMAN WHO TURNED RANDOLPH MARKET UPSIDE DOWN TO PROTECT CHICAGO'S BLACK BEAUTIES

Mrs. FRED W. PACKARD

It is not until one has passed through the phases of cruelty and movements to the established certainty of an institution of civilization, that the work and personality of Mrs. Packard of Chicago, who has been known as "the friend of the horse," have become known to the public. The work and personality of Mrs. Packard have been known to the public for many years, but it is not until one has passed through the phases of cruelty and movements to the established certainty of an institution of civilization, that the work and personality of Mrs. Packard of Chicago, who has been known as "the friend of the horse," have become known to the public.

She is quiet but determined. For Mrs. Packard is a determined woman, for all that she is a quiet one. In her charming home on North Clark street, in the midst of an environment that shuts out the heat and dust and strife of the city, Mrs. Packard seems the last woman one would expect to lead a successful crusade in behalf of any cause, so essentially pean capitals and are heralded as the season's latest importation. As the added attraction, the popular favorites, Dolph and Sussie Levine are returning to the Empress in what they call a musical tete-a-tete, "The Rival Arts." The offering is brand new but they will also amuse with some of their old songs and selections which made them so popular on previous visits. Mr. and Mrs. Levine have received the plaudits of vaudeville patrons for many years, but it is said their performance still gleams with a snap and vim and it is predicted that they will make a deeper impression than on any other occa-

feminine is she in manner and interests. But with the mention of cruelty to horses her pleasant eyes kindle. "I know that it has seemed strange for a woman to constitute herself a police force and a humane society in behalf of the suffering of horses," she explained, "but some one had to do the work. After my interest in the anti-cruelty work had been aroused I saw the absolute necessity of having some one look after places where thousands of horses were brought together, either in the need of trade, as on South Water street, for trading and sale, as at the Randolph street market. There was no one available for the work, and from a temporary interest in looking after these points until some one officially authorized could take them I came into the certainty that it was my duty to look after these poor horses—till some one could relieve me. And I'm there yet."

Mrs. Packard's work is so divided that she has not a day to herself. Her day is an eight-hour day of seven days a week. Two days a week she goes to the Randolph street horse market, where her appearance is the signal for comments from disgruntled traders about women who ever venture within the boundaries of a horse market—where women are not welcomed at any time. So violent did the opposition of her work become that she had to appeal to the police for protection.

They have a line of patter which is high, amusing and Mr. Levine's harp selections and cartoon work will be welcomed as before. Their little specialty contains enough charm to please the most exacting vaudeville enthusiast.

The moving pictures will be especially selected and will be in keeping with this excellent bill. Matinee daily at 2:45. Evenings at 8 and 9:30. Seats may be reserved one week in advance by either phone or ticket agent. Children's matinee very Saturday at 2:30. All scholars under 12 years of age admitted for 5 cents. It is possible that the inimitable Shaw may be induced to give some lectures while in this country, and he may be further induced, in that event, to come to our own fair city, where he has been the subject of much discussion.

Marie Tempest is to be presented in one of Arnold Bennett's plays, "The Honey Moon." The play is to be produced in London this week by Dion Boucicault. Miss Tempest in the principal role.

Rose Stahl says, in an interview that she is strong for a healthy millionaire case is a flagrant one. "All the old horses in the country seem to arrive there eventually," she says. Mrs. Packard's devotion to the cause dates back only a few years, when an incident in the neighborhood aroused her to action. Mrs. Packard told the tale in explaining her entrance into the work.

"My first experience was horrible, so dreadful I forgot myself. A horse attached to a small wagon had fallen in the alley just back of our house. The man was trying to get it up. When I first saw him he was twisting and pulling its tail, and I rushed downstairs and told him he must stop. He began swearing at me and telling me to mind my own business, and I told him that was just what I was doing."

A feminine David Harum. Then he began twisting the animal's tongue. At that I called to a neighbor to telephone to the police. He only stopped his efforts to raise the horse when an officer approached. While waiting I noticed a piece of burly attached to the animal's shoulder. I attempted to raise it, but the man tried to prevent me. I finally succeeded in lifting it, and the sight of that shoulder I shall never forget. Take my word for it, when you see a piece of burly Harrison Gray, Fluke has engaged Joseph Kilgour and Shelley Hull for important parts in Langdon Mitchell's comedy, "The New Marriage." In which Mrs. Fluke will appear in October. Mr. Mitchell has arrived from Europe to be present at the rehearsals.

Robert Hilliard, after an opening month in the East, will go straight to the Pacific coast with "A Fool There Was," which has not yet been played west of St. Louis. Upon his return to

New York next spring he will produce a new American play.

George Behan has worked his pretty little vaudeville sketch "The Sign of the Cross" into a four-act play, with himself in his former role of a Italian workman. The play has been tried out in Atlanta and is now in St. Louis.

Mr. Behan has the role of Pietro Massena, an Italian laborer. He enters the home of a wealthy family on Christmas eve on an errand. A neighbor do-well uncle abducts the only child of the family, and the Italian is suspected.

The second act shows Massena at supper with his hostess, who is planning their own humble Christmas. The younger goes out to buy a gift for the mother and father, who are in the automobile driven by the father of the stolen child. The third act shows Massena coming to a place in his head.

He is a broken home where he meets the abductor, who has restored the child to her mother. The play closes with Massena and the reformed thief starting on their wayward journey to Massena's native land. The cast includes Marie Pavey, George Banks and Edna May Howell.

Mary Shaw, who has been playing the title role in "Mother," is to conclude her engagement with a new play for the use of this season of Miss May Irwin, who last year was added to the long list of this firm's stars.

Some time ago, in the regular course there reached the offices of Liebler & Co., in the Century theater, the manuscript of a play bearing on the front cover the inscription "Mrs. Thompson." There was a 300-word scenario on the first page. George C. Tyler, lessee of the theater, liked the brief summary. He liked the complete play summary. A telegram was sent to Miss Irwin at her home in New York, and she cut short her vacation to come down to New York and read the play, which Mr. Tyler thought was made to order for her peculiar ability in the way of a laugh.

Miss Irwin read "Mrs. Thompson" and was as enthusiastic as her manager. A cablegram was sent to Miss Thompson, who is in Switzerland, asking her to play. So far as known by Liebler & Co., Miss Thompson never wrote a play before.

him to the seller. The latter invariably refused, but always compromised by keeping $30 and the horse. And so the trade went on till a horse trader from India recognized the value of the horse and refused to be influenced by the confederate's insistence. The confederate grew so enraged that he struck the buyer. Then the police came, the game was exposed and the horse owner sentenced to a term in Joliet. Oh, David Harum was an infant compared to some of these traders."

Working as a free lance, without official connection with either the Humane or the Anti-Cruelty societies, but representing the ideals of both, Mrs. Packard has recently incorporated the Society of Humane Friends, embracing a field that covers the principal points where neglected or sick horses are likely to appear.

Within the last year she has brought into the municipal courts over 200 cases of cruelty to horses. In the majority of which she secured convictions, the fines amounting to hundreds of dollars. In all these cases she personally prosecuted the complaint.

Nor has she confined her efforts to punishment of transgressors. Mrs. Packard's crusade has been one of education as well as of prosecution. She has organized three clubs—the Teamsters' Humane union, the Chicago Messenger Boys' Humane association and the Ghetto Boys' club—all for the purpose of educating men and boys to be kind to the horses.

The Teamsters' Humane union has nearly 1,000 members, all of whom are the friends and allies to Mrs. Packard in their humane treatment not only of their own horses but of all horses coming under their observation. All the drivers who belong to this association wear its badge, a button bearing a horse's head in order to stimulate activity and real service in the cause. Mrs. Packard gives every year a $5 gold piece to the teamster who during the year has turned in the most complaints of cruelty to horses, and smaller sums to the next four in number of complaints.

Messenger Boys Her Aids. In addition to the Teamsters' Humane union, Mrs. Packard has organized and is directing the union of the messenger boys, who are pledged to notice and report to her violations of the city ordinance governing cruelty to horses. The West Side club, organized by Mrs. Packard, has been a potent agency in forcing the care of horses that otherwise would be ill-treated.

Among the other concrete examples of Mrs. Packard's work is the completion of the new incline at the Kinzie street bridge for years one of the most difficult spots in the city for teaming, and the extensive reform that she has effected on South Water street, where thousands of horses congregate daily.

On South Water street her humane activities have even inspired the president of the Commission Team Owners' association to verse in praise of her humane work.

This is the record of one woman's work, a work inspired by an honest humanity and a desire to alleviate suffering. Mrs. Packard sets a value on the definite results of her labor, neglecting to take into account the wider educational influence in humanitarianism among the hundreds of men and boys whom she has inspired with the feeling of kindness and thoughtfulness toward the overworked, overburdened horses of the city streets.

Sows" arranged in miniature for vaudeville.

Eva Tanquary is to leave vaudeville and go to the head of a musical comedy under the direction of F. Ziegfeld, Jr. She claims vaudeville is too strenuous.

Tim Murphy has begun his season in "The New Code," which he will use until the new year, when he is to produce a new modern comedy by Paul Wilstach, author of the spectacular dramatic version of "Thais."

May Robson, in collaboration with Charles T. Dacey, has completed the new play in which she is to appear this season. It is a comedy called "Three Lights," and deals in a humorous way with the subject of heredity. Miss Robson's company will include Jack St. John, George C. Gwynne, Eugene Ormandy, John Rowe, Faye Cusick, Lotta Blanka, Belle Starr, Lenora Phelps and Flowers.

For the principal role in "Jingaboo," John Cort has engaged Emma Carmi. The book of "Jingaboo" has been written by Leo Dittichstein from his own farce, "Before and After." The lyrics are by Vincent Bryan and the score by Arthur Pryor.

Miss Helen Ware, starring in "The Dice," it is said, is to be married. Miss Ware admits it, but will not say who the man is. Nor will she say anything about the time and place.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

Walter Damrosch has composed a comic opera. He worked on it during vacation this summer and expects to have it ready for production this winter. According to a statement recently made the score is to contain twenty-four musical numbers, in which the composer has aimed at simplicity of form and melody. The book is by Wallace Irving and the title of the piece will be "The Dove of Peace." The scenes are laid in the country and on the island of Guam during the Spanish war.

George Bernard Shaw, the original and only paradox manufacturing playwright, is to visit America. This has been threatened for some time, and now it is announced definitely. He is to appear over to witness the success of his latest play, "Penny's First Play," which has been quite a success in London, where it is being played at the Little theater, a burlesque playhouse seating 300 people. The Good Ship Football Launched Today—Rogers Holds a Grip Party—Abe Attell Is Coming Back.

(BY BRUCE.)

WHILE this afternoon is a lean matinee as far as the Western football games are concerned, those of us in this part of the state who follow the gridiron pastime with interest, will have an interest in the outcome of the contest between the Gophers and Ames.

While there should be little doubt over the outcome of the game, the showing of the Williams cohorts in the first contest of the season will be of interest, and will also be mildly indicative of what may be expected from the old gold and maroon squad the present season.

Conditions, that means in the present case back work to be made up in studies, have been obstacles in the development of the early team work. Some of the men that Grandpa Williams is relying upon have been digging in the class room, in classic lore and dry matter, instead of into the mud of the gridiron. Should these men come out of the mental sweat tripping, the outlook for a standard Minnesota team is said to be bright.

But if "cons" keep some of the best men out of the fray the present season, the Gophers may fail to come up to the high mark established by the 1910 team, for there is not the least argument in the world but that Minnesota did have a great eleven last season.

Ohio State, a strong team, just below the caliber of the real great teams of the West, has a small game scheduled, but neither Michigan or Wisconsin has a game, nor has the University of Chicago a game for this afternoon.

Should the Gophers roll up a large score against the husky farmers from the Iowa Agricultural school, it will indicate surprising strength for Minnesota for so early a period of the season. On the other hand, should the Ames aggregation succeed in holding the Williams machine to a low score, it will not indicate weakness on the part of the Gophers, but will rather mean that the smaller college has made extraordinary preparations for one of its big games of the season.

Minnesota regards Ames as a foe to be respected, but the first game of the season is simply one of the mile marks of the preparatory stage. The Minnesota game is a big one to Ames and not a big contest for Minnesota. Ames is very liable to train with all the determination in the world to be right for this contest, and the same thing certainly would not hold with the larger college team. Football throughout the land will be fairly pushed down the skids and into the big ocean of activity. Today is the real lunching afternoon of the season. From now on critics and those deeply interested in the game will watch with absorbing interest the development of the different teams, their interest growing the keener as the time for the big final games of the season approaches.

YANKEE ROGERS has a hand the size of a ham. He was born down on a farm in Vermont yonder and his strength and size of hands was developed along the same general line as the manner in which Evan Lewis and Frank A. Gotch gained their strength.

Yesterday morning at the St. Louis hotel a crowd of interested spectators were standing around the big New England chap, asking him his opinion of the outcome of the match tonight, his opinions of Gotch and Zbyszko, and a hundred other questions, when some one walked up and saluted the Yankee, asking in a loud and familiar voice if the big wrestler didn't remember him.

The Rogers rogue gave him a grip of the hand that made his inquisitive friend almost sink to his knees. The crowd gave him the merry laugh. The little stranger took it very good naturedly, and told the Vermont to squeeze the fellow he was going to introduce to him, even harder.

Soon he came trailing back with a "friend," and introduced him to the big wrestler. This fellow got an even harder grip from the muscular mitt of the grappler. The crowd had increased by this time and the fellow got the laugh good and hard. He too went in search of some fellow he could have the same stunt worked on. Before the meeting broke up about fifteen fellows had had their hands squeezed in the vice-like grip of the New England husky.

If Yankee Rogers gets that bone-crushing grip of his on one of Pilakoff's tootsie wootsies, there may be trouble in store for the giant Finn, immense of strength as he is.

IN the fight situation there is a great deal of interest at the present time regarding the future movements of Abe Attell, a small fighting machine of a man with the mind of a wizard. He has been going on through the years, wholly disregarding the ravages of time that usually lay firm hold upon other fighters and yank them firmly from the championship roost.

In the featherweight division there has been exceeding activity upon the Pacific coast these last few months. There is Joe Rivers, the Mexican boy, the same fighter whom Jack London wrote a thinly disguised story of in a recent issue of one of the current magazines. There is Johnny Kilbane, there is Frankie Conley and there is also Patsy Kline.

Uncle Tom McCarey has been holding a sort of series of elimination contests. The little Mexican boy had been licking all of the other little chaps who journeyed to the Golden West in eager search of fame and increasing pocket book, when suddenly the wise ones on the coast had all their calculations upset by the wholly unexpected knockout of Rivers at the hands of Johnny Kilbane.

They had been led to believe that Rivers was invincible, simply unbeatable. He had been given one of those California decisions over Kilbane in a previous fight, and then the Cleveland boy comes back and puts the "ko" over on the pride of Los Angeles.

Before this Rivers had beaten Coster and several other good boys, and many fans were so jubilantly enthusiastic that they were wondering what the Mexican would do to Abe Attell, should the modern old master care to come out and defend his title.

Rivers will have to lick Kilbane again before he can ask Attell for a championship fight. The cat may look at the king, perhaps, but not even beg for favors. Rumors from that gay center of life and lights, New York, has it that the little Hebrew needs the money. That means more fighting for Abie. If he is as good as he was in the days before his shoulder was injured, it is probable that he will walk through the ranks of the featherweights, for Abe Attell was, and maybe is, one of the greatest fighters that the ring has ever fondly smiled upon.

HARVARD CAPTAIN WILL PLAY TACKLE

CAPT. FISHER OF HARVARD.

The outlook for football at Harvard this year is much better than the coaches expected. There is plenty of material to choose from. The chief problem will be to develop an entirely new rushline. The only regular forwards left from 1910 are Capt. Fisher, the right guard, who contemplates playing tackle this fall, and L. D. Smith, the right end. Capt. Fisher has played tackle at Andover. He is 23 years old and weighs 194 pounds. He is reported in excellent condition and is already at work helping the coaches develop the players. Harvard is the last of the Big Four to report for football practice. This week the work was devoted almost entirely to handball practice. Next week the work will be taken up next week.

to a 4-to-4 tie here yesterday, darkness stopping the game. It was a struggle, with Tyler holding down the hits but being troubled with passes. Gaspar was hit hard, but was effective with men on the bases. The game will be played off today in the form of a double-header. Kirtke was put off the grounds in the tenth for disputing a decision, while Donlin and Tyler were ordered off the field in the last half of the same inning for the same cause. Score: R. H. E. INDIANA AND DEPAUV MEET IN FIRST GAME.

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 30.—Indiana and Depauv universities opened their respective football seasons on Jordan field this afternoon. The two teams are practically new and the coaches, "Cotton" Bennett of Depauv, coach, and a pupil of "Jimmy" Shelden of Indiana, do not know how their men will act in the first real game of the season, but both predict a hard-fought contest.

CUBS CLING TO DESPERATE HOPE

Will Try to Make It Four Straight From the Giants.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—While New York is planning to hold the world's championship series with the Philadelphia American league baseball team, the national baseball commission is preparing a schedule for the event, the Chicago club of the National league is gathering itself for a last desperate effort to wrest the league title from New York, which is now 5 1/2 games in the lead for the pennant. The first move in this struggle is the game scheduled for Chicago and New York this afternoon. Two games of the series of four were played Wednesday and Thursday and the other two are slated for today and tomorrow. Chicago has won both games played and while Manager Chance hoped to make it four straight, Manager McGraw of New York believed that the Eastern team would be able to split even.

Following yesterday's pause in the crucial series, the men who were stiffened by the rain that fell on them Thursday found today a rather crisp temperature. Each team seemed confident before the battle. New York has only to win seven of its fourteen remaining games to clinch the pennant, even if Chicago wins all its nine games. Seven of New York's games are with Brooklyn, which the leaders have repeatedly defeated. Brooklyn also is largely responsible for the present almost hopeless position of Chicago, having defeated Chicago thirteen times in twenty-two games.

MOTOR BOAT LOSES IN FREAK RACE

Hydro-Aeroplane Defeats R. C. Pryor's Fast Craft at Houghton.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 30.—A Curtiss hydro-aeroplane, driven by C. C. Witmer, defeated R. C. Pryor's 25-foot motorboat, said to be the fastest craft of its kind in the world, around a three-mile circular course on Portage lake yesterday.

With a strong wind behind the hydro-aeroplane, skimming over the water at a rate of forty miles an hour, easily distanced the motorboat during the first part of the race, but this advantage was lost on the turn and the boat took the lead. Witmer could not overtake the boat while in the water, so he shot into the air and crossed the finish line fifty yards in the lead. Witmer's rising out of the water violated one of the conditions of the race, it was said. The motorboat made a speed of thirty-six miles an hour.

ROWING RACE CARD.

Finals in Doubles on Rowing Program for the Afternoon.

With the finals this afternoon in the doubles and the quadruple shell race, the season of rowing here in Duluth will come to a close. Kent and Quinn will meet Thorburn and O'Donnell in the final heats of the doubles and a pretty race is expected.

The singles with Fack, L'Strange and Thorburn in the final, will be either pulled off this afternoon or Monday afternoon. The eight oared race will come tomorrow morning. It is also stated that the race may be arranged between Cliff Thorburn and Louis Thompson. Both Lathrup and Thompson hold that they are faster than Thorburn and O'Donnell, despite the victory of the latter, and say that it was their boat that defeated them.

Thorburn and O'Donnell hold that it was not the boat but the rowing that caused the unexpected downfall of Lathrup and Thompson and state that they are perfectly willing to repeat the trick, just for the satisfaction of their defeated rivals. There is really, after all, nothing like rivalry for rowing as well as for making, and a great deal of interest will be banked on the result of another race.

CALIFORNIA CROWD FOR NATIVE SON.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 30.—Frankie Burns of Oakland and Matty Baldwin of Boston fought twenty rounds to a draw here last night. The fight was fast and Baldwin was considerably battered. The decision was not popular, the majority of the spectators expressing the opinion that the fight should have gone to Burns.

SERIES MAY BEGIN EARLY

Commission Considers World's Championship Games But Postpones Action.

Ty Cobb Fined $100 for Playing With Independent Team.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 30.—Members of the national baseball commission met here yesterday but were unable to decide upon schedules for the world's championship. It was intimated that the opening game of the series may be played earlier than Oct. 13.

The matter of the opening date is said to hinge on the moving up of games scheduled for Oct. 12 in the National league between New York and Brooklyn, Cincinnati and Chicago, and Boston and Philadelphia.

August Herman, president of the commission, when asked to make an advanced statement said: "I cannot say anything now. The commission has taken no steps in this matter."

Several findings were promulgated by the commission. Ty Cobb of the Detroit club was fined $100 for participation in a game with a semi-professional team playing Sunday baseball. The team was the Lennox Oval of New York City.

The application of the Pittsburgh club relative to a rehearing of the Cravath case was denied. In the contention of the Detroit club against the Montgomery club relative to player Leivell, the player was awarded to Detroit. In the contention between the Shreveport club and the Philadelphia club, the matter was postponed for May 2 was turned over to the Shreveport club while the player was awarded to Philadelphia.

The claim of the Savannah club against the Chicago Nationals relative to Murphy Miller was denied, but President Murphy of the Chicago Nationals was fined $50 for his part in the transaction. The claim of Player Madden for salary from the Boston Americans and the Toledo American association team was denied.

OLD MASTER HAD GREAT PUNCH

Gans Holds Record in Record to Number of Knockouts.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Critics have raved about the horrors imparted by a punch from the fist of a Sullivan, a Walcott, a Ketchel or a Fitzsimmons, but, although this quartet of big fellows had the knock that concludes the show long before its regular time, they did not hurl over the final dose with the unceasing consistency of Joe Gans, the little fighter now dead.

A year ago the former champ, but then a physical wreck, was brought from the Arizona wilds to Baltimore in the express car of a fast mail train. He was on his way to Baltimore to die, and he wanted to draw his last breath in the presence of his relatives. His attendants on the train feared lest he should expire before he got to his home town. He was but the shadow of a man, tuberculosis having done its work, and his body had weakened until breath came in quick, short gasps. But he reached Baltimore alive and pulled away there soon after his arrival.

That ghastly object with hollow cheeks and sunken eyes had once been Joe Gans, the "old master" of the lightweights, and the champion Knockout of all time.

Fifty-two Down for Count. Gans put more men down for ten seconds than any other battler that ever waltzed into a ring. Fifty-two of 'em in all. A record that may stand for all time. Of course he had plenty of time in which to build up the mortgage, for he was fighting eighteen years. And oftener than that old patriarch, Bob Fitzsimmons.

Many of Gans' knock-outs came during his early career, as is frequently the case. Nearly every boy who amounts to anything, barring those who are especially favored by nature, was a knock-out in the days of youth and inexperience where the first punch generally is a forecast of the end.

Gans, however, not only dropped his opponents in the starting stage, but he kept it up through the years, a fact that would tend to show that the great negro was a methodical ringster and always had some certain blow in view after he had sized up the man in front of him.

Here is the Baltimorean's record of "certains" during his life in the ring: 1891-2-3-4, 8; 1895, 5; 1896, 5; 1897, 3; 1898, 2; 1899, 7; 1900, 5; 1901, 3; 1902, 3; 1903, 0; 1904, 1; 1905, 0; 1906, 1; 1907, 2; 1908, 3.

Ryan Next to Gans. While the Boston terror, Sam Langford, is battering everybody against the ropes, one will be surprised to learn that Samuel does not rank next to Gans as a dead hitter. Tommy Ryan, and not Langford, had the next biggest list of dead ones attached to his catalogue. The ex-middleweight and welterweight champion tossed forty-four bodies upon the mat in his time. Langford's record is forty, and he comes third.

For the length of his ring existence, Stanley Ketchel might be rated as the greatest man killer, but there are no figures from which to build an argument. There's no telling what he might have done had destiny shaped another course for him or if he had lived. Ketchel had thirty knockouts in seven years.

Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, that wise boxer of Slowtown, who tried to turn back the hands of the clock recently and was given a severe beating for his lack of prudence, amassed thirty-eight decisive victories while in activity.

SOME HYDROPHOBICS--BY THE DOG

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

England's one best bet, running strong and looking safe in the lead, with only 70 yards to go, was crawled Sheppard on Wilson. The son of Uncle Sam got on even terms with the British boy. No one can gainsay that Wilson did not accept the challenge like a man. The Briton's spirit showed in the van-kee's jump. Again Sheppard tried and again Wilson fought him off. Once more, about 25 yards from the worsted, Sheppard made an attempt to pass Wilson and once more he failed. "Fifteen yards to go! No chance, no chance for Sheppard!" I groaned.

Suddenly Mel gathered himself together and hurled himself past Wilson. Back came the Briton and three strides from the tape the pair were racing neck and neck. "One final desperate lunge and the chest that carried the Old Glory shield crossed the line ahead of the breast that bore the British ensign. Sheppard had won. For the first time in an Olympic meet the Englishman was humbled in a race thought distinctively their own distance. Ye gods! but what a race!"

NATIONAL LEAGUE IS AFTER LYNCH'S SCALP

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 30.—Thomas J. Lynch has, in all probability, been elected for the last time as president of the National league. A bitter fight will be waged against him at the league meeting in December, does he aspire to succeed himself. That fight, while it might not be led by President Barney Dreyfuss of the Pittsburgh baseball club, will undoubtedly be supported by him. Mr. Dreyfuss is against Lynch.

It has been known for some time that the league executive's actions haven't met with the approval of the Pittsburgh club officials. Exceptions have been taken on a number of occasions, but by Lynch—decisions, it is said, that were in direct contradiction to the league constitution, but at the time, no action was taken to force Lynch to show cause. Now, however, a showdown has been called. The action of President Tom in turning down the Pittsburgh club's protests of the extra games played a week ago Sunday in Chicago and Chicago has aroused Mr. Dreyfuss' ire and he has declared that Lynch must stand or fall on this point. In other words, the league chief must either prove his constitutionality or be ousted. Lynch, it is said, is exceeding the authority vested in him.

Constitution Is Violated. The protests were entered because the constitution says that when the league executive has open dates, no double-header shall be played. There was an open date on which the second game of Sunday was played. President Lynch knew this. If he didn't, he should have known that the league had known it. It should have known, too, that it was illegal for Chicago and Chicago and Philadelphia to indulge in a double-header a week ago Sunday. He knew, or should have known, what the constitution said on this point. If he didn't know, the contention of those opposed to him—that he is incompetent—would be well founded. When President Dreyfuss was approached last night by the subject, what action he intends to take in the matter, he protested that he had nothing to say. "Wait until the baseball season is over," he said. "Wait until the league meeting in December."

"But," it was argued, "you have been one would be inclined to sit back in a comfortable chair and spend the afternoon chucking at this latest piece of failure to conduct the affairs of a league that went through a season filled with many difficulties."

WHAT CLASS IS MINNY IN?

Magnates Awake to Fact That League Is Not in Class "C."
Failure to Comply With Rules May Mean Money Loss.

It is a strange fact, but true, that the Minny league officials at the present time do not know what class they are in. If it did not mean the loss of money to some of the magnates, it would be so funny that players and owners could laugh until their sides ached with merry jubilation. It has been supposed all season that the Minnesota-Wisconsin league was in class "C" category, and being in such a class would mean that the league would come to $500,000, get into class "C" to which this league was eligible because of population, it would have received an additional payment of money to the national commission. All season the club owners were in with the game and airy assumption that President Frank R. Force had forwarded the additional $10 for each club of the league. Now the magnates awake to the funny fact that they have been in class "D" all season, because the money was not forwarded to the national commission.

To the local club, if the matter cannot be straightened out, will mean a loss of $200. Elsewhere went up from here. If we are in class "D" his draft price will be $200. If we are in class "C" he is worth $500 to Desmond and Dr. McChen.

Mr. Force says he did not receive the notice from Secretary Farrell of the national commission. On the other hand the secretary of the commission says the letter instructing Mr. Force to send the money was forwarded, and exhibits a copy of the letter in substantiation of the claim.

It comes right down to two things—either President Frank R. Force neglected to attend to this matter and kept the Minny league in class "D" all season, or the national commission is wrong.

If the matter cannot be straightened out, it means that every club owner in the league who has had a player drafted, will lose $200 on the deal.

This comes as a pretty hard blow to the shiftness management of the Minnesota-Wisconsin league. It is up to the magnates to make a thorough investigation of the facts in the case. It is nothing less than a matter of more to be condemned if due to neglect, that magnates should be compelled to lose good hard earned money through shiftness inattention to business upon the part of some one.

The blame for this burlesque of business should be laid on the shoulders of those who have had a player drafted, and that someone had to know that such conduct in baseball has no place in the way a game is conducted, or should be conducted today.

If it were not too serious a matter,

AUTOMOBILE NO LONGER CONSIDERED AS MERE PLEASURE VEHICLE ITS PRACTICAL VALUE HAS BEEN DEMONSTRATED IN DULUTH

The automobile is no longer a mere pleasure vehicle in Duluth. It is coming into general use for many different purposes and a new auto or delivery wagon is no longer noticed.

From all standpoints the new system is an improvement over the old. The service is quicker and cheaper and the filth that used to accumulate on the streets and blow up in the faces of pedestrians at every gust of wind, spreading disease germs, is less noticeable.

The police have found their auto patrol a great improvement over the old system. They can get to any point in the city more promptly and many times has the value of the auto been proven when a quick run was to be made. The officers say that they could not now get along without the patrol. The same is true of the big touring car. Many times it has carried the officers to the scene of a crime before the man wanted would have time to get away. At night, when the cars are running at infrequent intervals, it is the only available means of transportation.

The trial of automobiles for use in the fire department has been a big success. Just the other night the Lakeside department had a run to the Scott-Graff fire in less than half the time it used to take with the horses. Besides, the automobile was not exhausted when it arrived at the fire and was ready for another run on its return.

Nearly every mercantile establishment of any importance in the city does at least a part of its delivery work with auto trucks. These are large or small according to the class of trucking to be done. The smallest is of the type shown in the picture, while the larger ones are used to haul anything from groceries to heavy iron rails. Both for the light and heavy delivery work the truck has proved practical.

And for pleasure, too, the automobile is used a great deal more than the horse and buggy these days. The latter, in fact, have become almost obsolete for pleasure purposes. Since the automobile became common there has been but little business for liveries. They say they will have to put in automobiles or go out of business.

All this does not mean there is no longer need for the horse. He is still needed as there is work in plenty for him to do. He is as expensive as ever, but he is being used more these days for work in the woods and on the farm.

ROADS ARE IMPROVED

About $100,000 Spent Between Twin Cities and Helena, Mont.

Road Improvement Was Direct Result of Tour By Automobilists.

Probably $100,000 worth of good roads improvements resulted from the Twin City-Helena automobile tour, which was run in connection with the world's original automobile hotel train, in July of this year. This unique train, furnishing sleeping and eating accommodations for the automobilists, practically ran empty during the daytime, being stopped at noon and night controls for the motorists.

Louis W. Hill, president of the Great Northern railway, laughingly remarked that it was a losing proposition from a passenger traffic standpoint. But, Mr. Hill is a good roads enthusiast and he furnished the hotel train as a means of establishing the first real co-operation between the railways and automobilists for road improvements.

This automobile tour, as a result of the hotel train feature and the vast amount of good roads improvement resulting, probably was the only unique motor tour held during 1911. The distance from the Twin Cities to Helena is about 1,300 miles.

Lewis and Clark county won the Lewis W. Hill trophy offered for the highway most improved for the Twin City-Helena tour.

The road traveled in Lewis and Clark county was for the greater part in a narrow rocky canyon, through a forest in the main range of the Rocky mountains.

The pass provides barely room enough for the Great Northern railway and a lively mountain stream. The country there is rugged and remains, after the railroad and the river have the right of way.

In 1908, as on former occasions, the river on a rampage usurped both the ground of road by the railroad and the road for lumber traffic and hardly a vestige of either was left for miles.

The cost to the county for rebuilding this section of the road was $35,000. It is a grade of continuous ups and downs, in many cases clinging to the rocky sides of the canyon and apparently overhanging the railroad many feet below. As one tourist expressed it "she had never traveled before on a road over the tree tops."

This canyon requires constant attention by the authorities to keep in a passable condition. From the time the road was opened in 1908, it has been kept smooth and in trim for the event.

The constant agitation of the press and the incentive of the air to the county officials in charge of the highway to expend much money in repairing and rebuilding other roads leading from Helena that would possibly be used by the tourists.

Five new bridges were built; forty-two small bridges were rebuilt and repaired; new iron culverts replaced wood to about 100 in number.

Sixty-four miles of road were graded, ditched and gravelled.

Two hundred and fifty miles of road were dragged, smoothed and repaired. In short, the incentive of the air to win the "Hill Trophy" advanced the good roads proposition in that county 100 per cent.

As a result of the Twin City-Helena motor tour, work also was rushed on the scenic highway linking Yellowstone and Glacier National parks.

The highway is 450 miles, extending from the Yellowstone up through Missoula and following the old Lewis and Clark trail. Then it swerves to the north, following the Mission ridge and Flathead lake to Kalispell, from which point it connects at Belton, Mont., with the Pacific coast gateway of Uncle Sam's newest national park, which is in the northwestern corner of Montana. This new national park is larger in area than the state of Rhode Island. Louis W. Hill, president of the Great Northern railway, was the cause of extending the tour from Helena on over the continental divide and over the new park-to-park highway. His party was the first automobile division to travel over this new roadway.

Ramsey county, N. D., did much to improve its roads for the Twin City-Helena auto tourists, drags being gotten out of the mud and the engine for this purpose. In other counties along the route of the tour, the practice of commercial men, vying with men in other communities, got out and blazed their own hand in making the road way in order to establish a near-by business for the tourists. It probably is a conservative estimate to say that $100,000 was spent to improve the roads from Twin City to Helena automobile tour.

Pointers for Motorists.

Many of the troubles to which the premature deterioration of tires is traceable can be readily corrected if given attention in time, and as a result more than a little money may be saved.

the great automobile manufacturer. He speaks in glowing terms of the trip and especially of the hospitality of the Studebaker.

"I was not the only guest of Mr. Flanders," says Mr. McNamara. "In fact, I was one of the party of dealers from this section who were personally invited to go to Detroit and inspect the facilities the company has for turning out Studebaker's 20 and E-M-F 30 cars."

"I understand the Studebaker corporation is spending over $75,000 in enlarging all its dealers in a similar fashion. Special trains are run from various sections of the country to Detroit and back, and every item of the dealer's expense is paid from the time he leaves home until he returns. The object, of course, is to show their manufacturing facilities and how they produce quality cars. Mr. Flanders told me that one object he had in mind in bringing me to Detroit was to convince me that the Studebaker corporation actually will be able to procure in large coming season the 50,000 cars it has promised its dealers."

Michigan Shows Snap.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 30.—With but one more day of practice at Whitmore lake for this season, the Michigan football team went through their signal drill with even more snap than they have been displaying so far this fall.

Pleard was given a chance at quarter in the morning practice, and in the afternoon was alternated with Huseb on the second team. Carpel was also given instructions at quarter, and it seems that Yost is not decided as yet on that position.

Big Bill Edmunds of last year's varsity was a visitor at the camp yesterday, and after seeing the practice said that the team showed great possibilities.

EDNA BAKER.

Edna Baker is not a star, she is a meteor. After two months on the stage she finds herself leading lady of an important company playing on Broadway.

Miss Baker came from Asheville, N. C., to New York determined to conquer fame and fortune. Fortune was extremely good to her. A trial matinee of a new play was to be given. The leading part was given to her. She went on and made a hit with the audience. Professional audience and critics.

She got an immediate engagement with a road company. Edgar Selwyn saw her playing in Philadelphia and that no one but Miss Baker should play the leading part in the new play "The Arab," which was about to produce at the Lyceum theater, New York, under the management of Henry B. REAL ESTATE

WEEKLY SURVEY OF REAL ESTATE DEVELOPMENTS

Eastern Attitude is More Favorable Toward Duluth
—George H. Maxwell to Address Real Estate Men—
Street Railway Extensions—
The Trade Excursion.

PEOPLE of the East are very much interested in Duluth now, and are looking forward to a great future for this city," said Whitney Wall, real estate dealer, yesterday. Mr. Wall has just returned from a brief business visit in Eastern cities, among them New York, Philadelphia, Camden, N. J., and Pittsburgh.

"Since the panic of 1893 when so many Easterners lost money in Duluth, there has prevailed among them in the East a bad impression regarding Duluth. But now this has all passed away and the people look upon Duluth as one of the great cities in the country. They believe it will be a city of great size and one of the leaders in commercial and industrial lines."

"Before long there is going to be considerable investment of outside money, for according to information which I received from some of the leading real estate men of the Eastern cities, many of their clients are planning on putting some of their money here."

"It is significant that almost everywhere I went I was asked the question: 'Why don't they put up a summer hotel in Duluth?' There are hundreds of people who want to come to Duluth to spend the summer, but who cannot find accommodations. They come, and find that they cannot stay in the hotels in Duluth, and that is just what they do not wish to do. They want to be with the city limits, but away from the noise of the streets. They want to be on the lake shore where they can enjoy the breeze."

"Duluth has every possible form of amusement to offer to the public who wish to spend their summers here. There is good boating, fishing, hunting, automobile driving, bathing, in fact all the outdoor sports and pleasures, while at the same time, the people are fortunate in that they can enjoy more than one of these."

"Somebody should be interested in this project, and I believe it will prove a very good investment."

GEORGE H. MAXWELL, of Chicago, the hotel architect, has been in Duluth and his fertile soil for the past year, will deliver an address before the Duluth Real Estate association at its regular session at noon next Tuesday.

During the trip, Mr. Maxwell has been in Duluth and has studied the soil and found it to be excellent for the raising of all kinds of garden truck. His subject Tuesday will be "The Development of Duluth, and How to Do It." He will tell some more of his interesting finds about this city, and give some advice to the best methods of making this city grow.

Mr. Maxwell has been in Duluth for several days, and has been in the homes of Duluthians in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Maxwell, and this summer practically every one who has a summer home in the city has a garden. He has even interested the children of the city, who have had gardens of their own, and have grown trucks that could well compete with any produced by a skilled gardener.

BUSINESS men of this city are pleased with the action of the Duluth Street Railway company in ordering the extension of its line from Twenty-first avenue west to Duluth. The action for this line has been very satisfactory for the past year or more, and especially since the active work on the $250,000 steel plant was taken up.

At the same time, the people of the New Duluth and Gary, and those who work at the steel plant and have their homes in West Duluth, are compelled to travel on trains between these suburbs and the city proper, which not only cost them more than a fare on a street car, but at the same time is not as satisfactory, there being but few trains running each day.

By Aug. 1, 1912, when the new line is expected to be completed, both the suburbs, Gary and New Duluth, as well as the intermediate suburbs, including Norton's Steel Plant addition, Smithville and Saint Lake, will have grown to considerable proportions.

This will mean a large trade for Duluth merchants if the people can secure quick and cheap transportation, such as will be afforded them by the street car company.

The proposed extension of the street car line from the head of Fifty-seventh avenue west to Proctor is also attracting the attention of Duluth merchants, and it has been stated by prominent West Duluthians who have been working for such a line for

ARCHITECTS WHISPERING OF BIG JOBS IN SIGHT

Predict a Busy Winter in Building Lines for Duluth.

New Library at West Duluth and Home for Orpheus Society.

There is a most mysterious atmosphere at this time in the architectural circles, and from the confidential talks there are many good things promised for Duluth. Besides the several competitive jobs that they are working on, many of the architects are preparing sketches and plans for big buildings, concerning which they do not feel at liberty to speak.

Sufficient it is to say that when the winter activity in building which seems to be a habit in Duluth, begins many stucco residences in the East end, the city, most of which are planned for Superior and First streets.

One of Duluth's oldest architects stated this morning that he will start on plans within a short time on one of the biggest projects of the North-west, one that would mean not only much for Duluth but also much for the entire county of St. Louis.

Several competitive jobs were placed in the hands of the architects during the week, but owing to the instructions given by the prospective builders, no details have been made public.

During the first part of the coming week the contract for four additional stories to the Hotel Holland will be signed by the Hotel Holland company and George H. Maxwell, who was the architect of the building. The addition will make the building ten stories in height. It will be of the same material as the original structure, being reinforced concrete, and costing about $60,000.

The plans for the Carnegie library, which is to be erected on the corner of Court and Elinor streets, West Duluth, at a cost to exceed $17,000, will be posted by the architects, Elmer, Round & Sullivan, on next Monday. It is to be of stone, brick and terra cotta, with a flat roof and reinforced concrete.

The Orpheus Singing society, a Swedish organization, has instructed a local architect to prepare plans for a building, to be erected on the corner of Superior and Sixth streets, opposite Lincoln park. The building will be two stories high but will have another floor below the surface of the bridge which is to be used for a large auditorium. The first story is to be used for store purposes while the second floor will be converted into apartments. The structure will be of brick and modern throughout.

Local architects have completed plans for the $45,000 school building, which is to be an eight-room building, equipped with all the modern conveniences for a public institution, and to be of handsome design. The plans will be received by the board years, that as soon as the Getchell road, which is now in the course of construction, is completed, a strong attraction will be started for the ordering of this line. The people of Proctor have been asking for the car line for years, and the voters are willing to give a franchise if the company will act.

DULUTH real estate men are interested in the trade excursion which is to be made next week throughout the Duluth and Michigan and it is probable that a large delegation will go. At the last excursion the real estate men were represented and they will be well represented again.

The contract for the four-story frame building for M. Glassner of Milwaukee, converting it into a flat building to accommodate four families. The work planned will cost about $6,000.

The plans made by the architects for the bungalow for Harry Raymond, at Thirty-ninth and Second and One-third street, have been completed and are now out for bids. It is to be a modern building costing $2,000.

The contract for the four-story frame school house near Barnum, which this firm has just finished will be let next week. The contract for the heating and plumbing of the Barnum high school, which this firm is attending to, will be let about the same time. They will also take bids until next Wednesday on the heating, plumbing and ventilation of the residence now under construction for Mrs. Mary Sullivan at Second avenue east and Sixth street.

Bray & Nyström, architects, are preparing plans for a $7,000 frame stucco residence in the East end, bids for which will be called as soon as the plans are completed.

Bids for the Modern Woodmen building at Twenty-first avenue west and First street will be received by A. Holmsted, architect, on Tuesday. The building is to be of stone and brick, 50 by 100 feet, two stories high, with a big auditorium on the first floor and two big lodge rooms on the second floor. The cost is estimated at $15,000.

D. V. Case & Broomhall are preparing plans for a $7,000 bank and office building for J. C. McKee of Calumet, Mich. It will be of the same material as the building. The committee on the building is receiving suggestions from the members as to any changes that they deem necessary. The sketches show two views, one with a third story and another without. The building is to be of steel and tile or reinforced concrete, with red brick exterior trimmed with limestone or similar material. The building is to be erected upon the site at the northwest corner of Superior street and Ninth avenue east, which was recently purchased by the club from Thomas F. Bray.

Decision on the plans will probably be made at the annual meeting of the club, which will be held on Oct. 10.

Austin Terryberry, prepared plans for a bungalow for J. D. Molitor to be erected in the East end. It will be of frame, modern and cost over $2,000.

He has also finished plans for John Nord for a $2,500 residence to be built at Seventeenth avenue east and Sixth street.

Austin Lathers has had plans prepared by H. W. Papp of Astor, Mich., for a three-story brick building of six apartments, to be erected on First street, near Lake avenue. It will be 25 by 35 feet, with concrete foundation, brick and gravel roof, pressed and common brick, and steam heated. It will cost about $25,000.

Kelly & Lignell will receive bids
